U. S. PUTS CURB ON TIME BUYING FOR 24 ITEMS

Limits Instalments to 18 Months.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—A series of sweeping regulations designed to curb instalment buying activity, thereby affecting the daily lives of millions of Americans, were made public this evening by the federal reserve board. They will take effect Sept. 1 under authority conferred on the board by President Roosevelt who said in an executive order last week that such a step was necessary to combat inflation.

The federal reserve regulations fix the maximum spread on time payments for various instalment purchases at 18 months. This includes cash loans of less than $1,000 as well as a specific list of 24 so-called consumers' durable goods. The board has also prescribed the minimum down payments that can be accepted for the various articles.

Regulations Hit Housewives.

Housewives, no doubt, will be among the most interested readers of the list of goods which henceforth can be bought on time only under the rigid control imposed by the government. Included are washing machines, ironers, refrigerators, stoves, dishwashers, sewing machines, and musical instruments.

The purpose of the regulations, it was explained, is two fold: To keep prices down by eliminating part of the 10,000 million dollars per year instalment buying, thus reducing the volume of purchasing power, and to hold down the manufacture of products which eat up materials needed for the production of armaments.

Residences Excepted.

Mr. Roosevelt's executive order expressly excepted from the reserve board's regulating authority any "residential building in its entirety." Thus there will be no interference with the instalment credit financing of homes. However, the regulations require that loans or contracts under $1,000 for improvements on dwellings or other real estate, as in the case of other loans, must be paid inside 18 months.

As has been foretold, the regulations deal only with instalment credit and not with charge accounts or straight loans payable in lump sums. Nor is there any effect on instalment transactions made prior to the imposition of the regulations.

Details of Restrictions.

The restrictions follow:

One-third minimum down payment and maximum of 18 months to pay balance—new and used automobiles, airplanes, power driven boats, outboard motors, and motorcycles.

Twenty per cent minimum down payment and 18 months to pay balance—mechanical refrigerators of less than 12 cubic feet capacity, household washing machines, ironers, suction cleaners, cooking stoves and ranges, heating stoves, and space heaters, electric dishwashers, room-unit air conditioners, sewing machines, radios, phonographs and musical instruments composed principally of metal.

Fifteen per cent minimum down payment and 18 months to pay — household furnaces and heating units for furnaces [including installations for oil, gas, or coal stokers], household water heaters, water pumps, plumbing, and sanitary fixtures, home air conditioning systems, and attic ventilating fans.

10% on Household Goods.

Ten per cent minimum down payment and 18 months to pay — new household furniture [including iceboxes, bed springs and mattresses but excluding floor coverings, wall coverings, draperies and bed coverings] pianos and household electric organs.

No down payment but maximum of 18 months to pay—materials and services [except items listed above] used in making repairs or improvements on existing real estate when amount is less than $1,000; same restriction on cash loans of less than $1,000.

The regulations allow for down payment in cash and in goods accepted in trade, for example, an automobile traded in on a new one.

Rules for enforcement of these restrictions were contained in a 23 page set of regulations, some of which will

RECAPTURE TWO TOWNS; SMASH FIVE DIVISIONS

Peril Foe's Retreat Over Land.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Aug. 22 (AP).—The Finnish high command announced tonight its forces had driven within 50 miles of Leningrad, breaking the defenses the Russians had erected on the ruins of Finland's former Mannerheim line and smashing or routing five soviet divisions in battles still progressing on the Karelian isthmus and around Lake Ladoga.

The entire northeast shore of the Vuoksi river, which twists down the isthmus, was declared in Finnish hands from Enso, on the present Finnish border, to Kiviniemi, 62 miles to the southeast.

Linked by rail with Leningrad, Kiviniemi is less than 50 miles from that big Russian city and only 12 miles from the old Russian-Finnish border.

Cut Off Land Retreat.

Finn forces in that same area, between the Vuoksi and Lake Ladoga, swung up from the south and captured Kakisalmi, the big former Finnish lake port, the high command said. Military observers said the Russians apparently were surprised by the attack from that direction, which cut off all possibility of retreat by land.

All the area of the fighting is territory which was Finland before the March, 1940, peace which ended the winter warfare with the soviet union.

The recapture of Kiviniemi, which was a strategic stronghold on the Mannerheim line and withstood three months of pounding in the Red-Finnish war, practically flanks the Russian forces at Viipuri [Viborg] former Finnish city to the northeast. However, the Finns acknowledged that the road south to Leningrad was a difficult one, while the whole lower Karelian isthmus enjoyed the protection along its southern reaches of the Red fleet in the Gulf of Finland.

Some of the remnants of the smashed soviet divisions were reported fleeing by boat 20 miles out into Lake Ladoga to take refuge on the island of Valamo, site of a medieval monastery and now a Russian naval base. Other forces were reported surrounded on the island of Kilpelansaari, just east of Hiitola.

Blast Leningrad Airports.

BERLIN, Aug. 23, Saturday (AP).—The German air force is smashing in great force at air fields and roads around Leningrad to soften soviet opposition for approaching German armies while new and bitter encirclement battles are developing on the central front, it was reported today.

Dispatches to DNB, official news agency, from the front declared eight airports in the Leningrad zone were under assault by waves of bombers. Thirty-five soviet planes were said to have been destroyed on the ground and 16 in air battles.

Other bombers were said to have destroyed a number of bridges northeast of Lake Ilmen, just south of conquered Novgorod.

Fighting Intense Near Gomel.

Informed sources said fighting in the Gomel sector of the central front was becoming more intense and extensive. They declared that smaller groups of Russians which had been encircled by advanced German groups now were annihilated.

Earlier an authorized German source had acknowledged that "islands of opposition" remained well behind the German lines in the Ukraine and that the Red army was throwing fresh reserves into the frontal fight.

A military spokesman said the most bitter fighting yesterday centered in the Dnieper river bend in the Ukraine, east of the Pinsk marshes, east of Smolensk in the central zone, and near Leningrad in the north.

Battle for Bridgeheads.

The Russians were acknowledged in competent quarters to be partly holding in the battle for bridgeheads of the lower Dnieper river. Farther upstream, the industrially important region of Dnepropetrovsk was subjected to German aerial bombardment.

There were no reports from Odessa, the Black sea port which has been under German air and artillery bombardment for several days, but military sources said the Germans had occupied Ochakov, 45 miles east[illegible]d.

WEARING THEMSELVES OUT WINNING?

Six Mistake Slain Woman in Odd Mixup

Police last night were back where they started in the problem of identifying the Rogers Park girl strangulation victim. One identification, on which six witnesses agreed, proved unfounded when a young wife named as the victim reported herself much alive from Camp Forrest at Tullahoma, Tenn.

After this false clue, Capt. John McGinnis of Rogers Park station struck out on a different trail, leading to Rockford in Winnebago county. A pair of women's shoes, thrown from a cream colored automobile there by two men Thursday night, were being brought here to see if they would fit the victim.

Found Lying in Road.

The victim, who was found early Thursday in a gravel roadway just west of the North Western railroad tracks and south of Greenleaf avenue, had no shoes, hat, or purse. It is believed she was strangled with a cord and her body brought to the scene in an automobile.

The woman who accounted for herself from Camp Forrest after previously being named as the victim was Mrs. Violet Brady, 26 years old, wife of Staff Sergeant Henry E. Brady of the 131st infantry, who is on duty at Tullahoma.

The mixup was all the more strange in that the identifications, made without qualification, came from three officials of the Chicago Waitresses' union, local 484, of which Mrs. Brady is a member; two former roommates who lived with Mrs. Brady as recently as last May, and a waitress friend who had worked with her on several jobs and saw her only last month.

Police to Start All Over.

But Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan, after talking by telephone with Mrs. Brady at Camp Forrest, said it was undoubtedly a wholesale case of mistaken identity.

The most curious feature of the case was the presence of a hairline scar between the eyebrows of the murder victim, which had not been mentioned in the first descriptions.

Mrs. Mickie Meredith, head waitress at the Washington Park and Arlington Park race tracks, who employed Mrs. Brady at Arlington during the meeting ending July 31, said, when told of the conflict in identification, that if the scar were found on the murder victim it would prove she was Mrs. Brady.

"She was cut in an automobile accident just before she went to work at Arlington," Mrs. Meredith said, "and the scar is still slightly red."

When police viewed the body they found the scar, but they had Mrs. Brady's own word for it that she was still alive.

Mrs. Brady left the Leland hotel, 1207 Leland avenue, where she had been living since June 9, on Aug. 3, saying she was going to Camp Forrest to visit her husband, a member of the National Guard, who was inducted last March 5. Upon reaching the camp she obtained the job as clerk and decided to stay near her husband. On Aug. 11 a girl friend, believed to be a Peggy Bigelow, called at the hotel to get her clothes and forward them to the camp.

In a telephone conversation from Camp Forrest Mrs. Brady mentioned the names of Mrs. Meredith and some of the friends who had identified her as dead in order to establish her identity beyond question. None of those who identified the body recognized the black crêpe dress worn by the victim as belonging to Mrs. Brady.

Horace Taylor, 30, colored, who was traced thru his automobile license after residents in the vicinity reported seeing a colored man struggling with a white girl the night before the body was discovered, was taken into custody and questioned under the lie detector. He said he had given a strange girl a ride and had struggled with her, but said she left unharmed. He was later released.

AIR LINE DISCLOSES U. S. FERRY ROUTE TO AFRICA FOR BOMBERS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—In a move to carry out plans announced Monday by President Roosevelt for a 10,000 mile warplane ferry service to West Africa and the middle east, Pan American Airways today filed an application with the civil aeronautics board to operate a commercial route to the Belgian Congo.

The aviation system requested a certificate of convenience and necessity for a transport service along a route which also will be followed by bombers and will be available for general commercial use.

The route filed with the application runs from New York [or Baltimore] to San Juan, Puerto Rico; from San Juan to Port of Spain, Trinidad; thence to Belem and Natal in Brazil, and across the Atlantic to Monrovia, Liberia; from there to Lagos, Nigeria, and then to Leopoldville in the Belgian Congo. Provision is made for use of Bathurst, British Gambia, as an alternate port in West Africa.

Hold Parisian Hostages for Nazi's Slaying

VICHY, France, Aug. 23 [Saturday].—(AP).—All Frenchmen arrested by or for German authorities in France will be held as hostages for the assassination of a high German officer two days ago, it was decreed in a German military order effective today.

Lieut. Gen. Von Schaumburg.

For any further acts hostages will be shot in numbers according to the German view of the gravity of the offense, said the order issued by Lieut. Gen. Von Schaumburg.

It was not clear whether the order applied to the 6,000 Jews arrested by the Germans in Paris Thursday or to any of the 150,000 persons who have been deprived of their liberty since last May in all of France.

Slaying Follows Mass Arrests.

The assassination followed recent demonstrations attributed to communists and the mass arrests of Jews, communists, and De Gaulle "Free French" sympathizers.

Identity of the victim was not mentioned in the order, but it was reported he was a colonel who was stabbed to death in the subway.

News of the assassination and of the German action followed word from reliable informants here last night that the Petain government had decided to impose the death penalty for communist activity and was preparing decrees to bring the unoccupied zone into line with German measures against the growing ferment.

Paris Roundup Continues.

The decision was said to have been made at an unexplained midweek meeting of the council of ministers Thursday as a German roundup of persons opposed to Nazi occupation troops netted upward of 6,000 arrests in Paris alone. Advices yesterday from the occupied French capital said the roundup still was under way but on a reduced scale.

The newspaper Cri du Peuple, mouthpiece of Jacques Doriot's Fascist-inclined French Popular army, reported the De Gaullist and communist movements have become reconciled and have coördinated their activities, presumably in occupied France.

All in All, Our Sheriff Has a Very Bad Day

Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien's day was full of embarrassment yesterday. In fact, he had reason to be embarrassed four times. The climax of the series of unhappy events was reached last night when state police and liquor commissioners raided the Club Elgin, a taxi dance joint at Archer avenue and Robert road, only 150 feet away from the Willow Springs county highway police station, from which point O'Brien's minions enforce the law.

The day was first marred at breakfast, when the sheriff picked up his CHICAGO TRIBUNE and found a picture of Lester Laird, his chief of county highway police, having dinner in the Drake hotel with William Skidmore, the reputed front for Cook county and Chicago gamblers.

Laird Resigns.

Laird for a week had been issuing daily bulletins about the progress of his raids on gambling—particularly handbooks. He said he had raided more than 100 places since his "drive" was started several days ago. The raids within the city were a new thing for sheriff's officers, who for 40 years had confined their activities to areas outside Chicago.

At noon Laird resigned, stating he wished to save his boss further discomfiture. Then O'Brien had more troubles—he had to appoint an acting chief. About 2 p. m. he named Sergt. John J. Healy to succeed Laird.

Within a few hours the sheriff was reminded that Skidmore and Healy are sharing the news. Healy, it was recalled, testified last March for Skidmore at the latter's trial, at the conclusion of which he was sentenced to prison for income tax evasion. Healy told of having arrested a bookie who had been a grand jury witness against Skidmore. In cross-examination he admitted having driven Laird to Skidmore's junk yard six times a month.

Shakedown Is Charged.

Later in the day Police Magistrate Herbert Bergeren of Harvey managed to add another embarrassment. Bergeren issued a bribery warrant against Edward Parchem, 12734 Honore avenue, Blue Island, who until Aug. 11 as a part time deputy of O'Brien directed traffic Saturdays and Sundays at 159th street and Western avenue.

Magistrate Bergeren said Parchem on Aug. 9 allegedly shook down six Chanute field soldiers for their last few pennies under threat of arrest for running a stop light.

Staff Sergt. W. D. Hayes, driver of the automobile, told Bergeren that Parchem stopped him at 150th and Wood streets, and threatened to jail him until Tuesday. It was then Saturday, and Hayes and his five soldier companions had to be back at Chanute field Monday or be listed AWOL.

He Gets 4 Cents Back.

Parchem, Hayes said, suggested that a little money might fix things up. Hayes had only 89 cents, but he raised another dollar among his companions and gave Parchem the $1.89, he said, adding that Parchem returned 4 cents before driving away.

Sheriff O'Brien was just preparing to sleep when he was informed of the raid on the Club Elgin about 11 p. m. Six state liquor commission agents and two policemen, headed by William M. Devine, commission secretary, and Charles Fleck, a commissioner, made the raid.

The club is a small place with a limited cuisine, an intimate bar, and an even more intimate back room where the male customers can find taxi dancers willing to snuggle up and dance, and dance, and dance.

No Arrests Are Made.

Devine quieted the fears of the startled employés by announcing that he was making no arrests. However, he served subpenas on the bartenders, several dancers, and other employés, requiring their presence before the commission Sept. 5 in an action seeking to revoke the club's liquor license. The action was taken on the charge that the club is operated as an immoral resort.

Then Devine and his force visited the highway police station near by, where Lieut. Fred Hagar expressed himself as amazed to learn of the goings-on at the Club Elgin. As the lieutenant left to raid the club, Devine and his men departed to visit other taxi dance joints.

The state officers served notices on the Dreamland club, Harlem and Ogden avenues, Stickney. They found old fashioned waltzes in vogue there, indicating, Devine said later, that the place had received advance notice. Then the raiders headed for Chicago Heights. The spots marked for notices, Devine said, are believed to be controled by the syndicate headed by Frank Nitti, successor to Al Capone.

UNION TO SEEK IMPOUNDING OF $62,000 HOARD

Some of the mystery of what became of the huge revenues of local 1248 of the Retail Clerks International Protective association was dispelled last night when representatives of State's Attorney Thomas Courtney drilled into a Stevens hotel safety deposit box rented by Max Caldwell, the union's ousted czar. The property uncovered was estimated to have a value of $62,000.

Included in this property, placed in the hidden cash box by Caldwell when he registered under the false name of Roy Stewart on Tuesday, were jewels with an estimated value of $30,000 or more, $1,200 in currency, $5,900 in postal savings bonds and documents showing that Mrs. Caldwell has $25,250 in real estate recently acquired.

Seek to Impound Property.

Attorney Francis Heisler, representing a group of revolting clerks who have sued the ex-czar for an accounting of funds, said that he would ask Judge Philip Finnegan today to impound the property. He added that in view of Caldwell's statement that his only means were a salary of $125 a week, he would have to prove that the seized assets do not belong to the union.

Assistant State's Attorney William B. Crawford placed Caldwell under arrest and he was held at the detective bureau. With precision Crawford marshaled the facts showing how Caldwell's former union had been used as an inexhaustible source of income for a dishonest management.

Broke Four Years Ago.

"Here we have a man, a onetime bootlegger and a companion of gangsters," he said, "who was broke a little more than four years ago. With the assistance of his father-in-law, Charles F. Willis, a labor leader who has been ousted from the executive committee of the Chicago Federation of Labor, he got control of the clerks' union in 1937.

"Working clerks, more than 7,000 of them, were muscled into this union. They paid $2 a month dues, $10 or more in initiation fees; they paid fines and bought tickets for a hospital plan that helped none of them. They were browbeaten; many of them have asserted they were slugged and shoved by Caldwell agents when they asked questions. They were never even told what contracts they had with their stores.

Where Did $810,000 Go?

"A group of these workers revolted in June and Caldwell was kicked out. Where were the assets of the union? It was estimated that Caldwell and his crew collected $910,000 in four years. Only $62 has been found in union accounts and the books have disappeared.

"Caldwell, under oath, swears that he had no income but his union salary of $125 a week. But our investigation has shown that he contracted to buy a $45,000 home in Florida from the gangster Frank Nitti. He says he was going to pay $450 a month on this property, out of his salary.

"Now we find this box. The Caldwells were rolling in wealth. Diamonds, bonds, and deeds to property—all acquired in the days when Max Caldwell ruled the clerks' union in Chicago. Where did he get this wealth? If we had the records we could prove that. I think we can prove it anyhow."

May Have Other Hideouts.

The assistant prosecutor said the box in the Stevens might be only one of several. He recalled that Caldwell, born Pollack and now posing as Stewart, may have other hideouts and other names.

"We will question him in the morning about that," he said.

All the bonds in the box were made out to Caldwell or his wife, Lorraine, except $200 in the name of their daughter, Kathleen. The real estate listed in the documents is in the name of Mrs. Caldwell.

The jewelry included a set of diamond cuff links, a lady's diamond watch, a diamond pin of the Clerks International, three studs, four diamond rings [men's], two diamond rings [women's], and a wedding band.

Lieut. Thomas Kelly, who arrested Caldwell, said the jewelry is magnif-

REDS BATTLE FOE ALONG WIDE ARC ABOUT LENINGRAD

City Set for Siege; Drills Held in Streets.

MOSCOW, Aug. 23 [Saturday] (AP). — Marshal Klementi Voroshilov's northern Red army was fighting firmly and stubbornly early today against the Germans and Finns on a vast arc of defenses girding Leningrad while behind it a people's army erected barricades in the city's streets and drilled on the banks of the Neva river.

The midnight soviet communique made no mention of the specific battle sectors, merely saying that "our troops continued to fight stubbornly with the enemy on the entire front."

Hold Massmeetings.

In the Baltic, west of Leningrad, the Russians reported that Red ships attacked five German transports, sinking two and running three aground. Two escorting motorboats also were sunk, the communique said.

Leningrad's men and women held mass meeting after mass meeting to declare the Nazis "will find their graves upon the approaches of our city," as the attacker did in Russia's civil war. The women said they would fight with their husbands and brothers to the last drop of blood.

Anti-aircraft guns roared in the outskirts, troop trucks raced thru the streets; factory workers stayed at their posts for 48 and 72 hours, correspondents said. One dispatch to Izvestia said the Gulf of Finland was aglow at night with fires from enemy ships set ablaze by soviet naval and air craft.

Militia Leaves for Front.

Militiamen not staying to defend the city's streets and factories were reported marching off to the more distant front by tens of thousands.

German bombers were attacking ceaselessly, trying to destroy the airports outside Leningrad, but it was claimed that in 17 consecutive raids no bombs had fallen in the city proper.

Observers here saw signs of slight improvement generally in the critical Red military position. This qualified optimism was expressed after yesterday's communique of the soviet command reported continuing fighting in unchanged theaters about Kingisepp and Novgorod, southwest and south of Leningrad, as well as in the sector about Gomel on the lower central front.

Tell of Ukraine Battles.

While the war bulletin made no mention of the situation in the lower Ukraine, other official accounts told of savage fighting to check German advances across the river "N" [presumably the Dnieper]. For example, it was reported that in one area Russian monitors and cutters had smashed a bridge the instant it was completed by German sappers, costing the invaders nine tanks and 800 men, and that by firing upon and ramming German boats they had destroyed 26 heavily laden with German troops.

[A dispatch from Berne, Switzerland, said the Russian radio reported Red forces had been withdrawn from Nikopol, on the Dnieper river about 30 miles east of Krivoi Rog. It said a military commentator hinted that this action might be due to "other circumstances," which was taken as a vague reference to possible damage inflicted by the blowing up of the Dnieper dam, reported last Wednesday.]

Red Losses 5 Million---Nazis Nazi Losses 2 Million---Reds

Russia.

MOSCOW, Aug. 23 [Saturday] (AP). —Two months of war on soviet Russia has cost the German army more than 2,000,000 killed and wounded, compared to 700,000 soviet casualties, and the roads to Moscow, Leningrad, and Kiev still are blocked by the Red army, the Russians announced today.

A German claim of 5,000,000 soviet casualties and other "fantastic figures" on the losses of soviet equipment were ridiculed by an official communique as "stupid lies that not a single man bearing his head on his shoulders will believe."

The Russians gave this break-down of their 700,000 losses:

Killed—150,000.
Wounded—440,000.
Missing—110,000.

Losses in material were listed as:

	German.	Russian.
Tanks	8,000	5,500
Guns	10,000	7,500
Planes	7,200	4,500

The communique recalled that Germans had claimed a month ago that the Red army was destroyed, and its reserves sapped, as well as its air force, and commented:

"It must be asked with what forces the Red army has been inflicting such enormous losses on Hitler's hordes."

Twenty-four German air raids on Moscow from July 22 to Aug. 22 killed 736 persons and injured 3,513, and military objectives were not hit, it was said.

Germany.

BERLIN, Aug. 22 (AP).—A new report of staggering Russian losses, including more than 1,250,000 prisoners alone, was issued from Adolf Hitler's headquarters today as the invasion of Russia moved into its third month with the Germans holding a line about 300 miles deep into the soviet from the Baltic to the Black sea.

The communique showed sharp rises in Red army captives and artillery pieces seized or destroyed in less than a month's time but a smaller ratio of gains in wrecked or captured tanks and warplanes.

These are the figures for war captives and material destroyed or captured:

	Aug. 22.	Aug. 6.	July 11.
Prisoners	1,250,000	895,000	400,000
Tanks	14,000	13,145	7,615
Guns	15,000	10,388	4,432
Planes	11,250	9,082	6,233

Some semiofficial sources have figured that a roster of prisoners of such magnitude would indicate total Red army losses in dead, wounded, and captured of about 5,000,000, but the high command did not go that far.

It still was silent on Germany's own losses, but it declared her armies and those of her allies were deep in Russia in "unbroken strength" while the Red army had suffered "casualties unimaginably high."

CAN'T HALT U. S. AID THRU SIBERIA, JAPANESE ADMIT

KOBE, Japan, Aug. 22 (AP).—The Japan Chronicle of Kobe, which has foreign office connections, acknowledged today that Japan legally could do little to halt American supplies moving to the Russian port of Vladivostok. "Actually Japan has a neutrality pact with Russia, so that interference with the passage of supplies thru normal channels cannot even be questioned," the newspaper said.

Near East Route Called O. K.

TOKIO, Japan, Aug. 22 (AP).—Japan hopes for American assurances that any American made bombers which may be sent to Russia will not be kept at Vladivostok, Koh Ishii, foreign office spokesman, said today. He said Japan "is gravely concerned" over American ships carrying supplies to that Pacific port for Russia, but said she would not be concerned over any shipments via the near east.

The newspaper Hochi said shipment of American high octane gasoline to Vladivostok "is based on an American design to add menace to the Japanese army along the soviet-Manchukuo border."

Air Lieutenant Is Killed at U. S. Base in Atlantic

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—Second Lieutenant George E. Meeks, 27, army air corps, was killed in an airplane accident at an Atlantic base last Tuesday. This was announced today by the war department which sent a formal notification to Meek's father, George C. Meeks, Beverly Beach road, Woodland Beach, Md. Lieut. Meeks enlisted as a flying cadet in the air corps in 1939 and was commissioned a 2d lieutenant in the air reserve in May, 1940.

Find Lifeboat; Fear New British Freighter Sunk

New York, Aug. 22 [Special].—Maritome circles here reported without confirmation today that the new 4,762 ton British freighter Tottenham had been sunk in the South Atlantic. They said an empty lifeboat from the vessel was found near Rio de Janeiro. The Tottenham, completed last year, was operating between England and South America.

REPORT HE BACKS BRITAIN ON IRAN DENIED BY F. D. R.

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP).—President Roosevelt scoffed today at reports from London that he was in accord with Britain on her policy toward Iran.

Asked about the reports at a press conference, he said they illustrated the freedom of the press in London, that they were untrue, and he knew nothing about the whole matter.

Those at the conference thought that Mr. Roosevelt's remarks were intended as a denial that the administration had negotiated a formal agreement with Britain regarding Iran and carried no connotation of disapproval of the British policy.

BRITISH HINT IRAN REPLY ON NAZIS IS UNFAVORABLE

Teheran Sees 'Showdown' on Expulsion Issue.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The Iranian government's formal reply to the British-Russian protest against the "excessive" number of Germans in Iran [Persia] reached the foreign office tonight from Teheran. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden took it immediately to the war cabinet meeting which was convened to consider the document.

Nothing was disclosed officially as to the contents of the reply or whether it followed the lines of the oral explanation from Teheran which already has been rejected here as "unsatisfactory."

Reply Unfavorable, Press Hints.

However, tomorrow morning's London dailies take the attitude that the new note also is unsatisfactory. The reply, however, will be given "the most careful consideration in London and Moscow," according to the Daily Telegraph diplomatic correspondent, "before any decision is reached on further steps."

Despite the fact that the Iranian government has expelled some Germans since Britain and Russia first protested against the presence there of an estimated 3,000 technical experts, "much more drastic action," it is stated, will be necessary to meet the minimum British-Russian demands.

Britain, "probably with Russian collaboration," will "act swiftly and decisively" in Iran, the Evening News political correspondent predicts. "One thing is positive," he writes. "Britain cannot and will not permit Iran to fall an easy victim to German penetration or aggression, no matter what Iran may think or do."

Stress Strategic Importance.

The newspapers stressed the strategic importance of Iran as a link with Russia and a gateway to vast oil supplies in Asia Minor as well as to the middle east and India. Britain, it is stated, has considerable forces in Iraq and Syria which are believed to have been reënforced recently.

There was no official confirmation in London of reports that British troops and armored cars in Iraq are moving toward the Iran frontier. A report that Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander in chief in India, is leading considerable forces into Iran from Baluchistan was officially denied, but at the same time a spokesman explained that it would not be announced even if it were true.

Concern is expressed here over a visit to Adolf Hitler by the Turkish ambassador to Germany. The purpose of the visit—protest or collaboration—was not mentioned. Turkey, Iran, Iraq, and Afghanistan signed a nonaggression pact four years ago.

Iran Fears "Showdown."

TEHERAN, Iran, Aug. 22 (AP).—As Iran delivered to the British minister today a formal answer to demands for expulsion of German technicians, most residents here believed a final showdown was imminent.

The Teheran radio broadcast military marches, featuring the poetic account in the Book of Kings of 5,000 years of Persian history. Traditionally these marches are sung by troops going into battle.

An official order canceled the usual one month leave and sent 1,072 newly graduated army officers to active duty on Iran's borders, where 120,000 troops stood guard against attack.

Among the officers was Prince Ali Riza, second son of Riza Khan Pahlevi, shah [king] of Iran who has called upon the army to be ready for "every sacrifice."

See Prelude to Invasion.

Iranians declared the British-Russian demand for expulsion of German technicians was merely window dressing for plans of the two countries to invade Iran and establish a liaison by which British troops could join Russian forces on the German-Russian front.

An official police statement said there were only 640 male Germans in the country. In the last 45 days 50 of these were said to have left.

The Iranian government was reported to have stressed in its reply to Britain a readiness to reduce the total of German technicians whenever German contracts in state-owned railroads and communications industries expire. It was said to have asserted, however, that as a neutral, independent power Iran was unable to understand why she should be forced to incur the risk of diplomatic rupture with Germany which might result from mass expulsions.

About 60 Americans are in Iran.

Nazis Prepared—Berlin.

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—Germany has reckoned "in all respects" with a British invasion of Iran, a well informed source close to the foreign office said tonight. The source added that "the Wilhelmstrasse will not be at all surprised if the reports that Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell has marched into Iran from Baluchistan turn out to be true."

Iran, Spotlighted by War

Map of Iran, showing terrain and resources. The country's geographical position makes it important in Russian-British co-operation against Germany, and also provides avenue for Germans to British strongholds in near east which British seek to block.

200 WOMEN DROP HOUSEWORK TO ARM THE BRITISH

Door to Door Canvass Gets Idle Factory Running.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 22.—House to house canvassers today recruited 200 women workers for an armaments factory in a southwest London suburb. The canvass was organized by the local women's voluntary services after the factory had stood idle for weeks because of a lack of women workers.

None of the new recruits had worked in a factory before. They included housewives with children and young girls of 16 years or over who were taking their first jobs.

The recruits were taken to the factory in four buses and given a meal of beef and vegetables. "Pep" talks by factory heads and a tour of the works followed. Afterward the women registered for jobs and were told to return Monday for training.

Scottish Workers Protest.

Workers in a west Scotland factory staged a mass march to the local labor ministry bureau to protest against transfer of the factory from the government to a private firm for management on a nonprofit basis. The workers' delegates, according to tonight's Star, declared they "want to retain the security and stabilizing effect of having the government in the area."

Protest Fines by Union.

Another problem on Britain's labor front was brought out in a report on shipbuilding by the parliamentary select committee on national expenditure. The committee alleges that in one important shipbuilding area trades unionists who work overtime without the permission of the union's district delegate are forced by him to pay a fine.

The committee suggests that constitutional action be taken to make it impossible for any individual thus to hinder speedy repair of damaged merchant ships.

PRO-WAR GROUPS' FIGHT ON TRIBUNE ROUSES READERS

Praise Its Americanism; Add Subscriptions.

The announced plan of communists, interventionists, and fellow travelers of the champagne and caviar clique to boycott THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE during October already has resulted in a flood of letters from Tribune readers pledging support of THE TRIBUNE'S stand against war and communism.

Some of the letters came from readers who said they disagreed with THE TRIBUNE'S editorial policies, but who expressed distaste for the smear attacks made on THE TRIBUNE by those who hew to the Stalin line.

Suscribe for Friends.

Most of the writers either ordered subscriptions for THE TRIBUNE or, if they were already subscribers, ordered additional copies to be sent to friends. The letters are still pouring in.

"We have among us a group of people who hate Hitler more than they love this country," wrote Joseph F. Dixon, of 4437 Deming place. "They care little whose sons die on foreign battlefields. Their object is to destroy all who oppose them."

Dixon ordered five subscriptions to be sent to "the Hyde Park Roosevelts, Henry Morgenthau Jr., Felix Frankfurter, Sidney Hillman and Congressman A. J. Sabath," or else to be sent to "five voters picked at random from the 24th [We Want War] ward."

America First Leader Writes.

Michael J. Cleary, 7826 Stewart avenue, said his order for three subscriptions was "my answer to the communist boycott."

Referring to an editorial printed Aug. 16 in which THE TRIBUNE accepted the challenge of the Reds and cookie pushers, Eugene Harrison, chairman of the Elmhurst chapter of the America First committee, wrote: "'We Accept the Challenge' was a fine answer to the war mongers. The attitude of such factions only makes your cause stronger. I repeat what is so often heard:

"'THE TRIBUNE has the courage to come out in the open and express American views.'"

"I do not agree with the opinions of THE TRIBUNE on America's foreign policy," wrote Spencer W. Castle of Three Oaks, Mich. "I read them, however, and learn from them as I would from any intelligent, sincere person. The boycotters would rob you of the value you have in America's present hour of trial. They would accomplish by fear what they dare not attempt by legal means."

"Tackle Un-American Assault."

"The way you roll up your sleeves to tackle this un-American assault on your right to free speech is magnificent." Castle said he would boost circulation by 10 TRIBUNE'S daily for the period of the October boycott.

"As a protest against the boycott," John B. O'Connor, 1121 Ashland avenue, Wilmette, ordered two subscriptions during October.

Ruth C. Schwuchow, 2809 Logan boulevard, commented in her letter ordering a subscription: "Thank God for one unhyphenated, real American paper which dares to tell the truth and will not compromise with any one who is averse to our American ideals of government. Keep up your courageous spirit of true Americanism!"

Joint Comment by 26.

Twenty-six Chicagoans signed their names and addresses on the back of an anonymously distributed handbill urging support of the boycott. However, they had "edited" the handbill to alter its meaning.

Instead of "Boycott THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE," the heading on the handbill read, "We Read THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE." Where the handbill originally read, "THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has gone to such lengths in its hatred of President Roosevelt and the administration that it has ceased to become a real newspaper," it now reads: "THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has gone to such lengths in exposing President Roosevelt and the administration that it has become a great newspaper."

These 26 Chicagoans "read THE TRIBUNE because it is a good paper," altho the pinks who surreptitiously distributed the handbill read it because it is "the only morning paper." All 26 indicated that they will urge their friends to read THE TRIBUNE during October.

One of THE TRIBUNE'S regular readers wrote simply: "I accept the challenge."

A circular put out by Fight for Freedom, Inc., the prowar group which recently imported a former Tribune correspondent to tell what he thought was wrong with THE TRIBUNE, was handed to Wilmar Gardner, 6918 Cregier avenue, as he walked thru the loop. The circular depicted Hitler at the Bering strait, apparently ready to jump into Alaska and conquer a fear paralyzed North America.

Gardner wrote:

"Are you and the 80 per cent of the people behind you going to stand for this? Let us fight. 'Fight for Freedom' to save us from being drawn into war crazy Europe."

"Billions to Make War."

Nor did Gardner appear to appreciate the slogan, "Billion for defense, not 2 cents for THE TRIBUNE," which is being distributed anonymously by those with a passion for the soviet type of freedom.

"Their slogan should read: 'Billions to make war but not 2 cents to keep America at peace,'" he suggested.

"Your inspiring editorial, 'We Accept the Challenge,' stamps you as leaders to us—the great majority of Americans who love America and wish to keep her at peace," wrote Mrs. Charles Rudmann, Cleveland Heights, O., who says she is a member of the American Legion auxiliary with "four sons for America's defense—at home."

"We wish you had a branch in Cleveland to combat our three papers who are yapping for war," she continued. "Strange—they are so fearful of Hitler, yet think Stalin and communism are O. K."

Letter from 50 Year Reader.

A Chicagoan who has read THE TRIBUNE for 50 years had this comment: "You may be all wet in your present policy, but at least you have always fought in the open and that's more than your opponents do in the present controversy. The sellout of some of our best papers probably indicated a mess of pottage."

Of all the Tribune readers who have written to pledge their support—and the letters quoted above are only a few of those received—Charles Uher of Kingston, W. Va., appeared to be the most strongly impressed by THE TRIBUNE'S acceptance of the challenge.

Uher said he is 21 years old, expects to be drafted soon. He is displeased with the "war mongering old fogies in Washington" and the interventionist sentiment in his section of West Virginia. He added:

"I'm coming to civilization—that's Chicago and the midwest—very soon to spend my time until I am drafted."

Baby Abandoned

Police are seeking the parents of a baby girl, four or five months old, who was abandoned early yesterday on the porch of George Helbing and his family at 7818 South Shore drive. The infant was well clothed. She was taken to St. Vincent's orphanage. Today police will take a young mother, who refuses to give her name, to the orphanage to see the abandoned child. The mother, 21 years old, and neatly dressed, walked into the Englewood station last night and said, "I want to surrender. I'm afraid I'll kill my baby." She said her child was a girl about 9 months old. She denied the youngster abandoned was hers.

3 ACCUSED RED UNITS BARRED BY TEACHER UNION

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 22 (AP). — The American Federation of Teachers [AFL], opening its convention here today, refused to seat 131 delegates from the teachers' union of New York City, the New York College Teachers' union, and the Philadelphia Teachers' union, three locals ousted from the organization last June on charges of communist sympathies.

Dr. George S. Counts, federation president, described the action ousting the three eastern locals as the "only way to save our union," and added: "In no other way could the federation rid itself of a species of political intrigue and conspiracy that for almost a quarter of a century has confused, divided, and frustrated labor, liberal, and other democratic groups thruout the world."

The federation's executive council rejected an appeal by the three locals for reinstatement. Spokesman for the ousted delegates was Dr. Robert K. Speer, president of local 537, who denied any communist sympathy and said the three locals had been ousted by unconstitutional methods in a referendum.

WORK ON BAHAMA SEA AND AIR BASE WAITING ON F. D. R.

Navy Recommends Site on Great Exuma Island.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—The navy department has recommended to President Roosevelt that the proposed naval and air base in the Bahamas be established on Great Exuma Island, it was learned today. Preliminary surveys have been completed, a navy spokesman said, but construction has been held up pending Mr. Roosevelt's approval of the site.

The right to establish a base in the Bahamas, second largest cluster of islands in the world, was included in the deal which sent 50 American destroyers to Great Britain for a chain of naval and air outposts on British soil from Newfoundland to South America.

Only a Fraction of Cost.

The warships transferred to the British navy were valued conservatively at more than 100 million dollars. However, they represented only a small down payment on the total cost of the bases. In return for these ships, it developed, the United States received merely the right to lease the land for the outposts from private British interests for 99 years.

Haggling with the British owners over lease terms, easements, and rights of way delayed work on the projects for many months. In addition, the Bahamas presented a problem of their own when army and navy officials found them largely unsuitable for extensive base projects.

Mr. Roosevelt, himself, cruised thru the area last December in search of a likely base site on an outlying island. At that time it was planned to establish a base at Mariguana, one of the most isolated spots in the West Indies.

Unsuitable for Ships.

The President acknowledging that his search had been in vain, later said he found the island suitable for a seaplane emergency landing, but not suitable for a naval landing place. It was after this that the order was issued for the naval surveys which now have been completed.

Also considered at one time was the establishment of a base on the island of New Providence, the principal one of the group, on which is located the capital, Nassau, famous as a summer playground. It is reported, however, that the navy favors Great Exuma because its central location offers greater strategic possibilities.

In an emergency, it was noted, dwelling places on New Providence, including many homes built by Americans, could be used to quarter troops, since their owners would no longer desire to occupy them if the islands were in danger of attack.

3,000 Islands in Group.

The Bahamas are a chain of coral islands extending almost from the coast of Florida to the northern shores of Hispaniola. The group consists of more than 3,000 islets and rocks with a total area of 4,403 square miles.

Great Exuma is 120 miles southeast of New Providence, or about two hours from Miami by commercial plane. Military planes, particularly fighting craft, could cut this time more than half, it is said.

The island is 25 miles long and 1 to 5 miles wide, with a population of 3,800 engaged chiefly in stock raising and agriculture. Its south side is low and swampy, with sand banks and numerous small keys, according to the National Geographic society, while the northeast side is more firm, rising from 50 to 100 feet above sea level, and skirted by a line of narrow wooded islets and small barren rocks forming several secure harbors.

Altho the navy declined to go into details on the exact spot chosen for the base, pending Mr. Roosevelt's action in the matter, it was assumed from the description that the northeast side has been chosen as the site for the new base.

DEMANDS ARMY REVERSE 10 YEAR 'SPIT' SENTENCE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—Representative Stephen M. Young [D., O.] today wrote Secretary of War Stimson that a dishonorable discharge and a 10 year 9 month prison sentence imposed on John Habinyak at Fort Bragg, N. C., was an "amazing act of injustice and brutality toward a soldier," and demanded the army reverse the court martial sentence.

Habinyak was sentenced to the federal penintentiary in Atlanta, Ga., after a court martial on charges of insubordination. It was charged he spat on the mess hall floor at Fort Bragg, N. C., refused to clean it up, refused to clean up his mess kit, refused to clean up his bed, and refused to remove some pieces of concrete from a gutter when ordered to do so while on fatigue duty.

"Doubtless," Representative Young wrote Stimson, "Lieut. Leo J. Kraus [one of the officers whom Habinyak disobeyed] is a fresh, officious officer who is not worth his salt in private life, and if this tremendous sentence meted out to a selective service soldier for some trivial offenses committed within two months of his induction into the army is a sample of the judgment of Col. Elliott [the camp commander] God help the regiment if this nation becomes involved in war."

16 Italian Freight Ships Purchased by Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Aug. 22 (AP).—Acting President Ramon Castillo announced tonight that Argentina had acquired 16 freight ships from Italy and would take possession of 8 immediately. He said the other eight now interned in Argentine ports would be taken over after the war. The price was estimated to be $10,000,000.

STRIKERS REJECT PEACE PROPOSAL IN DETROIT TIEUP

AFL Spurns Plan Based on Secret Ballot.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 22.—An AFL union, the Amalgamated Association of Electric Street Railway and Motor Coach operators, striking because the State, County, and Municipal Employés' union [CIO] had been granted permission to post notices on city owned bulletin boards in city owned carbarns, tonight rejected a proposal by Mayor Edward J. Jeffries which would have ended a three day paralysis of the municipally owned traction system. The CIO had said they would accept the plan.

The strike, because of which 2,500,000 residents of greater Detroit have been without normal transportation since 4 a. m. Wednesday, does not involve wages, hours, or working conditions. It is a battle solely for the union dues paid by 5,500 employés of the department of street railways.

Mayor's Peace Proposal.

Mayor Jeffries proposal was made as he met for the third time today with AFL strike leaders. The plan:

All employés of the system to return to work immediately, after which there would be a secret vote among the bus and street car operators to determine their choice of a bargaining agent, the winning union to be given a contract establishing sole bargaining rights.

Frank X. Martel, head of the Wayne County and Detroit Federation of Labor, refused the offer after a membership meeting. His statement to newsmen said:

"The mayor first tells us we can't have exclusive bargaining rights. Now he tells us we can. I don't get it. Election, election; why should we have an election when we already have a majority as shown by our checkoff?"

CIO Ready to Operate Lines.

Abram Flaxer, national head of the State, County, and Municipal Workers union [CIO] already had accepted for that group, which likewise claims a majority. The CIO previously had said it would agree to an immediate or postponed election, or would run the system with police protection.

The AFL refusal puts the negotiations back where they were when the strike was called, and the mayor ordered all cars and buses kept in the barns to avoid violence.

Jeffries and other city officials have held that they were without the power to grant AFL demands for exclusive bargaining, bulletin board, and check-off rights. Jeffries, in making tonight's proposal, stressed the fact that he still felt he was not legally empowered to take the step he was proposing and that an immediate court decision would be sought.

Two stormy meetings were held during the day at which Samuel T. Gilbert, chairman of the railway commissioners, presided. They were marked by angry exchanges between city and AFL officials. The AFL finally vowed a "finish fight" thru Robert Armstrong, international representative of the striking union.

Further conferences are to be held starting at noon tomorrow. There were reports that Mayor Jeffries might make a radio appeal to the strikers to return to work. Also there were reports that if the AFL is given exclusive bargaining rights, the CIO union will strike.

MICHIGAN MAN, 92, DIES.

Coldwater, Mich., Aug. 22 [Special].—Waltus Van Fleet, a resident of Allen, near here, for 72 years, died at his home there today at the age of 92.

THE PRESIDENT SAID:

In a speech last Nov. 1, President Roosevelt said:

"I am fighting to keep this nation prosperous and at peace. I am fighting to keep our people out of foreign wars, and to keep foreign conceptions of government out of our United States."

Last Nov. 4, on the eve of his third term re-election, the President said:

"Across the seas life has gone underground. I think I speak the minds of all of you when I say that we thank God that we live in the sunlight and the starlight of peace—that we are not in war, and that we propose and expect to continue to live our lives in peace—under the peaceful light of heaven."

BRITONS SPLURGE IN CAPITAL, USING LEND-LEASE CASH

Theme Song Is: "There'll Always Be a Dollar."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—Britons of military age in the national capital are doing their bit for England by spending American dollars on everything from guns to whoopee.

The theme song of the British purchasing mission is a parody of "There'll Always Be an England," which members of the mission hum at their work. It runs:

"There'll always be a dollar,
"As long as we are here."

The song was the hit of the evening at a recent mission party in an ultrafashionable and expensive Washington restaurant which has been taken over by the Britishers.

The checks are being paid by the American people. It is reported in reliable congressional circles that the mission already has charged more than $30,000 worth of meals and rare wines in this restaurant alone to the lend-lease bill.

Itemization Up to President.

Individual items of the lend-lease program can only be made public by President Roosevelt. He is empowered to withhold anything he regards as a military secret or which may be inimicable to British-American interests. The restaurant bill was not in the first and only report he delivered last June to congress on lend-lease expenditures.

It is understood the purchasing mission has contracted other bills at hotels and restaurants for whisky, wines, and food which are to be charged to the 7,000 million dollar lend-lease bill and to the anticipated new lend-lease appropriation which Mr. Roosevelt is to ask of congress. The new request is expected to run between 6,000 and 10,000 million dollars.

Charge Phone Calls, Too.

In addition to charging whoopee expenses, the British are charging personal telephone calls to American taxpayers. New British arrivals call old friends all over the western hemisphere by phone. One recent arrival spent 45 minutes chatting with an acquaintance in Canada and charged the bill, tax and all, to lend-lease.

"Charge it to lend-lease" is a byword at the British headquarters. Every member of the various missions, which number about 3,000 Britons, or more than a full strength regiment, uses the phrase frequently with relish.

It is reported in congressional circles that lend-lease covers the expenses of Britishers who swing about the country propagandizing for American entry into the war and all manner of incidental expenses as well as war supplies and foodstuffs.

Clamor for Air Conditioning.

The Britons found the heat of Washington intolerable in their suites in the Willard hotel and clamored for air conditioning at a time when their fellow countrymen in England were dismissing German bombs with callous contempt.

Almost 100 portable air conditioning units were bought by the British purchasing mission and charged to lend-lease. In the meantime, the navy department had sacrificed its order for air conditioners in the navy munitions building, a poorly insulated structure built as a temporary home for the navy in World war days.

When the navy learned the British were making no sacrifice of materials which might go to war uses, officers loudly demanded air conditioners. The navy got them, and they are also being paid for, according to reliable sources, with lend-lease funds—as the price of naval silence on the source of funds for the British coolers.

Story Meets with Denials.

At the British purchasing mission this story was denied, along with other stories of use of lend-lease funds over and above actual war needs. A British spokesman said that the mission still has some money of its own and purchased the air conditioners out of this small reserve, which is used for non-lease-lend purposes.

However, the story is vouched for by high ranking navy officers and informed congressional sources.

Only one stop order has been issued recently against the carte blanche use of American funds by the British. This involved the attempt of officers of the British aircraft carrier Illustrious, being repaired in an American port, to obtain new uniforms at American expense.

Just "American Quibbling."

The bill was passed all along the line until it reached the desk of Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, who is one of the loudest of the interventionists. However, the supplying of uniforms to British officers when American officers are required to pay for their own, as are British officers at home, was too much for the secretary and he vetoed the request.

According to a capital Britisher, the incident was a typical example of American quibbling. The amount was so small, he said, that it should have been paid.

"After all," he added, "it's really your war."

Two Illinois Postmasters Nominated by Roosevelt

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—President Roosevelt has nominated these Illinois postmasters: Henry J. Cheze, Schiller Park; Andrew Mikel, Westville.

Byrd Repeats Arms Charges; Roosevelt Asserts He's Wrong

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—President Roosevelt's charge at Hyde Park, N. Y., that somebody sold Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] "down the river" with false figures on armament production was dismissed by the senator tonight as a "wisecrack" in dubious taste. Backed by records obtained from high government sources, Senator Byrd stood by his figures in all major particulars.

In the senate last Tuesday Byrd revealed a mass of official statistics to support his charge that the Roosevelt administration's management of the preparedness program has been an appalling fiasco. At Hyde Park today the President said he had been informed by the war department that Byrd's figures, excepting only those relating to aircraft production, were "completely inaccurate."

No Occasion for Levity.

"Wisecracking has its place," replied Senator Byrd, "but President Roosevelt, by his statement today, emphasizes the gravity of our national situation, and I do not think any one can dismiss lightly our preparedness program with the statement that 'somebody sold Senator Byrd down the river on the figures in all categories but planes.' This is particularly so in view of the new figures offered.

"In sustaining my statements in the senate as to the production of combat planes the President, in fact, admitted justification for the most serious of my criticisms of the slow production of military equipment.

"I said in the senate that two years after the European war began we produced in July only 700 combat planes, of which less than 300 were bombers, chiefly light, while we produced less than 60 of the four engined heavy bombers, and that only 35 dive bombers were produced in May, 1941. The President's statement today appears to admit this."

Gross Figures Used.

Senator Byrd said the administration had been issuing gross figures on plane production, lumping training and combat aircraft together. It is not disputed, he said, that combat plane production for July was only 200 more than in January, and that the July production was lower than that of June.

"The President, speaking from memory, said that he understood the plane schedule for July was 1,500," the senator continued. "As a matter of fact, the July schedule was 1,656 and fell 200 short of this schedule."

"In my speech," he said, "I stated that only 53 merchant vessels of 2,000 gross tons and over were built in the United States and delivered during the calendar year 1940.

"I have in my possession a signed letter to this effect from Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the Maritime commission.

"I stated that for the calendar year 1941 only 78 cargo vessels would be constructed and 27 tankers, making a total of 105.

"I have in my possession a letter dated May 14 signed by Admiral Land stating exactly these figures. Does the President dispute this source?

"In the battle of the Atlantic merchant ships and tankers are vital.

Navy Secretary a Source.

"In my senate speech I said that only 28 major naval vessels will be added to our navy in 1841—2 battleships, 17 destroyers, 9 submarines, no aircraft carriers and no cruisers. I have this in writing from the secretary of the navy. Does the President dispute this source?

"I stated in my senate speech that except for a few used for experimental purposes the production of 90 mm. anti-aircraft guns, which are the only anti-aircraft guns on order which will pierce the new armor and adequately attack high flying bombers, was negligible for the 2 year period after the beginning of the European war. This the President apparently does not deny, but speaks only of future production. I said there were not sufficient ainti-aircraft guns in America today to protect adequately one single large city on our seacoast.

"The President corrects my estimate of four 90 mm. guns monthly and said the program calls for 61 monthly for the balance of this year. The future production is, of course, problematical, but whether 4 or 61 90 mm. guns are produced monthly for the rest of the year, either figure is woefully inadequate considering our great need.

Not One Heavy Tank Ordered.

"I said we had only 521 tanks on hand Sept. 1, 1940, of which 246 were listed as obsolete and all the others antiquated. I have this in writing from an indisputable government source. I stated that, two years after the beginning of the war, not one heavy tank has been produced or is on order. I stand upon this statement and have official proof to sustain it.

"My statement that no tanks had been sent to England was itself technically accurate, but I now find that about 200 light 12 ton tanks were sent to Africa for use by the British. Not a single medium 32 ton tank, I am told, has been sent to the British anywhere, and not a single heavy 60 ton tank is on order.

"Regarding my estimate of fifteen 37 mm. anti-tank guns in July and the President's estimate of 72, and as to the discrepancy between our figures in 81 mm. mortars, again it will be noted that the President's figures are for future production.

"Taking the President's statment from the best standpoint, we are not preparing our defense quickly; we are not giving the aid we should to England. Something constructive must be done immediately."

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 22.—President Roosevelt today attacked the figures cited Tuesday by Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] in presenting to the senate a gloomy picture of the nation's preparedness. He declared somebody had sold the senator down the river on the figures.

Mr. Roosevelt's defense of the rearmament program was delivered in the high ceilinged study of his mother's home, to which he arrived from Washington this morning to keep a rendezvous tomorrow with the duke of Kent, 39 year old brother of King George VI. of England.

In taking issue with Senator Byrd, Mr. Roosevelt acknowledged he never has been satisfied with the arms production program altho he refused to acknowledge the senator's assertion that it has bogged down.

All Wrong, He Indicates.

Primed with figures provided by the war department, Mr. Roosevelt assailed Byrd's summation of the preparedness effort on three specific items and generalized that all Byrd's figures were wrong.

He did, however, acknowledge that Byrd's figures on production of airplanes—the spectacular weapon of the present war—were correct. Byrd said airplane production for June was 1,460 planes, of which 700 were training planes and only 700 were combat planes. He said only 60 of the combat planes were long range bombers and only 30 were dive bombers.

Mr. Roosevelt contended production of fighters did not fall from May to June, altho he admitted changes in design has kept production from advancing. He gave no figures.

Differs on Anti-Aircraft.

Mr. Roosevelt took issue with Byrd's statement that plans call for production of only four 90 mm. anti-aircraft guns a month. The President said the program actually calls for 61 of these guns, and added the war department believes this goal can be met.

In recalling that Byrd said only 15 37 mm. anti-tank guns are being produced each month, Mr. Roosevelt said that actually 72 were produced in July and that production schedules call for 160 in August, 260 in September, and 320 in October.

Mr. Roosevelt took up Byrd's statement that only 15 80 mm. mortars will be produced in the immediate months ahead. He said 221 of these weapons were produced in July, 340 will be completed in August, and an even larger amount will be turned out in later months.

Tanks by Hundreds, He Says.

He also took issue with a statement he attributed to Byrd that not a single tank had been sent to Britain under the arms program. He declared hundreds of tanks have been sent to Egypt, where they have been reported as giving admirable performances. Actually Byrd said that not one single tank of modern design had been received, old tanks having gone to Britain.

Mr. Roosevelt dodged the other specific items in Byrd's charge of an armaments lag by saying that, in the interests of national defense, the army would not permit him to make public the figures.

Among other things, Byrd said the arms program had not produced a single 155 mm. gun and but one modern 155 mm. howitzer. The only optimistic note in Byrd's report, which he said he felt duty bound to deliver to the country, was the assertion the American navy is the best in the world. Mr. Roosevelt did not make his quarrel with the senator personal. He merely said Byrd had been misinformed.

SON OF BANKER URGES AMERICA TO AID SOVIETS

Americans have a moral obligation to coöperate in removing military aggression from the face of the earth forever, Corliss Lamont, son of interventionist-minded banker, Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan & Co., told an audience of 250 last night in the Morrison hotel. Lamont, who has written books in praise of Russia, spoke at a meeting of the American Peoples mobilization.

In particular, Lamont urged Americans to support the administration's program of aid for Russia. "In my opinion," he said, "this does not imply or necessitate a shooting war."

Drawing what he termed an improbable picture of a German conquest of Siberia strengthening the Japanese threat to the United States, Lamont added: "America cannot afford to see the conquest of soviet Russia by Hitler's brutalitarians."

KEEPING U. S. OUT OF WAR LEGION SESSION'S ISSUE

State Convention Gets Many Resolutions.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 22.—Keep America from war was urged in various forms in a dozen resolutions under committee consideration here tonight at the 23d annual convention of the Illinois department of the American Legion. The committee sessions were behind closed doors, but the same subject prevailed in hotel lobbies, in barrooms, and on street corners, wherever the veterans of 1917 and '18 gathered during this first day of a three day meeting.

George Sugarman of the Chicago Police post, chairman of the resolutions committee, said he anticipated three or four meetings after tonight's session would be necessary to put the anti-war resolutions in form for presentation to the convention. No vote on the resolutions was being taken tonight.

Hubbard Offers Resolution.

One of the more elaborate anti-war resolutions was drafted by Nicholas L. Hubbard, Democratic state senator, a delegate from the Mount Pulaski post.

"Therefore be it resolved," his proposal concluded, "that we condemn all attempts to involve this nation in any foreign wars;

"That we condemn any attempts to increase the authority or power of the federal government over the lives of individual citizens except such power and authority as were specifically granted by the federal constitution;

"That we condemn the use of governmental authority and money in propaganda to prevent the citizens from getting the true facts concerning both domestic and foreign policies.

"Be it further resolved that the legion sponsor an active campaign to preserve our American birthright and to prevent the wasting of our substance and manhood in European or Asiatic quarrels."

Topics of Other Resolutions.

Other resolutions, as briefed by the analysis and distribution committee thi. afternoon for assignment to committees that are to report to the convention, included the following:

The American Legion should return to basic principals to keep America out of war.

Oppose use of American ships in convoy of war materials across the Atlantic.

Oppose use of American armed forces in violation of neutrality act.

Oppose "union now" movement that would make the United States part of the British empire.

Oppose aid to Dictator Stalin.

Limit service of conscripts to one year except in emergency.

Doubts Drastic Action.

Notwithstanding the tone of these resolutions, William F. Waugh, retiring state commander, said he did not expect any drastic action by the convention as a whole. However, Francis Phelan, retiring Cook county commander and a leading candidate for senior vice commander at next Monday's elections, is a strong noninterventionist.

Paul G. Armstrong, director of selective service for Illinois, is being boomed for national commander. He is said to have the backing of Gov. Dwight H. Green and of former Gov. John Stelle.

The meeting of the convention as a whole will convene at the state armory tomorrow afternoon.

Seize Car Washer, Called 'Dangerous German Spy'

New York, Aug. 22 (AP).—Euke Hard Dierken, 35 year old German born car washer, was arrested by federal authorities today on a charge of failing to register as a foreign agent. Assistant United States Attorney James D. Saver described Dierken as "one of the most dangerous German spies rounded up in the country" but added that Dierken had no connection with the 33 men and women arrested recently in a nation-wide counterespionage roundup. Dierken was held in default of $10,000 bail.

ROB TWO RESTAURANTS.

Two bandits early yesterday obtained $35 in a holdup of the Feed Bag Grill, 4559 North Clark street, and later robbed another restaurant at 3319 North Ashland avenue of $19.

Italian Demands

Black area is that demanded from Croatia by Italy.

BERLIN, Aug. 22 (AP).—Croats here today said both Italy and Hungary were demanding more territory from Croatia—the new kingdom created from the remnants of Jugo-Slavia.

Italy, they said, has dismissed the Croat civil administration in one entire district, claiming that the Croats are not vigorous enough in combatting communism and are not displaying ability to fight bands of Serb insurgents.

The Croats said Italy wants the entire Dalmatian coast and territory extending inland for 50 miles.

Authorized German sources, when asked whether it was true that Italy already had occupied Croat territory beyond that originally agreed upon, said they could not go into details.

ARMY TO FORM FIFTH ARMORED DIVISION OCT. 1

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—The war department announced today that the army's young but growing armored force will be augmented by the creation of the fifth armored division about Oct. 1 at Fort Knox, Ky., and the unit will be ready for training about two weeks later.

Altho the authorized strength of an armored division is about 12,000 men, the new division will be activated initially at reduced strength and will be built around a skeleton force of trained men and draftees from the armored force replacement training center at Fort Knox.

Details as to the number of tanks in each division constitute military secrets but such units usually possess 19,000 weapons of all kinds, giving them a tremendous fire power.

The new division will be the first created under direction of Maj. Gen. Jacob L. Devers, successor as commander of the armored force of Maj. Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, who died today at Boston. The first two divisions of the armored force were created little more than a year ago and the third and fourth were organized April 15 this year.

CALL OUT THREE NATIONAL GUARD AVIATION UNITS

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP).—The war department today ordered three national guard observation squadrons—123rd of Oregon, 124th of Iowa, and 128th of Georgia—into federal service on Sept. 15. President Roosevelt authorized mobilization of the three units last May after they received federal recognition earlier in the year.

The 123rd observation squadron will be inducted into active service at Portland, Ore., and will have temporary quarters at Gray Field, Fort Lewis, Wash. Permanent quarters to be constructed for the squadron at Fort Lewis will be ready next fall.

The 124th will be inducted at Des Moines, Ia., and go to Fort Leavenworth, Kas., for temporary quarters with permanent station unannounced at this time.

Each of the units has an authorized strength of about 31 officers and 116 enlisted men but officials here said they probably were going into service below full strength.

13 DIVE BOMBERS JOIN MANEUVERS OF 33D DIVISION

Designed to Co-operate with Troops.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Second Army Headquarters, Prescott, Ark., Aug. 22 [Special].—A squadron of 13 dive bombing planes, now participating in 2d army maneuvers in this section of southwestern Arkansas, was reported today to be approximately one-fourth of the total dive bomber strength of the United States army at the present time.

An air corps officer stated that the army now has no more than fifty planes of this type.

The dive bombers coöperated with the 33d [Illinois] division in training exercises today.

Use Navy Design.

The few dive bombers which the army now possesses were constructed from designs borrowed from the navy, because the army high command apparently has not made up its mind just what it wants in a dive bomber. The planes are Douglas A-24's [in the navy called the SBD-3A] powered with 1,000 horsepower Wright cyclone engines. They have a top speed of about 220 miles an hour, it was said, and a cruising speed of about 175. They are employed to coöperate with troops on the ground.

The bombers are fitted with diving brakes, slotted flaps which open out from the trailing edge of the wings, which hold the speed down to a reported 260 miles an hour in a dive. Such brakes are necessary to give the pilot time to sight on his target and release his bombs as he hurtles earthward and also to permit him to pull out of his dive.

Air corps officers said the planes are also fitted with throwout levers, mechanical devices which hurl heavy bombs away from the plane as they are released. Without such levers the bombs might fall directly into the propeller if released as the plane dived vertically.

Carry Three Bombs.

The planes—two place ships which carry pilot and gunner—can carry one 1,000 pound bomb under the fuselage and two 100 pound bombs in wing holders. They are supposed to be armed with two fixed forward machine guns, fired by the pilot, and one swivel machine gun handled by the gunner. Those taking part in the current maneuvers, however, have not been fitted with guns.

In action, the dive bombers fly at high altitude as they approach their objective. Sighting it, they dive almost vertically one behind the other. Bombs are aimed by aligning the plane's sights on the target as the bomber hurtles downward.

Heavy bombs usually are dropped from about 1,500 feet, air corps officers said. To dive to a lower elevation before releasing them is to risk destruction from the plane's own bombs.

TAVERN AND PATRON ROBBED.

Two bandits early yesterday took $65 from the owner of the tavern at 111 South Wells street and $21 from a customer.

not become effective until later. For instance, renewals of and additions to present instalment credit will not be affected by the rules until Nov. 1. Another rule requiring a minimum monthly payment of $5 on instalment credit will not be effective until Jan. 1.

Exceptions were provided in some cases. For instance, the restriction on small cash loans does not apply to students. Likewise, airplanes to be used in connection with the civil aeronautics administration program and equipment for defense housing are exempted. Also more liberal terms are authorized for persons swearing in writing that they cannot afford to meet the terms and will suffer "undue hardship" if denied more liberal credit.

Exceptions for Farmers.

Some exceptions were made for farmers, particularly needy ones, and those seeking cash needed for farming operations or equipment. Special exception also was made on cash loans for medical, dental, hospital, and funeral expenses when necessary to prevent hardship.

Merchants also are forbidden to make instalment sales when they have reason to believe the customer has borrowed his down payment.

Firms selling merchandise on the "lay-away" plan can figure the maximum time payment period from the time the purchased article is taken away by the consumer, rather than when ordered by him.

The board announced that administration of the regulations will be decentralized so far as possible thru the 12 reserve banks and their 24 branches. This means that persons and companies in the Chcago area desiring information on the instalment purchase subject are to write to the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago at 230 South La Salle street.

To start with, the board granted a general license to everybody to extend instalment credit in compliance with these regulations. But beginning the first of next year all stores, banks, and others will have to have individual licenses obtainable from the federal reserve banks.

Violators of the regulations will have their licenses suspended, which will prohibit them from giving any kind of instalment credit.

The board warned the public and business that today's order is just the beginning of credit regulations, and that changes "may be expected from time to time as experience with the regulations is gained and as changing economic conditions indicate the need therefor."

This meant that, at any time, the board may put additional articles on the credit restriction list, may change the down payment or maximum time of repayment, or may limit other forms of consumer credit besides instalment credit.

URGES TAX AID TO KEEP LITTLE BUSINESS ALIVE

Dewey Suggests Plan to Ease Burden.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—Representative Charles S. Dewey [R., Ill.] told the senate finance committee today that the combination of priorities control under the gigantic armament program and drastic increases in the federal estate taxes will destroy the small business of this country, backbone of its economic system, unless some relief is provided.

Testifying on the administration's program to raise from 3,500 to 4,000 million dollars in additional federal revenue, Mr. Dewey urged adoption of his plan to save small business enterprises from liquidation on the death of their owners by permitting estate taxes to be paid in advance instalments or with insurance policies.

Former Treasury Aid.

Members of the finance committee apparently were favorably impressed by the testimony of Congressman Dewey, who was an assistant secretary of the treasury in the Coolidge administration and later served for three years as American financial adviser to the government of Poland.

The witness, a member of the house banking and currency committee, said he had been listening for three weeks to the testimony of Leon Henderson, President Roosevelt's price fixer, on the pending price control bill. He said the house committee had ascertained that representatives of 36 whole industries have been summoned to Washington and told that their production will be reduced anywhere up to 50 per cent.

"Back in 1931, I think it was, President Roosevelt wrote a book called 'Looking Forward,' and in that book he particularly recommended that there should be a decentralization of industry and a retirement to the smaller localities of the country," Mr. Dewey said. "In other words—that business should go back to where the population was and not all amass in the great metropolitan districts.

Cites Burden of Taxation.

"I rather think that his advice has been forgotten, particularly recently, for the simple reason that these little industries that have located there have, to my way of thinking, been extremely burdened by the taxes placed on them, and particularly in the form of the federal estates tax.

"These little industries are not going to continue to exist, and they are certainly not going to produce any revenue unless something is done to protect them.

With all their other difficulties under the arms program, Mr. Dewey said, small enterprises that still are alive when their owners die will be wiped out of existence by the proposed increases in the estate taxes.

He cited figures of the special manufacturers census of 1937 showing that in that year there were 163,000 companies with 250 employés or less, that they employed 3,817,000 out of the total of 8,569,000 factory workers, or 44½ per cent, and that they manufactured 27,385 million dollars of the total of 60,000 million dollars of manufactured products.

Details of Program.

Under the plan proposed by Mr. Dewey, federal estate taxes on net estates up to $500,000 could be paid with nontaxable insurance life insurance policies with the federal government as the beneficiary or with noninterest bearing estate tax anticipation receipts. The secretary of the treasury would issue tax anticipation receipts for prepayments of estate taxes, which could be paid in 10 annual instalments.

PRESIDENT ISSUES EXECUTIVE ORDER TO EXTEND DRAFT

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP).—A formal order allowing the war department to keep men in the army an extra 18 months was issued today by President Roosevelt. It was tempered, however, with authorization for the domobilization of personnel after a year's service whenever the interests of national defense permitted.

The presidential executive order made fully effective the selective service extension act, which became law last Monday. Under it, selectees can be kept in training for 2½ years instead of a single year. The extension applies also to National Guardsmen, reservists, and enlisted men of the regular army.

Mr. Roosevelt's order said the secretary of war might release selectees after only 12 months' service and transfer them to reserve components of the army "with a view to the early creation of a large trained reserve while, at the same time, maintaining the army in immediate readiness for use in the defense of the nation."

In his discretion, the secretary may discharge reservists and guardsmen after a year's active duty and enlisted personnel of the army after the regular enlistment period is up, but only "as the interests of national defense permit."

BRITISH REMOVE 'ENEMY' BAN ON SYRIA, LEBANON

JERUSALEM, Aug. 22.—Legislative action taken in Syria and Lebanon recently in conformity with the British-"Free French" authorities, has had the effect of placing those countries on the same economic basis as Palestine, British officials said here today. This position was formally established by the government at London yesterday in removing Syria and Lebanon from the British trading with the enemy act.

The legislative steps comprise enactment in Syria and Lebanon of trading with the enemy legislation directed at the axis powers, the setting up of postal and telegraph censorship, establishment of an exchange bureau, and the creation of an import and export licensing system.

Syrian merchants now will be able to place orders in British overseas markets. Considerable quantities of coal, rice, sugar, and coffee are soon to be shipped to Syria and Lebanon to help reduce the high cost of living there.

Japan to Let Foreigners Have $235 a Month to Live

TOKIO, Japan, Aug. 22 (AP).—The Japanese government tonight eased monetary restrictions on foreigners resulting from reciprocal Japanese-British-American freezing measures, and permitted foreigners to draw 1,000 yen [about $235] monthly from bank accounts for living expenses. Previously only 500 yen a month could be withdrawn. However, the new order covers only accounts in Japanese or other oriental banks.

END BOTTLENECK ON TRAVELERS AT PORT OF LISBON

New York, Aug. 22 (AP).—The transportation bottleneck at Lisbon, Portugal, behind which hundreds of refugees and others have waited weeks and even months for passage to the United States, virtually has been eliminated, a spokesman for Pan-American Airways said today. He said the waiting time has been reduced to three or four days.

Several factors have aided the situation, he explained. The Portuguese government has established regulations requiring refugees passing across Portugal to have a return ticket to their homes or other destinations, or financial means to leave Portugal. The fact that official passengers are crossing on British planes between England and Canada has aided, he said.

The American Export Line operates three passenger liners in the trade and recent ships have been bringing 60 fewer passengers per trip than they were bringing several months ago. Portuguese and Spanish vessels are operating on special voyages to rid Lisbon of refugees. In addition, Pan-American has added one flying boat to its transatlantic schedule.

BRITISH ATTACK GERMAN SHIPS AND AN AIRFIELD

LONDON, Aug. 22 (AP).—The royal air force attacked channel shipping and a German held airdrome in northern France today. The air ministry said patrol vessels, hangars, and German planes on the ground were hit. Destruction of two German fighters with no RAF losses was reported. The RAF took to the air by daylight after being grounded overnight by bad weather.

Hit 2 Ships, Says Berlin.

BERLIN, Aug. 22 (AP).—German planes today were reported to have damaged a 3,000 ton freighter off Cromer and another merchantman off Great Yarmouth in channel raids last night.

It also was reported that fighter planes and antiaircraft had downed 26 British planes and naval artillery had accounted for three others yesterday.

ASSAIL SECRECY OF ROOSEVELT'S OCEAN PARLEYS

Three America First speakers last night joined in denouncing the secrecy surrounding the meeting of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill of England. The speakers also warned of increasing taxes and held that army morale could be bolstered by operating draft laws under a frank and open process.

Dr. Brent D. Allinson of the American university, Washington, D. C., spoke at a meeting of the Lincoln Park chapter in the north side auditorium, 3730 North Clark street. He held that congress had not authorized any one to say or think that the President has authority to pledge resources of and power of American people to underwrite English victory.

The Rev. William H. Medler, pastor of Hyde Park Lutheran church, said the joint statement of Churchill and the President may well be the prelude to another 10 billion dollar tax ride and the prolog to a shooting war. He spoke at an open air rally in Elmhurst.

Attorney Walter F. Boye, speaking at a meeting in Lombard, said that any indication of low morale in the army comes from broken pledges by leaders in Washington in the draft extension.

FINNISH VESSEL NAZIS SHOT UP IS SEIZED IN CUBA

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 22 (AP).—The 3,335 ton Finnish steamer Koura was seized tonight by the Cuban government and her 18 crewmen and captain were interned.

Dr. Aurelio Ituarte, chief of immigration, gave no reason for the seizure, but it was believed to be in accord with Cuba's policy of taking over all ships of Axis and Axis-connected powers.

Maritime circles said the Koura, which left Petsamo enroute to Barranquilla Colombia, shortly before Finland joined Germany in the war against Russia, was damaged by Nazi planes at the far northern port.

She continued to Barranquilla, where her damage was repaired, and came on to Havana yesterday. British authorities were said to have granted a permit for the ship to come here.

YANK AND BRITON IN ICELAND FIND A COMMON TIE

It Isn't War, but Just a Human Kinship.

[Tom Horgan, Associated Press staff writer, has been on a voyage to Iceland with vessels of the United States neutrality patrol. He tells here of the small talk and other things with which American and British forces there occupy some of their off-duty hours.]

BY TOM HORGAN.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 12 (AP).—[Delayed].—American and British forces stationed in Iceland have many interests unrelated to the war, including stamp collecting.

A British commander of a former United States destroyer, who recently was awarded the Victoria cross and who is credited with three German submarines, was downhearted because he had just received word that his collection, for which he had refused £1,700, had burned in an air raid in London. He said he would not start anew.

U. S. Skipper Lost His, Too.

But the skipper of an American destroyer had come ashore for some Iceland stamps. His first collection, begun by his grandfather, was destroyed when the Presidential yacht Mayflower burned at Philadelphia after she was decommissioned during the Hoover administration.

Few of the American officers who were entertained on one of the British warships knew at the time that the boyish Englishman who led them in rollicking song only recently learned his father, also a naval officer, had been killed in action.

A young American aviator gazed wistfully at Iceland's sheer hills of lava, some of which resemble many layered chocolate cake.

"They'd remind you of Hawaii, maybe Diamond Head," he said, "if they had something growing on them."

Surgeon Longs for Babes.

A junior lieutenant, surgeon for a group of American destroyers, whose presently thwarted ambition is to specialize in maternity cases, said he was looking forward to the time he would have duty at a shore station and the care of bluejackets' families, and incidentally see more of his two merry youngsters whose pictures he displayed.

Information about a round the world cruise, this time as a passenger, was sought by a veteran chief quartermaster who soon will come up for a warrant or commission. When the present emergency is over he plans to retire, after more than 20 years in the navy, and take his wife on such a voyage, visiting many of the ports already familiar to him.

Two fledgling ensigns discussed their troubles. One complained that Annapolis would not permit marriage until two years after graduation. The other, a naval reservist and not affected by such restriction, was anxious to get home to his bride of several months. He had been with her only about a week since they were wed.

Son of Bos'n Jumps Ship.

All hands shared the sorrow of a gray haired chief bos'n who had been called back from retirement to service aboard one of the destroyers. His son had jumped ship—his father's ship—to go to a girl in San Diego. Every one hoped the boy would report back before he could be charged with desertion.

Sympathy too for the destroyer's steward, also called back from retirement by the emergency. He lost all his possessions, including a new automobile he was taking back to his native Philippines, when the liner President Hoover went aground in Japanese waters several years ago.

A young ensign has a jolly time addressing northerners as "damned Yanks" and southerners as "damned Rebs." It's quite all right. His family came from Baltimore and fought on both sides in the Civil war.

Fishing Popular Pastime.

Fishing is a popular diversion of the American bluejackets. There isn't much to do ashore, so many of them line the rails of their ships and try their luck in Iceland waters rather than take shore leave. This is one port where officers do not worry about men overstaying leaves, and large groups of sailors can be found waiting along the landing stage long before the last liberty boat is due.

Samples of American humor can be found in the names the boys have given trucks and tank barges. Barge No. 8 quite naturally became the Eight Ball, but the names painted on most of the conveyances, land or water, are feminine, and, it would seem reasonable to suppose, are those of girls back home, for none has an Icelandic ring.

Prohibition Taken Seriously.

Conversation with a Reykjavik cab driver:

"Has Iceland a navy?"

"No, no navy."

"An army?"

"Only the Salvation Army."

"Don't Icelanders like to drink?" [referring to the country's rigid liquor restrictions].

"Yes, they like to drink."

"What do they do about it?"

"Nothing; it's against the law."

HULL HINTS DEAL WITH JAPAN TO GET YANKS HOME

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—Secretary of State Cordell Hull indicated today that some arrangement had been made with Japan for gradual repatriation of American citizens from that country and Japanese from the United States.

He predicted the movement of small groups of Americans from Japan to Shanghai, and Japanese from this country to Japan.

The secretary would not go into details, but indicated some formula had been agreed upon with the Japanese to solve the problem created by earlier refusal of Japanese authorities to permit more than 100 Americans to leave that country.

Twenty-two Americans obtained reservations yesterday on a Japanese ship leaving for Shanghai and were expected to be repatriated on American vessels leaving there for the United States.

Hull indicated there probably will be additional groups leaving Japan by the same means.

NOBODY GETTING RICH OUT OF WAR, CANADA IS TOLD

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 22 [Special].—Nobody in Canada is making a fortune out of the war, as was done between 1914 and 1918, and profits are being pared to a minimum, the parliamentary committee on war expenditures reported today. It has been examining accounts during the last month.

The committee demanded continued civilian control of war spending and recommended that some responsible body be now constituted to control during the war and afterward the huge investments of public money which have been made in flying fields, ammunition plants, stores, industries and buildings of every kind.

Another recommendation is that civilian clerks should be employed to do many jobs now being done by soldiers and officers in uniform with pay and allowances.

7 MILLION TONS OF ALLIED SHIPS GIVEN TO BRITAIN

LONDON, Aug. 22 (AP).—Britain's allies who were overrun by the German armies managed to save 7,200,000 tons of their merchant shipping to supplement Britain's merchant marine, First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander said today.

Total British and allied shipping lost in the war thru June was 6,099,137 tons, according to British figures. In addition, Britain has reported the loss of 1,004,843 tons of neutral shipping. Of the losses, Britain had said 4,601,120 tons were her own, 1,498,017 tons that of her allies.

Alexander said Britain's allies brought 190 warships, 1,618 merchant ships, 1,200 officers, and 13,500 men to the "common cause."

THAILAND WARNS ANY INVADERS FACE RESISTANCE

BANGKOK, Thailand, Aug. 22 (AP).—No nation will be able to attack Thailand [Siam] without meeting the most stubborn resistance, Luang Vichitar Vadakarn, minister of state, said today in a broadcast on "the security of Thailand."

Repeating Thailand's declarations of complete neutrality and opposition to any invader, he said "to die as free men is better than to live as slaves."

The Thai radio said the government fully trusted Japanese and British assurances that no attack on this country was contemplated, but warned their people to dig air raid shelters as a "common sense preparedness."

Japs Make Farm Labor 'Must' Course in School

TOKIO, Aug. 22 (AP).—In order to increase agricultural production a student labor service will be inaugurated with the fall semester as part of the regular curriculum in Japanese schools, it was announced today.

Collection Begins

The job of transporting 566,000 pounds of aluminum collected in the recent state drive to smelting plants was begun yesterday. All of the aluminum gathered thruout Illinois is expected to be at smelters by the latter part of next week.

After weighing and payment to the government, the metal will be melted down and transformed into aluminum ingots, then sold to factories engaged in arms projects. The transfer of the aluminum from collection centers to the plant is being handled by the nine smelting firms chosen to handle the work.

These plants are the Apex Smelting company, Kramer & Co., L. A. Cohn Brothers, R. Lavin, and L. S. Cohen, all in Chicago, the Jobbins company and Aurora Refining company, Aurora, the U. S. Reduction company, East Chicago, Ind., and the American Smelting and Refining company, St. Louis, Mo.

SECOND CHICAGO NAVY AIR UNIT IS NEARLY FILLED

Chicago's young men have responded so readily to the call for navy flyers that 21 of the 33 man quota of the Blackhawk squadron, second of the all-Chicago squadrons of navy flyers to be organized here, have been enrolled in a little more than two weeks, Lieut. Carl G. Olson of the navy flight selection board, announced yesterday.

Altho nearly 70 per cent completed, the Blackhawk squadron is not scheduled to begin training at the Glenview naval aviation base until Nov. 30. The first all-Chicago squadron, Chicago's Own, begins training Sept. 30. A committee of 40 Chicago business men, World war navy flyers, is sponsoring the recruiting of the Chicago squadrons.

The naval aviation cadets receive the primary stage of their flight training at the Glenview base and complete eight months of basic and advanced training in the south.

A 10C TOY COSTS $1.10 WHOLESALE AT BRITISH SALE

LONDON, Aug. 22—(AP).—Playing Santa Claus to London's children next Christmas is going to be an extra expensive proposition.

Prices paid today by London department stores in one of Great Britain's biggest toy auctions indicated that only England's richest children will get their hands on the playthings.

Prices paid for the toys, which department stores said would be increased by 50 to 100 per cent when the public buys:

Pre-war one-dollar eye-shifting dolls, $4.00.

Tiny, tin, 10-cent automobiles, $1.10.

Popguns, minus corks, once 15 cents, $1.10.

Bow and arrow set, formerly 30 cents, $1.10.

BRITISH GENERAL PRAISES MORALE OF SOVIET ARMY

LONDON, Aug. 22 (AP).—An official report to the war office from Lieut. Gen. F. N. Mason-MacFarlane, head of the British mission to Moscow, paises the morale and efficiency of the Russian army, authoritative sources said today.

The report said the general visited the Smolensk area and saw a division in action. He arrived in Moscow June 28. Considered an able judge of military tactics, Mason-MacFarlane said he was impressed by "the excellent coöperation between the Red air force and other arms."

He noted in his report that the Russians cleared the battlefield over which the division fought methodically and quickly and buried all German dead within 24 hours.

U. S. LETS BRITISH DEAL WITH NAZI PLANE IN ICELAND

Guns Silent; Flyers Idle in First War Contact.

REYKJAVIK, Aug. 22 (AP).—United States pilots remained on the ground during the air alarm here Wednesday in which American built Tomahawk fighter planes chased away a German Heinkel bomber, it was stated authoritatively today.

British airmen put the invader to flight without its having dropped any bombs. The German plane disappeared before the British got within firing range.

U. S. Guns Remain Silent.

Not only did American airmen stay on the ground, but anti-aircraft batteries of the United States forces stationed here were silent thruout the alarm.

There were no American service pilots flying for the British air force in Iceland, authorities said.

[The incident was the first in which a German plane has been reported over Iceland since announcement July 7 that American forces had occupied the strategic North Atlantic island.]

Danes Fear War in Iceland.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Aug. 22 (AP).—Prime Minister Thovald Stauning said in a declaration to the lower house of parliament today that Iceland had no choice in the matter of occupation by United States troops. But, Stauning asserted, he had faith in the American promise to leave the strategic northern island after the war.

Meanwhile, he said, there is a possibility that Iceland may become directly involved in the conflict.

[Iceland and German-occupied Denmark are technically sister kingdoms under the same crown.]

Calls Move "Regrettable."

The American occupation, Stauning added, was "regrettable from the Danish and European viewpoint."

"Iceland," he said, "belongs to the northern states and thru them to Europe. . . . But in this place I want to express my conviction that historic developments will confirm the solemn promises of the American government.

"Meanwhile I hope Iceland in a difficult situation will not lose sight of its historic connection with the Danish peoples and thru them with Europe."

RAIDERS STRIKE ALEXANDRIA AT NIGHT; 3 KILLED

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 22 (AP).—Three persons were killed and six injured in a raid on Alexandria last night, a communique said today. The damage was reported slight.

The royal air force reported that in the last two days it had made raids on Bengazi, Libya, hitting railway yards, and other axis Mediterranean bases, including Syracuse.

Destroyer Torpedoed, Says Rome.

ROME, Aug. 22 (AP).—The Italian high command reported today that German bombers had damaged two British light cruisers off the besieged Libyan port of Tobruk, and that Italian planes torpedoed a destroyer during an attack on a British naval formation in the eastern Mediterranean.

CANADIANS NAB 4 U. S. BOATS FOR ILLEGAL FISHING

PELEE ISLAND, Ont., Aug. 22 [Canadian Press].—Four 40-foot gasoline powered United States fishing boats, said to be from Sandusky, O., were seized by Ontario game wardens for alleged illegal fishing off Point Pelee in Lake Erie and taken today to Kingsville, Ont.

The United States crews will be charged with commercial fishing in Canadian waters without a license, game wardens said. Prosecution will be undertaken by the Ontario fisheries department.

The American crews have been released, but their boats and equipment are being held to insure their appearance in court to answer the charges.

36 Nazis and Argentine Backers Ordered Jailed

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Aug. 22 (AP).—The arrest of 36 persons, including German nationals and alleged Nazi sympathizers, was ordered today by Judge Ramon Vasquez, who is investigating anti-Argentine activities. Vasquez acted after a night-long conference with Paul Damonte Taborda, head of a special congressional committee. They were reported to have discussed the operations of illegal associations.

URGES CONVICTS MAKE ARMS AND SERVE IN ARMY

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 22 (AP).—Organization of convicts into units for national preparedness work was proposed to the American Prison association today by Sam A. Lewisohn, New York industrialist and member of the Federal Prison Industries, Inc.

He suggested that each penitentiary recruit all suitable prisoners and classify them for possible service as soldiers or skilled workers. Convicts not qualified for these services might be put on maintenance work in the prisons, taking the place of others who could then be made available for industrial jobs, he said.

Recalling that prisoners in several institutions already had voiced desires to do military service or some kind of work, and that it is possible now for some men with criminal records to enlist in the army, Lewisohn said "society cannot close the door in the face of men who have earned the right to take their place in every other part of the social program."

Lewisohn proposed that the prison association appoint a commission to select and develop convict recruits and to fit them into military or industrial activities.

ADMIT U. S. AIDS IN MANILA HOLD JAPS' VALUABLES

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 22 (AP).—Officials in the office of Francis B. Sayre, high commissioner, tonight confirmed reports made by a foreign passenger on the French ship Marechal Joffre at Shanghai that United States authorities confiscated valuables from Japanese evacuees before the vessel left Manila last Monday.

The action was taken by United States agents, it was explained, in enforcing freezing regulations. The sum involved was much less than $50,000, as reported at Shanghai, these sources said. The valuables were described as including some money, but mostly securities and some insurance policies.

Under the freezing order nationals are permitted to take only $200 in United States money from the Philippines without obtaining a license.

ROOSEVELT BARS MANILA BAY TO SHIPS AT NIGHT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—President Roosevelt has signed an executive order prohibiting unsupervised night time navigation of Manila bay and warning that violators of the regulation would be subject to "attack by United States armed forces."

Portions of the area were mined several weeks ago.

The order, published in the federal register, established the territorial waters of the bay and its tributaries as a "defensive sea area" and warned ships that they would operate in it at their own risk.

AMERICAN FIGHTS BRITAIN'S TAX ON U. S. AID TO CHINA

Seeks to Cancel 1 Pct. Burma Road Levy.

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 22 (AP).—Daniel Arnstein, one of the trio of American traffic experts who have more than doubled the flow of supplies over the Burma road in the last two weeks, today said British Burma's 1 per cent ad valorem tax on American lend-lease material for China must be lifted.

Elimination of the tax would save fighting China millions of dollars, Arnstein declared, and he said he would start a powerful drive to cancel it when he returns to the United States.

Brands Tax "Iniquitous."

Arnstein and Marco Hellman, both of New York, and Harold Davis of Hartford, Conn., already have stepped up the Burma road's traffic, and a greater increase is expected when 4,500 new American trucks start operating under Lieut. James Wilson of New Orleans, an experienced truckman who has been made assistant American military attaché here.

Arnstein described the Burma tax as an "iniquitous imposition" and pointed out that if China received 1,000 million dollars' worth of material Burma would collect $10,000,000.

"I'm no politician," Arnstein exclaimed. "I'm just a truckman, but with Burma sitting on a powder keg herself I see no reason why she should take money at the expense of a potential military ally. I told the governor of Burma, Sir Reginald Dorman-Smith, so.

50 Planes Raid Chungking.

"The tax has got to go and believe you me it's going."

A residence in the compound of the American-operated Seventh Day Adventist mission was wrecked, most of the buildings of the National Central university burned, and at least 700 small combined shops and homes were destroyed today in a raid by 50 Japanese planes. Some 1,000 persons were added to the city's homeless.

FIND CALDWELL HOARD OF CASH, BONDS, JEWELRY

icent and that he was sure his estimate of $30,000 worth was low rather than high.

Prosecutors Get Search Warant.

Crawford and Gordon Nash, another assistant assigned by State's Attorney Courtney to gather evidence on which to indict the ousted boss, were informed yesterday of the hoard in the deposit box. They obtained a search warrant from Municipal Judge George B. Weiss.

When they arrived at the hotel "Stewart" was out. Policemen waited patiently for him. When he was seized he was taken to the vault and asked if he would consent to the opening of the box. He would not and a locksmith was called in, the box was opened and the contents were spilled upon a table.

In the presence of witnesses Crawford made an inventory of the contents. The postal bonds showed that the five of $1,000 denomination were purchased Sept. 1, 1939. Two were in Caldwell's name and two in that of his wife. The fifth $1,000 bond was in the name of both Caldwell and his wife. Both gave the address of the union at 400 South State street.

Two in Daughter's Name.

On the same date two of the $100 bonds were purchased in the daughter's name and three in the name of Caldwell. Caldwell bought three more on Oct. 1, 1939. He had purchased one of $100 denomination in March, 1938.

The real estate memoranda showed that Mrs. Caldwell took title to the Winchester avenue house, formerly owned by Caldwell's brother, Mike Pollack, last May. The Van Buren street deal apparently was made with Mrs. Caldwell and Pearl Edelman as partners and that each put up $7,500 as a down payment on a total $30,000 price. This was in December, 1939.

BANDITS' TRICK OPENS DOOR AND THEY GET $2,600

Two bandits obtained $2,600 yesterday by tricking the owner of a currency exchange at 443 South Paulina street. One of the bandits appeared at the exchange and got a money order. He departed, leaving a package on the desk. A few minutes later Sol Mayer, owner of the exchange, received a telephone call asking him to get the package and put it away until the caller could pick it up. As Mayer opened the locked cage, the second bandit walked in, forced Mayer to lie on the floor, and then scooped up the money in the cage.

Oak Park Naval Aviator and Cadet Killed in Crash

Corpus Christi, Tex., Aug. 22 (AP).—Ensign Bernard W. Murphy of Oak Park, Ill., instructor at the United States naval air station, and Aviation Cadet Leonard Melville Proctor, 21 years old, Los Angeles, Cal., were killed today in the crash of their training plane. Cause of the crash, which occurred while the two were on a routine training flight, had not been determined.

CICOVSKY AND HIS GIRL FRIEND GET INTO NEWS AGAIN

Troubles piled up again last night for Joseph Cicovsky, a furniture dealer at 1934 West 51st street. Last May, during a separate maintenance hearing brought by his wife, Mrs. Ann Cicovsky, Judge Rudolph Desort ordered Cicovsky to stay out of taverns north of 51st street. At the same time the judge ordered his girl friend, Florence Lukas, 1856 West 47th street, to stay out of taverns south of that street.

The idea was to keep Cicovsky and his friend apart, but the order has only worked so so, according to police records. In June Miss Lukas strayed south to a tavern at 64th street and Western avenue. She was with another man, and in anger, Cicovsky drove her car away. She called police who caught him after a 15 block chase. It cost Cicovsky $20 in fines next day.

Then last night Miss Lukas strayed farther south to a tavern at 95th street and Kean avenue, Palos township, but this time Cicovsky was with her. They quarreled, and again he drove off in her car. Again police chased and caught him. The pursuers, County Highway Policemen John Geno and James Hines said grimly they plan to charge him with larceny.

Adds 8 Marriage License Clerks for Today's Rush

Chief Clerk Sidney Summerfield of the marriage license bureau yesterday hired eight extra clerks to assist at the bureau today, after 370 licenses issued last Saturday indicated to him that Saturday rushes are to be expected at the bureau. He said more persons have jobs now than at any time in recent years and can't get off from work to get their licenses except on the Saturday half holiday.

AN ANGLER'S BIG 'CATCH' MAKES HIM LIFE SAVER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 22.—Sitting on the dock at Leamington today, his fishing line dangling idly in the waters of Lake Erie, Peter Matta heard a girl screaming. Turning to look, he felt a tug on his line. He began to reel in just as the girl rushed up.

"Save my brother; he just fell in near here and the water is 30 feet deep."

Matta, willing to help but loath to let go his catch, began reeling in all the faster. And it was lucky he did for it was the biggest catch he ever made—a squirming, wiggling boy, firmly "hooked" by the blouse.

"It's my brother," the girl, Mamie McIntee, 18, said. "He was riding on the handlebars of my bicycle. When we got to the edge of the dock I put on the brake so hard it catapulted him into the water."

A few mouthfuls of air revived Stafford McIntee, aged seven, when he'd been hauled ashore.

BARRETT WARNS OF RIGHTS LOST IN 'EMERGENCIES'

Dixon, Ill., Aug. 22 (AP).—Attorney General George P. Barrett declared today that many constitutional rights have been threatened or taken away from the people under the guise of emergencies.

When the emergencies have passed, he said, it will be largely the duty of the great agricultural middle west to provide leaders who will unshackle the farmer and guide the country "back to a solid basis."

"Planes, tanks, and soldiers are important," Barrett said in an address at the Lee county fair, "but the soldiers must be fed and the money for the tanks and planes must come ultimately from the soil. It is my firm conviction that when the people of this age stop thinking so highly of themselves and start working together for a return to the kind of government which the writers of the constitution intended us to have, then we will have better government."

TOW SHIP FINDS BIG DREDGE, TORN LOOSE IN STORM

San Pedro, Cal., Aug. 22 (AP).—A rudderless dredge, drifting toward Hawaii with 12 workers aboard, was located today 1,900 miles southwest of Los Angeles, according to radio reports from its mother ship, the Chippewa.

The dredge, a $500,000 craft of 1,000 tons, was located by the Chippewa 24 hours after it was torn loose from its towline and set helplessly adrift in a severe gale. Reports said the sea was too heavy to attempt to pick up the line late today, but that all aboard the dredge were safe.

The Chippewa radioed to Honolulu for another ship to tow the dredge, because the Chippewa lacks sufficient fuel for the long pull to the islands. The dredge is loaded with machinery for a navy project in Honolulu. It had been towed from New Orleans thru the Panama canal and up the Mexican coast.

20 Second Lieutenants Ordered to Hawaii Sept. 6

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—The army today ordered 20 second lieutenants in the air forces from Brooks Field, Tex., to Hawaii. They will sail from San Francisco about Sept. 6. Earlier this week 33 similar transfers were ordered.

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR ILLINOIS AND CHICAGO

Save Our Republic

WATCH YOUR STEP, MR. ANONYMOUS.

Contrary to custom, we are publishing an anonymous letter in the Voice of the People this morning. The letter, received a few days ago, was addressed to the editor of THE TRIBUNE, warning him that if we continue to publish stories exposing labor racketeers, the reporter concerned will be murdered and various other persons connected with THE TRIBUNE will suffer bodily violence. The terror will be extended to advertisers in this newspaper.

That's what the letterwriter says. And this is what we have to say in reply:

Once upon a time a trained nurse, whose name we will not mention out of consideration for her feelings, placed a situation-wanted advertisment in THE TRIBUNE. The advertisment brought her a request for an interview which purported to come from M. B. Austin in Winnetka. She called at the Austin home and was met at the door by the chauffeur, Malachi Crowe, who had inserted the advertisment in his employer's name. Crowe knocked the girl out with a blow on the head and raped her. To escape him she jumped from a window and suffered severe injuries. He fled. The crime was committed on Aug. 25, 1927. The police couldn't find Crowe and after a couple of months gave up the search. THE TRIBUNE didn't give up. Moses Lamson, a reporter, was assigned to find Crowe, and worked on the case, day and night, for five months. He wrote hundreds of personal letters, ran down a hundred clues, and finally found Crowe working as a houseman in Kansas City, Kas. Crowe confessed and on Feb. 27, 1928, was sentenced to 60 years in the penitentiary by Judge William Brothers.

Once upon a time a TRIBUNE police reporter named Alfred Lingle was shot and killed. The crime was committed on June 9, 1930. THE TRIBUNE offered a reward of $25,000 for information leading to the killer. He was found on Dec. 21, 1930. The murderer, Leo Brothers, was convicted by a jury before Judge Sabath on April 3, 1931, and was sentenced to 14 years in the penitentiary. After receiving credit for good behavior while in prison, Brothers was released on June 10, 1940.

Once upon a time four men held up a TRIBUNE automobile, shot and dangerously wounded Harry P. Walsh, chief of THE TRIBUNE'S watchmen, and escaped with a $9,174 pay roll. A $10,000 reward and a relentless search brought all four to justice. The crime was committed on July 19, 1940. Six months later, Peter Allegretti had been trailed to his hideout in San Pedro, Cal., and a few days later he and Tony Lullo were starting their year-to-life sentences. A third of the criminals, Neal Ruzzo, who had played a minor rôle in the holdup, got 1 to 10 years. A fourth, who had assisted the prosecution, was released on probation. All four pleaded guilty.

These stories are told to suggest that it doesn't pay to monkey with THE TRIBUNE and the members of its staff. Every time it has been tried the criminals have had ample cause to regret their folly.

If our anonymous correspondent injures a hair on the head of a member of THE TRIBUNE staff, we will track down the assailant no matter how long it takes or how much money we have to spend to get him. That is a pledge and it is given without reservation or qualification.

SAVE THE AUDITORIUM.

The campaign for public subscriptions to save the Auditorium from the wreckers is under way. In all, something like $400,000 is needed.

The Auditorium properties are to be taken over by a nonprofit corporation organized like the Orchestral association, the Art institute, the museums, the Zoölogical society and similar institutions for public service. A board of directors composed of men who merit the full confidence of the community is being formed to operate the Auditorium for the people of Chicago.

The owners of the Auditorium were forced to close it and are selling it at a very low figure—$360,000—because they have found it impossible to meet the tax bills in the last decade. There is an accumulated tax debt against the properties of approximately a million dollars. The hotel and the office building have earned more than enough to pay their annual taxes and under the new arrangement will continue to be taxed as before. The theater, however, will be tax exmpt. The new money which the public is asked to contribute is needed to compromise the tax claim, and more especially to provide new heating and power facilities to replace those which are no longer available.

The loss of the Auditorium would reflect great discredit upon the community. The building is one of the few architectural masterpieces to be found in the United States. The architects, Adler and Sullivan, were far ahead of their time. They faced their problem with clear eyes and solved it simply and directly. At a time when it was fashionable to overload buildings with ornament they relied upon just proportions and used ornament sparingly. At a time when architects were inclined to plan without too much consideration for the uses to which their buildings would be put, Adler and Sullivan were thorogoing functionalists. You can see the stage from every seat in the theater, and in the last row of the top gallery you can hear a whisper from the wings. The problem of getting a great crowd in and out of the building speedily was solved as well as it has ever been.

The Auditorium is a work of genius and is so recognized everywhere. It has been immensely serviceable to the people of Chicago. It is structurally as sound as ever. Once the new management has taken it over on behalf of the community, the theater will have a new career of usefulness.

THE TRIBUNE believes that its readers are eager to contribute to the fund. Checks should be made to the Auditorium Music Foundation. They may be sent to the headquarters of the foundation at 332 South Michigan avenue or to THE TRIBUNE, which will acknowledge and forward them. If directed to THE TRIBUNE, the envelopes should be marked "Auditorium Fund."

ROOSEVELT WAR MONGER.

The edition of the London Spectator just reaching its American readers contains an article from the weekly's American correspondent on "The Battle of America." Erwin D. Canham, the writer, is altogether in sympathy with Mr. Roosevelt's purposes. He believes the United States will and should send its troops abroad to join the British, to land on the continent, and defeat Hitler in Germany.

The people of England have been led to expect this. They think it has been pledged. It is necessary to explain to them why the matter drags. The English read what Mr. Roosevelt says and of what he does. He has told them that this is America's war and that there can be no peace with Hitler. It is necessary to explain to them that patience is required.

The editors of the Spectator are sympathetic, understand Mr. Roosevelt's difficulties, and wish to explain them to the English public. Mr. Canham when he wrote did not know, of course, that Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill were to meet at sea, but American readers can add that incident to what the commentator has to say of our chief executive's approach to war and the methods he uses for getting there.

He says that British readers and historians will want to know why Mr. Roosevelt waited so long after the passage of the lease and lend law "to take us the distance of his May 27 speech." Two answers are suggested. One, that it was his conviction that the authority given him under the lease-lend law was all the public would stand at the time. "He definitely deemed essential a cooling off period of two months before taking the next step." The second reason suggested was that he did not feel that "American participation in a shooting war would be unavoidable."

"When it finally became apparent," says Mr. Canham, "that the fateful plunge had to be made, the President paused and weighed deeply all the consequences before crossing the stream. Mr. Roosevelt's habitual technique is to wait until suspense becomes painful and then to act. Thus he usually reduces opposition to a vanishing point in an onrush of relief from the enlarging majority. It must be remembered that during a seeming lull American acts to assist Britain were going on behind the scenes and the final test was what could be done in military and naval action."

This is a sympathetic and friendly analysis of Mr. Roosevelt's war tactics. He has not found an enlarging majority in favor of his war, but a diminishing minority. That, however, has not diverted him from his program or caused him to relinquish any part of his purpose. He is playing with the destiny of the United States just as the Spectator article says he is. He calculates and waits. He creates a situation which starties the people and then he allows the cooling off period to ensue.

When the people have recovered from the astonishment caused by the unexpected nature of the move sudednly revealed and have accepted the stroke as a fact accomplished, he moves in another direction. Eighty per cent, as every poll shows, have voted against taking "the fateful plunge," but Mr. Roosevelt's habitual technique gets around them.

It is probably true that many of them feel the suspense which he creates. They are kept in the dark. He doesn't make his program an open document. He doesn't inform congress or the people of the extraordinary decisions he makes. He arranges his stage effects to get dramatic suddenness.

Let the people think back over the war scares and recall how many times they have been jarred by the announcement of some extraordinary stroke which Mr. Roosevelt has delivered—the swapping of the destroyers, the occupation of Iceland, the threats to Vichy and Portugal, the declaration of an unlimited emergency, the intervention in the far east against Japan, the retention of the conscripts, the extension of the Atlantic patrol with the navy now cleared for action, the meeting with Churchill, the move toward North Africa, the warning that the American people do not seem to realize that this war "will need hard, tough fighting and that somebody is going to get hurt." Some of the cooling off periods have been much shorter than others. Since the meeting with Churchill, Mr. Roosevelt is moving more rapidly. He is now working his habitual technique of suspense in short pauses.

Both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill have had an ultimatum from Stalin. He requires a western front and he wants it now. Mr. Roosevelt knows he can't get a declaration of war from congress. The English know he can't. To that extent the 80 per cent opposed to Mr. Roosevelt's dark, devious, and calculating policy have been successful. The people who are determined not to get into the war of hard, tough fighting, with its certainty of destruction, are gaining ground. As Mr. Roosevelt and the war party find they are losing ground they will become more desperate.

The vote in the house of representatives of 203 to 202 on the extension of the service act was warning that double dealing, undercover work, and the familiar technique are running into a storm.

Editorial of the Day

DO NOT WANT TO KNOW?

[Illinois State Journal.]

Nelson Johnson, commenting on the influence of the United States in world politics, says: "The way of the future lies right here in the United States of America, and the funny part of it is that everybody in the world knows it but us."

When Mr. Johnson speaks of "everybody" he refers to the governments of the world and not to the peoples they govern. Unfortunately, the rulers are more concerned with aid for their own régimes than they are for American guidance. They want American help but are not ready to accept the American way.

The people of this country seem insensible or indifferent to the future of which Mr. Johnson speaks, probably because they can sense no immediate community of interest between themselves and the governments which dominate most of the world. Those who best know the relationship doubt the practicability of asserting it.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

THE GREAT WOODBINE MYSTERY.

This column's current inquiry into the origin of the old popular expression, "Gone where the woodbine twineth," may be useful to the editors of books of reference when they prepare their revised editions. Yesterday's explanation, contributed by That Fella Down in Streator, is the standard one and can be found in "The Home Book of Quotations," but we do not believe that it should be regarded as final.

It may be accepted as fact that James Fisk, Wall street speculator, said when asked where was the gold that he "cornered," "It has gone where the woodbine twineth." There is no doubt that this remark tickled the national sense of humor and was printed all over the country. But such folk-sayings are almost never the work of one person, altho there is a tendency to attribute them to a single source. Fisk popularized the expression, but he did not originate it: such is our contention.

The use of "twineth" for "twines" suggests that Fisk was quoting from a hymn or sentimental ballad. One of our contributors has already pointed to the existence of the phrase in a school text used in New England and Canada in the 1840s. When the source, whatever it is, has been dug up, we are sure that the place where the woodbine originally twined will be revealed as a cemetery.

Woodbine is a name for several kinds of wild vines. In England it is the honeysuckle; in New England it is the Virginia creeper. Rural and small-town America a few generations back had sentimental associations with the vine, perhaps because of its fondness for country cemeteries and lovers' lanes.

You will find it mentioned by Shakespeare, with humorous intent, in "A Midsummer Night's Dream." Titania, queen of the fairies, bewitched by Puck, becomes enamored with Bottom, adorned with the head of an ass. She falls asleep beside this comic monster, murmuring into his asinine ear:

Sleep, thou, and I will wind thee in my arms. . . .
So doth the woodbine the sweet honeysuckle
Gently entwist; the female ivy so
Enrings the barky fingers of the elm.

FAIRIES ASLEEP.

There in the shadow
Close to the willows,
Mandrake umbrellas;
Moss for their pillows;
Fanned by the darting
Red-throated hummer,
Fairies are resting,
Napping, in summer.

They had been dancing
Gaily for hours,
All thru the garden,
Fragrant with flowers.
Dancing to music—
Robin and bees;
Butterflies flitting
Under the trees.

Crickets would fiddle,
Grasshoppers hop,
Fairies grown weary
Finally stop.
See? They are sleeping
Under the willows,
Ferns for the counterpanes,
Moss for the pillows.

When and if the Nazis take Leningrad they will probably change its name to St. Petersburg. This city was St. Petersburg from the time of its foundation by Peter the Great in 1703 until the World War [1914], when the name was changed to Petrograd because the original was regarded as having a Germanic flavor. The name was changed to Leningrad in 1924.

When Chicago Staged Its Own Shows.

What Chicago drama critic became the most active producing theatrical manager the city has ever known?

Answer: The not-well remembered David Henderson. His musical shows, staged at the Chicago Opera house and then sent on tour over the country, were as famous in their time as the later revels of the much-exploited Flo Ziegfeld. Henderson's period was from 1885 into the '90s.

THE POET'S PREDICAMENT.

(A Brookfield Ballad.)

I thought long since it would be fun
To writé a ballad on each one
Of all our brethren in the zoo,
And by a parallel or two
Cause humankind to give some heed
To faults and foibles of our breed;
Yet not offend, by any test,
By hiding sermons in a jest.
Now failure mocks my wistful plan,
For tho the flaws of brother man
Still wait my pen in countless herds,
I'm running out of beasts and birds!

POOR CIRCULATION FROM TOO MUCH TOBACCO.

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

We are rapidly becoming a nation of cigaret smokers. Our annual consumption has increased eightfold since 1918. It is rather significant that since we have been indulging in so much war talk, 12 per cent more were used in the first four months of 1941 than in the corresponding period of 1940. With the concentration of the flower of American youth in training camps where a "fag" is employed to while away tedium or decrease tension, we may well take stock as to the influence upon health.

As with any drug possessing sedative or "pickup" properties, most of us know that the untoward effect upon well being is directly proportional to the quantity employed. Furthermore, inhaling promotes absorption and far more nicotine is thus retained within the system. Fortunately, some of the vapor is expelled.

Then too, we all differ in the response of the nervous system and the circulation. With some individuals after a dozen puffs the capillaries in the skin will contract so that the decrease in the temperature of the feet, for example, will be as much as 2 degrees. This points to the abrupt influence of the toxin upon the sympathetic [autonomic] nerves. Carefully controled experiments have shown that movements requiring accurate coördination are performed less precisely by smokers than by nonsmokers or mild users. With many the blood pressure will be increased. Those who naturally show a higher level than normal, appear to exhibit greater effects.

But what is it that causes the damage? While certain injurious chemicals are present in tobacco it is the alkaloid, nicotine, that is most pernicious. Carbon monoxide and pyridine, while important toxins, are far less dangerous. The average amount absorbed daily will vary from 1 to 5 milligrams and this quantity can be obtained from 10 to 15 cigarets.

The very construction of the product, however, filters out some of this noxious material. We must recall that all is not assimilated, as some of the nicotine is condensed as the fumes are drawn thru the shredded leaves. Many will discard a half to a third of each cigaret and thus avoid much of the precipitated toxin.

We may assume that enough poison is available to give rise, in certain delicately balanced individuals, to disturbances of the circulation which may make them unfit for hard or difficult tasks. This is rarely discovered until the power of the heart is measured when it may be shown that enough irritation is present to interfere with the output of blood. Sixty-nine per cent of those found suffering from so-called "nervous heart" consumed three-quarters to a full pack.

There isn't a particle of use in issuing the pronouncement that the practice will kill you. It may, however, so decrease the blood supply to the extremities as to be a potent element in the development of plugged capillaries [Buerger's disease]. There are certain cautions, therefore, which may well be observed and which will lessen the danger and provide the optimum of pleasure. We can at least use a brand which is low in nicotine and one that is slow burning. Furthermore, we can discard longer rather than shorter butts, and we can provide ventilation when the fuming is going on.

One who is sensitive to the weed or whose throat or nasal passages suffer in consequence, should not start the habit. Those who become aware of a rapid pulse rate will be able to ameliorate the symptom by reducing the daily consumption.

ALCOHOLISM.

M. T. writes: I have heard conflicting statements as to the hereditary effects of alcoholism. Is either of the following statements true?

1. The grandson of a chronic alcoholic is likely to be an alcoholic.
2. Chronic alcoholism in a male parent can affect the embryo.

REPLY.

1. Not likely if the environment is proper.
2. Yes, it can. However, it does so but rarely.

ECZEMA.

P. A. L. writes: What is the best treatment for weeping eczema?

REPLY.

Find the cause, which is probably some substance in your diet. If further search is necessary, investigate the home [dust, etc.] and the clothing. If you can dodge the starter, the blemishes will disappear. Local treatment may be undertaken by your physician.

Test Your Horse Sense

1. Which one of these grows well in marshy land?
   Strawberries Cranberries Raspberries Blackberries.
2. A corduroy road is one which is made of Asphalt Concrete Wooden blocks Logs.
3. The lowest noncommissioned officer is the Ensign Corporal 2d Lieutenant Sergeant.
4. Which famous American city has its streets named after letters of the alphabet? Philadelphia Boston Seattle Washington.
5. The bivalve among the following is the Shrimp Turtle Oyster Crab.
6. Some of America's most scenic spots are subterranean. You are entitled to one point for each correct matching below of the following five caves with the states wherein they are located.

[a] Carlsbad Caverns	[v] New York
[b] Mammoth Cave	[w] Missouri
[c] Luray Caverns	[x] New Mexico
[d] Howe Caverns	[y] Virginia
[e] Meramec Caverns	[z] Kentucky

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

The undated and unsigned letter which follows was addressed to the editor of THE TRIBUNE:

AN ANONYMOUS THREAT.

A sensible man is always careful of what he says, especially when what he says is printed for public assimilation.

There are certain people here in Chicago, influential people who spend their money to advertise in your paper. You're going to lose that advertising if you continue to print those rotten stories about men who prey on labor, written by a fool reporter named Wendt.

That isn't all you're going to lose, either. You're going to lose that reporter, who will lose his life, and on top of that, you're going to lose an eye, a few teeth, and maybe your neck.

This letter is fair warning. Lay off that bunk and tend to your own business, which is getting out a newspaper, and we'll tend to ours. Remember, there won't be any further warning. We've got your residence number, we know just when you come to and leave your office, we know the home address of every one on your editorial staff.

This notice is going to you instead of your smart aleck reporter because we know he's just working for you, and if you call off those articles he's got nothing to say about it. You'd better call them off, or it might be that neither you or he will be able to say something about anything.

A word to the wise is sufficient.

Be a sensible man.

NEEDED: A NEW INFIRMARY.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—I went the other day to receive treatment at the old Illinois Eye and Ear infirmary at Adams and Peoria streets. For this service I am grateful. The medical staff is competent, the clerical personnel efficient, and the equipment modern and adequate.

It is only sad to know that the quarters for all this should be so ancient and dilapidated.

After spending vast sums for the new research hospital and university building, why the state of Illinois hasn't done anything to replace this outmoded structure is difficult to understand. B. W. C.

A WAY TO SAVE LIVES.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—How long must Chicago wait for elevated highways? I would like to see the number of deaths reduced. Elevated highways would certainly do it.

Mayor Kelly has done a wonderful thing by building new playgrounds all around Chicago. What can he do about the elevated highways? That is much more important than the playgrounds, altho playgrounds are good, too.

A SOLDIER HITCHHIKER.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—Last Sunday I saw a soldier dressed in the United States army uniform standing just north of 75th street on the west side of Stony Island avenue. He was neat and clean—and he was sober. He was trying to get a ride south in an automobile and as southbound traffic was heavy at that time he probably addressed [via his thumb] several hundred cars during the time I watched him. I don't know how long he had been at his post before I saw him. But he was entirely out of luck. Practically all of the cars that passed were driven by well fed, over draft age individuals who didn't deign to even slow down. When the parade would be stopped by the red light the soldier would quietly walk along the line of waiting cars — and meet with a surly stare or a negative shake of the complacent driver's head. After all — why should they pay any attention to him? He was nothing but a soldier.

Finally he was hailed from a car away over at the left of the flock waiting for the signals to change. He quickly went around the cars standing between him and the car that had hailed him. When he reached it I noticed it was being driven by young men of draft age who quickly made room for him in their car. I didn't know the soldier nor did I know from whence he came nor his destination, but I assumed he was on his way to be welcomed by his loved ones.

Well, soldier, there are still some of us left who respect the United States army uniform enough to give its wearer a bit of cheerful aid even tho we do not favor the common garden variety of hitchhiker.

BAR KE.

QUOTING LINCOLN A HABIT.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—More than once in the last three months the words of Abraham Lincoln have been quoted. In each instance the present administration in Washington has quoted them to advance its war aims or foreign war policy.

Yesterday the President quoted this as representing the condition of the minds of our people today: "The fact is the people have not yet made up their minds that we are at war with the south."

The difference between the application of this quotation to the minds of the people of the two eras in question is mainly this: The people of the north hated war at the outset of the Civil war just as the people of today hate war; we were at war then, we are at peace today. How come then the appropriateness of the reference to Lincoln's words?

President Lincoln exerted his every effort to avert the Civil war, but write your own ticket as to the time and effort put forth by our present executive to keep us out of a war three or six thousand miles away, depending on which way you may be facing.

M. M. WAGNER.

A WAR—NOW MAN'S VIEWS.

Gary, Ind., Aug. 16.—Just listened to the University of Chicago Round Table discussion. A disgusting attitude of the "war now" advocate.

By constant prodding it was brought out that Mr. Warner [all the time mouthing democracy, mind you] when cornered, stood for two things:

[1] Go into undeclared war now. [The constitution and the will of the majority be damned, evidently.]

[2] Clamp down now, in peacetime, on freedom of speech. That is, clamp down on such men as Robert M. Hutchins, Wheeler, Lindbergh, and all opposed to Mr. Warner's views, but not, of course, on Mr. Warner's kind. MRS. T. H.

IN THE NAME OF DEFENSE.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—A new one in the defense bonds ballyhoo. Bank night was long ago ruled illegal in Chicago and a nuisance to those who go to the movies. Now I see from a war mongering paper here that "Bank night and bingo, with defense bonds and defense stamps as prizes, are back in at least 30 Chicago theaters." THEATER GOER.

MORTGAGE DEFAULT.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A woman and her husband own home and property and hold deed to same. They have a mortgage on same but recently have fallen behind in their payments. The original owner of the mortgage has sold the mortgage to another person. The new owner of the mortgage has now approached the owners of the property, asking them to sign a quit claim on said property. He told them he would revise the payment plan on the mortgage and return the quit claim when mortgage was paid.

1. If the property owners sign this claim will they be giving up their right to the property? If this is a legal transaction and in good faith [2] would the mortgage owner in the event of nonprompt payment on the revised plan be able to claim the house and property?
3. Should they sign quit claim and hand over deed?
4. The quit claim reads for a consideration of $10.00. H. L.

1 It seems probable that the purpose of the quit claim deed is to convey title to the mortgage holder. We cannot say more without seeing the wording.
2. See 1.
3. This depends on what inducement is offered them to sign.
4. If this is all that is to be paid to them then presumably it would be more advantageous to live out the redemption period. The nuisance value of their position should obtain a more favorable settlement.

Robert Strong and Eastern Girl to Be Wed

BY JUDITH CASS.

ROMANTIC news of interest this week-end is contained in the announcement from Dr. and Mrs. Howard Hill Reid of Barre, Vt., of the engagement of their daughter, Jane Evangeline, to Robert K. Strong, son of Mrs. Walter A. Strong and the late Mr. Strong of Winnetka. Mrs. Strong at present is at her summer home in Oregon, Ill., where she will remain until well after Labor day.

Miss Reid attended Goddard Junior college and was graduated from Skidmore college last June. Mr. Strong is a graduate of Williams college, and is just starting in business in Washington, D. C. Another brother, David Strong, and Miss Anne Strong, are with their mother in Oregon. Jonathan Strong is in army service in Louisiana just now, so his wife, the former Anne Burnham, is with her parents, the Gerald Burnhams, in Winnetka. The junior Walter A. Strongs, who also live in Winnetka, may join the family in Oregon next week-end.

John Paul Wellings Going East for Wedding.

The John Paul Wellings and their daughters, Miss Harriett and Miss Mary Paul, will be in Big Moose, N. Y., next Saturday for the marriage of Mrs. Welling's nephew, James A. Field Jr., and Miss Lila Ruth Breckinridge. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ben Johnson Breckinridge of Montclair, N. J., and the late Mr. Breckinridge. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. James A. Field, will be going east from her summer home in Ephraim, Wis.

The wedding will take place in Big Moose chapel at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, the Rev. Dr. Percy Wrightman, a summer resident of the town and an old friend of the Breckinridge family, officiating. Charles David Breckinridge of New York will give his cousin in marriage. The bride's only attendant will be her sister, Miss Sally Breckinridge.

Walker Field will be his brother's best man. After the ceremony there will be a reception at Fern Spring camp. Mr. Field and his bride will make their home in Cambridge, where he is a member of the department of history and literature at Harvard university.

Miss Patricia Austin Begins Wedding Preparations

Mrs. Edwin C. Austin and her daughter, Miss Patricia Austin, are arriving from a holiday at the Wausukee club in Wisconsin on Monday and will start final preparations for Miss Austin's marriage to Renslow Drew Sherer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Renslow P. Sherer of Highland Park. The date has been set for Friday, Sept. 12. The ceremony will take place in the Glencoe Union church with a reception following at the Skokie Country club.

Subdebutante Elizabeth Ann Austin will be her sister's maid of honor, and their older sister, Mrs. Robert Lake Foote [Barbara Austin] will be matron of honor. The bride's two little cousins, Janet Drake, daughter of the Robert Drakes, and Lyman Drake III., son of Mr. and Mrs. Drake Jr., will be flower girl and ring bearer.

The bridesmaids will be another cousin, Miss Anne Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Roberts of Menominee, Mich.; Miss Mary Draper, Miss Austin's Vassar roommate, and Miss Mary Talbot Earle of New York; Miss Frannie Scott Fitzgerald of Baltimore; Miss Mary Elizabeth Brier of Grosse Pointe, Mich.; Miss Jean Husted, Miss Josephine Fabian, and Miss Ann Crocker Nevin of Grosse Pointe, Mich.

Blatchford-Lawrence Marriage to Be Today.

Pretty "Kitty" Lawrence and Nathaniel H. Blatchford III. are being married at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in St. James' Episcopal church, Dundee, with a reception following at Seven Acres, the Barrington home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Samuel D. Rowe, and Mr. Rowe. Dr. Herbert E. Hyde, organist of St. Luke's church in Evanston, has come down from his summer home in Frankfort, Mich., to play the wedding march. John Harold Lawrence will give his daughter in marriage.

Miss Evelyn Lawrence will be her sister's maid of honor, and Muriel Lawrence will be flower girl. Miss Margaret Blatchford, the bridegroom's sister; Miss Lucy Jane Keeler, Miss Marie Louise Cobb, Miss Lois Whiting, Miss Priscilla White, and Mrs. David P. Rowe will be the bridesmaids. Dr. Frederic de Peyster will be best man. Ushering will be Kent and Nicholas Blatchford, brothers of the bridegroom—Nicholas has come from Washington, D. C.—David Rowe, Richard Bissell of Dubuque, Ia.; Robert L. Childs, Dr. Gordon Brown, and Sewall Greeley.

For something old, Miss Lawrence will wear two panels of lace that were brought back from Europe by her maternal grandmother, the late Mrs. Charles V. Hickox of Springfield, Ill., several years ago. The bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Hickox, have come from their summer home in Harbor Point, Mich., for the wedding, and the bridegroom's parents are here from their summer place at Camp Wipigaki, Wis.

Mr. Blatchford and his bride will make their home in Columbia, Mo.

Miss Eunice McIntosh Being Married Today.

Miss Eunice McIntosh and Simon Newcomb Whitney, son of Mrs. Edward Baldwin Whitney of Woodstock, N. Y., and Winter Park, Fla., will be married at noon today in the Church of the Holy Comforter in Kenilworth, with a breakfast following in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Walter G. McIntosh, in Wilmette. Arthur T. McIntosh will give his niece in marriage. Mrs. William C. Heyn will be matron of honor. Miss Elizabeth Whitney of New York, the bridegroom's sister; Miss Jane Henderson, Miss Ann Bovis, and Miss Jennie and Miss Jo Morison of Sterling, Colo., will be bridesmaids. Hassler Whitney will be his brother's best man. Ushering will be Mr. Heyn, Mr. McIntosh Jr., Warren Hunsberger of Washington, D. Philip D. Armours Change Party Plans.

Because of the uncertainty of the weather, Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Armour changed the party they are giving tonight for Debutantes Dudley Winston and Sally Robbins from an informal swimming, buffet supper and dance to an indoors affair. When the weather turned chilly earlier this week Mr. and Mrs. Armour decided to take no chances and turned the party into a formal dinner, to be followed by dancing. Miss Robbins and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence B. Robbins, returned last Saturday from a holiday in Mexico. Miss Winston is a daughter of the Farwell Winstons.

One of the biggest crowds of the summer is expected at Washington Park this afternoon for the running of the $40,000 American Derby. The Warren Wrights are among those who will be having luncheon at the track before the races start. The Oak Brook Polo club likewise expects a peak crowd for the finals of its current polo tournament tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Oliver [Elisabeth Dewes] are being congratulated on the birth of a son, Paul Jr., on Aug. 15 at St. Luke's hospital. The baby is a grandson of Mrs. Edwin P. Dewes and has a little cousin just a few weeks old, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard K. Juergens [Dorothy Dewes].

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 22.—I am going on a fortnight's vacation, and according to the custom of employers and self, there will be no guest columns. The average guest column is an imposition—either on the reader, because it has been written by a publicity man and not the star who signs it, or on the star who really writes it for free. Director Gregory La Cava, however, is under obligation to me. I have eaten so many of his barbecues that I feel he owes me something, and I have asked him to do any kind of piece he has felt like writing. Altho he once was a newspaper cartoonist, he is literate, and the following is . . .

BY GREGORY LA CAVA.

Not infrequently do newspapers carry a headline which goes something like this:

"MOTION PICTURE ACTRESS HELD AS DRUNK DRIVER"

We then learn that this actress, Yvette De Vere, is being held in a slightly incoherent but penitent state in the county jail pending the death struggles of the victims of her wobbly driving, whom she has quite unconsciously used to demonstrate her idea of a carom shot. Righteous, well meaning people shake their heads and another black mark is scored against Hollywood.

This would be well and good were it not for the fact that investigation shows that Yvette De Vere [I hope the name is fictitious] is not even remotely connected with motion pictures. The title of actress is her own wishful thinking. Her connection with the studio is based on the fact that some patient casting director has told her to go back to her home state and abandon the career which she will never be fitted to pursue. However, the young lady is still an actress in her own mind, the casting director's opinion results in the drunk driving, the drunk driving results in the headline, and Hollywood is the recipient of another undeserved headache.

It would be just as logical if the police picked up a vagrant who by coincidence happened to have a dime savings bank in his pocket, to come out with a headline stating:

"WELL KNOWN BANKER HELD FOR VAGRANCY"

Every man has two businesses, his own—and the motion picture business.

Hollywood has no way of fighting back except on rare occasions such as this when a newspaper correspondent innocently turns his column over to a motion picture person and dares to go on a vacation. In this case, John Chapman is not looking down the muzzle of his own gun, as he resents the De Vere type of thing as much as I. It is impossible to be gracious toward certain other Hollywood columnists, whose sole idea seems to be "if you can't make news, make scandal."

I can't account for the basis of this procedure except that the public gets a vicarious thrill out of reading about the things they would like to do themselves. If this is true, why make Hollywood the goat? This may sound as if I have switched my criticism from scandal mongering correspondents to the reading public. If so, it is partly true because the same scandal mongers receive their support from newspaper subscribers and without this support could not exist.

I should like to take Mr. and Mrs. America on a tour thru Beverly Hills any evening of the year with the sole idea of counteracting the drivel written about most of these innocent people. We have wooden, silver, and, but for the strain of overwork, would also have golden wedding anniversaries the same as other people. We receive in some cases extravagant sums of money, but we do extravagant, highly specialized work for this money. We donate generously to organized charity, sing lullabies to our children, and on the whole lead an exemplary family life—usually a more normal life than those who write disparagingly about us.

I resent the fact that the newspaper profession should be dragged down by filth columnists as much as I resent the influence these same persons wield in the picture business.

On the whole, I have always found the moral and ethical standards of the majority of motion picture and newspaper people are of the same high order. By this time the bewildered reader is saying to himself, "What is this guy trying to tell us?"

The point of the whole joke is that I have a newspaper column at my disposal. Naturally, it would be unethical of me to use this column to attack the handful of correspondents with whom I violently disagree. Therefore, there is no one left for me to attack but Mr. Chapman himself.

I find that he is not only an incisive and brilliant writer, but a man of great personal charm. His family life would serve as a pattern for any good American. In spite of all this, I will not let his virtues disarm me at this moment.

Mr. Chapman, too, has a vice. He is addicted to the pun. For instance, seated at my soda fountain one day I asked him if he would care for a date fudge split.

"No, thank you," he replied. "I'm allergic to dates, but it may be a figment of my imagination."

This strained but did not entirely disrupt our friendship, which came closer to the rocks one morning at breakfast when hot cakes were being served. "Would you mind," said I, "passing the sirup?" Slyly he retorted: "Surreptitiously?" Another time I asked him to walk with me in the garden to look at the flowers. "Must I," he asked, "petunia my old gray bonnet?"

After mutual friends had patched things up between us and Mr. Chapman had promised to behave himself, he again caught me off guard by asking me to give him a sentence containing the words "effervescent" and "fiddlestick." I couldn't, but he could. He actually said:

"Effervescent enough covers on the bed your fiddle stick out."

Mrs. Chapman assures me that with the proper care his black eye will have entirely disappeared by the end of his vacation.

Miss Sothern Does Another Top Acting Job

"RINGSIDE MAISIE."

Peaches	John Indrisano
Jitterbug	Roy Lester

BY CECIL SMITH.

Except for 15 tear-jerking minutes toward the end, "Ringside Maisie" is thoroly gay, effervescent and charming. Ann Sothern, who becomes more appealing and more diverting in every new picture she makes, brings warmth and vitality to her characterization of the flouncy, wise-cracking Maisie.

In moments of comedy her acting has force because it is projected against a background of pathos, while in times of trial she never wholly loses her saving sense of humor. A grand girl, this Ann Sothern, and one who ought to be enormously successful in the forthcoming "Panama Hattie."

In "Ringside Maisie" Miss Sothern finds her affairs tangled up with a budding champion of the prize fighting ring, Robert Sterling, and his manager, George Murphy. Mr. Sterling is a sort of minor Golden Boy, who does not really like fighting, but sticks by his pugilistic career because he wants to buy a grocery for himself and his invalid mother.

Matters become badly mixed up, so that he loses a crucial fight and finds himself estranged from his hitherto loyal manager. It is at this point that the story declines into its tear stained phase, but of course it is a foregone conclusion that Maisie will enable every one to come out on top before the final fadeout.

Bright and clever as she is, Miss Sothern just manages to avoid being outplayed by Natalie Thompson, who as Mr. Sterling's fiancée, provides an excruciatingly amusing portrait of a strangely vacant girl who eats heavily and drinks pop most of the time, but constantly complains that she is very frail. Miss Thompson walks thru the picture like some strange dream, gradually seeming funnier and funnier all the time, and yet managing mysteriously to retain a very likable and sympathetic quality.

Mr. Sterling scarcely looks like a prize fighter, but he is quite attractive when he is not battling a succession of bruisers in the ring. Mr. Murphy's ways are also sufficiently winning, altho he is called upon to be rather obtuse in his human relations.

The picture is full of really excellent short performances—by Virginia O'Brien, the deadpan swing singer, who sings "Only a Bird in a Gilded Cage"; by Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom as a trainer in the boxing camp; by Roy Lester, who does a superb jitterbug dance with Miss Sothern at the very beginning of the film; by Margaret Moffatt and Rags Ragland and Oscar O'Shea and Jack La Rue.

If you don't like this one, you are hard to please.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

The hostess gift problem is beautifully solved at the cosmetic counters. Every woman of every age reacts to a beauty gift; it implies a special sort of homage and satisfies her own yearning for luxuries. And if she's the sort of woman who gives the impression that such luxuries don't interest her much you can be sure that it isn't true! The woman doesn't breathe who isn't pleased with flattering gifts of soaps or perfumes or bath oils.

For the many tempting things on the counter that lend themselves beautifully to the "bread and butter" gift rôle, you can spend a lot of money or a very little.

If you want to spend rather a lot of money for a woman who has, perhaps, a new house that isn't yet completely furnished, take a good look at the dresser sets of lucite. Maybe just one piece, a handsome mirror, would suit your purposes. They're absolutely stunning, in good lines, with a high luster.

The sets can be small or largish. You can buy one piece or six, and in any case you'll have a beautiful gift. There are a couple of those mirrors around town that any woman would steal if she could.

The less expensive things are unbelievably easy to find. The bath trimmings seem to make the greatest hit, and there are zillions of them. The bubbling bath preparations are standouts. One of the newest and nicest is in apple blossom; it scents the skin and the bath water and makes mountains of fragrant, soft foam.

Sweater for Autumn Suits

BY JEAN MACDONALD.

Choosing a soft, hand knitted blouse for the long torso fall suits is a problem for all fashion conscious women to consider. One can easily knit a good looking number from sheer wool with the delicacy of the finest silk. Touching the hip bone, this sweater has a band of moss stitch around the bottom and up the front, while the body of the sweater is done in stockinette stitch.

For instructions in knitting the sweater, No. X-216, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York City.

Colors, Fancy Type Trick Up Name Tapes

BY REA SEEGER.

In the midst of all precollege preparation or the fuss and fun of going away to school, don't forget the name tape orders. These extremely important trifles make all the difference between smooth and hectic living after you reach the college or school of your choice. And if you value your particular possessions and all your pet costumes as you should, name tapes keep them within ownership-proving distance.

It formerly was rather a simple stunt, ordering name tapes, for all you did was saunter in, allow the necessary time, carefully print or type your name, and in a few days the snowy white tape with scarlet letters appeared, and red with white was all you might choose. This time it's different. You can really have fun . . . for you can order and get color contrasts and combines, dark with light or light color background with dark script names, red on blue, yellow on brown, and so on . . . the prices are the same. With these available color schemes you can easily blend your tapes with the colors or shades of your costumes, something fussy people are going to enjoy no end.

You may order entire names, or initials, script type or the capital block letters. Snip them apart when the tape arrives and go to work labeling everything you pack from hankies to hats. If you are modest and avoid the longer name inscriptions to resist the urge of too much possessiveness, try the individual letter tapes. A single letter, or two or three are possible. You assemble your own monograms and sew into position without a day's wait for the order to come thru. Dash down town and order your tapes immediately, before this important part of your wardrobe is neglected!

Wife Controls Social Life, of Young Couple

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

A wife controls the social life of a couple. By giving her husband a lively social life with congenial people, she can put a threatening rival in the shade.

The writer of the following letter is overlooking her opportunities.

"Dear Miss Blake:

"In the last six months, my husband and I have been going around with a rather fast couple. I love my husband very much, but the wife of the other man loves him, too. I can't say I blame her entirely, as my husband is younger and much more attractive than hers.

"But I am afraid my husband is falling in love with her and I know she has no respect for conventions. Whenever I object to going around with them, my husband is angry. What shall I do? MRS. BROWN."

Objections to the other couple and criticism of the other wife will only make Mrs. Brown's husband more stubborn. In order to get rid of this objectionable couple, Mrs. Brown should cultivate some new friends and crowd her husband's social life with them. She should try to find people her husband will really like, and activities that appeal to him.

If she can keep her husband busy and give him enough fun, she can drop the trouble-making couple unobtrusively. Of course, it will take effort and real sympathy for her husband's tastes.

"A Debt Is Paid"

By Olga L. Rosmanith

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Kathleen Murray inherits an income and a home in an actors' colony in California and goes there to live. She and Hugo Lang, whose play is being produced in the local summer theater, fall in love but Hugo does not want to marry until his play is a success as he is unwilling to have Kathleen support him. Carol Keyes is backing the production and has the lead rôle, altho Jeanie Payson, who is given a minor rôle is more talented. Other members of the cast are Maurice Reed, whom Carol is in love with, Ellen Mount, Hugo's foster mother, who gave up a chance to play on Broadway to care for Hugo when he was young, and Toby Allen, Kathleen's 16 year old protégé. The theme of the drama is murder and tho the play promises to be a hit, Kathleen has an uncomfortable presentiment when Wilkie Stokes, another member of the colony, discusses the fascinations of killing. One evening Jeanie asks Hugo to take her for a drive. The next morning Jeanie is found murdered in the woods and Hugo traced to a mountain hideout. He refuses to talk and is tried and convicted of murder and is sentenced to life imprisonment. Carol and Maurice elope the day after the murder but return to the theater and the show goes on. Kathleen, still believing Hugo innocent, hires Detective William Greer to try to find evidence to free him. Greer finds a money box hidden under the floor of the mountain hideout and all finger prints turn out to be Jeanie's. Kathleen remembers odd remarks about murder Wilkie Stokes had made and is convinced he is the guilty one. She arranges to have him invite her to his home for dinner and tries out a word association game Greer has used in psychoanalyzing criminals. His answers seem to prove his guilt and finally he admits the killing and suggests a plan of murdering her and killing himself. She faints and when she comes to he sends her home. Later she gets a letter from him apologizing to her for his action and saying he did it as a trick because he realized she was psychoanalyzing him as Jeanie's murderer. In his remorse he uses his influence to get her another interview with Hugo.

INSTALMENT XXXVI.

REFUSES HELP.

For a moment Kathleen could not speak. I musn't cry, she told herself, I must not. But she could not entirely suppress her emotion.

"Keep up your courage, Hugo dear. I won't rest till I've got you out."

His face hardened instantly into a severe determined expression.

"Kathleen, I don't ask—I forbid you to interfere with my sentence in any way."

"But Hugo, you're crazy!"

"All right. I'm crazy. And this is the last visit you must pay me. How did you manage anyhow to get permission so soon to come here?"

"Wilkie Stokes arranged it. He has a friend in some influential position."

Hugo looked a little astonished. "I thought you disliked him so much you'd never go near him."

"I took your advice you see and discarded my prejudice."

Hugo still seemed worried. "I'm glad you did Kathleen. He says startling things and he has some objectionable mannerisms, but he's clever and interesting and at heart a good fellow."

"I know that now."

"He's not helping you to do some crack-brained amateur detecting, is he?"

Kathleen was glad to be able to deny this convincingly so that she saw Hugo believed her. She made a desperate attempt again to learn something new from him.

"It frightens you when you think I'm trying to clear you Hugo. Now why should it frighten you?"

"It doesn't frighten me."

"Then why do you object so strongly? It isn't fair to me."

She regretted her last remark when she saw its effect. He looked so hunted and unhappy. His troubled eyes moved from her searching gaze and looked at his hands resting on the table. Kathleen followed that look. The bandage was still on his wrist.

"Gracious!" she exclaimed, "is that cut still troubling you after all these weeks?"

Anxious to change the subject, he was startled into giving something away. On what appeared to be something significant.

"No. The prison surgeon operated. It doesn't hurt any more. It's healing nicely. He saved the bone."

"It must have been a very potent acid somebody spilt on you."

He reddened as if she had touched a raw nerve. A cold reserve replaced the glowing warmth with which he had greeted her in the surprise of her coming.

"That was a trivial accident in the cabin just as I said. I got some dirt in the wound or something and it set up a septic inflammation. What you suggest is ridiculous and theatrical. Don't you believe me?"

"Id like to Hugo. But—but—"

"But what?" he prompted severely.

Aware that her time was limited and it might be a month or more before she could see him again, Kathleen imprudently tried to force an admission from him. Her voice had heartbreak in it.

"Why don't you confide in me? Why don't you trust me? Why don't you tell me one little thing?"

He was angry and desperate himself.

"Hush, Kathleen, why should I if I don't want to? Your life is your own. You don't owe anything to me."

"But Hugo," she implored, "don't you want to get out of here? Back to life—and the wide sky and the free air—self-determination—able to come and go at your own free will."

His eyes closed and his face was momentarily a mask of bitter agony. A thousand speeches could not have told her so much of his mental suffering as that one glimpse of the conflict in his soul. But he opened his eyes and his expression changed as he controled himself. Now he looked obstinate and secretive.

"Tell me Kathleen, have you seen my mother?"

"Yes—I have, but——"

"But you quarreled again?"

"No—not exactly. I tried to be friends with her Hugo, but she's so upset. I'll try again. I guess it's my fault in some way. Don't think I blame her——"

"Funny. The two most wonderful women I ever knew—and you don't understand each other."

His eyes had softened again in his regretful perplexity. Kathleen had an inspiration.

"Hugo, she's difficult and unapproachable because she's so unhappy about you. Couldn't you give me some message of hope I could give to her?"

She could not mistake the look now in his face. He was considering something—whether or not he dared take her into his confidence. Her heart hammered painfully. She was sure of it. Evidently he decided against it.

"What makes you think I know something?" he evaded.

"You must know Hugo. How can you be so cruel as to torture both of us by keeping silent?"

His reserve dissolved—and he was somehow himself again, with her and not against her. And there was tormented sincerity in his eyes and his voice.

"I would tell something if I could. Please let it go at that. Don't leave me in anger."

Kathleen almost burst into tears. She had not meant to torment Hugo but to comfort him. And somehow it had turned into this. The guard said curtly—"Time's up."

She leaned toward Hugo and spoke with lowered voice.

"It's no use telling me to go my own way, dear. This is my way. With you—wherever it leads. I mean my letter more than ever. I'll always mean it. Is there anything so very wrong with that?"

She had broken down some resistance in him even if she had not succeeded in breaking thru his silence.

"Wrong? My dearest dear—it makes me wonder what I am or ever did to deserve it."

"But Hugo are we loved because we deserve it? Isn't there something more magical—more miraculous than something you can analyze and explain?"

"It must be." He glanced nervously at a guard taking another prisoner away. "My turn next, Kathleen. O God, I wish I had the words to tell you how deeply—how painfully I love you."

"That makes me so happy, Hugo."

His guard touched him on the shoulder.

"Time's up, young fellow."

He looked at her as if he would print the lovely image of her charm and grace upon his mind forever.

"Good-by, my angel. Thank you for your unbelievable love and faith. My lantern in the darkness."

Her eyes filled at once and blurred the picture of his going. She took a deep breath of the outside air as if she were drinking it when she emerged from the granite portals of the entrance door again. It was a celestial September day, warm and mellow, with a high tender blue sky. There was even a sweet, keen smell of freedom.

She stood looking up into the infinite blueness of the sky before she got into the car.

"God," she prayed, "help me to help him. Help me to get him out where he belongs. Into the happiness of free living and his own rightful place in the sun."

She could not endure the loneliness of another night in the San Francisco hotel and she took the night plane back. It was a night of enchantment, a great harvest moon riding thru silvered clouds, the land dark velvet sprayed with the yellow diamonds of towns and fringed with the silver lace of the rim of the sea.

Kathleen looked down from the Godlike height of the plane which was the freest expression of the soaring human spirit. She was stabbed with pity, not only for Hugo, but for all trapped human beings shut away from the healing sweetness of the earth.

You're Never Too Busy for Some Exercise

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

Exercises might well improve health and beauty. The busy woman often insists she simply has no time for them. Whether she works at home or in the office, lack of time is no excuse.

With thought and a little will power, she can incorporate health and beauty giving exercises into her daily tasks. She can make almost everything she does a part of her exercise program.

When the business woman sits at a desk, she can practice good posture. When she reaches for a paper, she can lean from the hips instead of merely stretching out an arm. In walking on business errands, she can pretend she is carrying an imaginary basket on her head.

The home worker can find even more chances for exercise. She is constantly stooping over. Let her cultivate form in her bending. Let her stand with one foot slightly advanced and sink down thru the thigh, knee, and ankle, and rise in the same graceful fashion. In running a vacuum cleaner, she can practice keeping her hips tucked in.

Climbing stairs can be healthy exercise if the woman keeps her body upright, puts one foot on the upper step, shifts her weight to it, and automatically draws the other foot up. It is leaning forward as she climbs that tires her out.

No matter what she does, every woman has to go thru a certain number of movements. She can do them the wrong way, or make each of them a beauty-bringing exercise.

Getting Boy's Viewpoint Is Guidance Help

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

"Just what do you mean, get the viewpoint of my 13 year old?" a mother asks who is at continual odds with her son.

Haven't you ever tried to point out to some one a cloud effect, a piece of the landscape, the new moon in the night sky, and found yourself saying, "No, you can't get it from there. Come over here. No, look out of this pane. Here, wait. I'll move my head so your eyes will be right where mine are; now look"? Haven't you ever cried out, "Come up to the top of the hill; it looks different from here"?

This old world of ours is the same world of people and affairs that both you and your child look at. But you, who are grown up and furthermore his parents, see it from a vantage point very different from his. And in that lies the kernel of much of the pull in opposite directions that takes place in families in which the boys are in the years just before adolescence, 11, 12, 13. If you will only try to see eye-to-eye with your boy or girl at this time, it will give you a different taking-off place for dealing with him; in fact, for living with him generally.

What are some of the ways in which his outlook on life differs from yours?

Well, you probably think manners are of great importance. At this age, he doesn't, altho he will later on.

You want instant obedience, especially in the doing of chores and errands. His mind often is far, far away and it takes him a little while to get back, so you get little cooperation.

Almost certainly, if you're like most parents, you want him to begin to take responsibility, now that he's getting to be a big boy. With a few exceptions, the sense of responsibility is just nonexistent at this age.

Aug. 23, 1941.

Universal day—Get going early and make plans to carry out in the next nine days.

September—Those in a 3 year ought to find this coming month a very pleasant one. They should take this opportunity to make the most of their personality and talents. If they are writing, singing, or lecturing, this would be an excellent time to come before the public. Those not in public life might see what they could do to improve their personalities and to win friends. Entertain and be entertained, shop and visit. Buy new clothes that will bring out your best points and cultivate charm. If you have any talents, now is the time to let the world know about them. Above all be cheerful. Keep this a smiling month.

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

"I lost a recipe for pineapple ice made with honey and pineapple juice, which appeared in THE TRIBUNE two years or so ago. It isn't in your ice cream booklet, and I wonder if you still have it," writes a Chicago reader.

This, I believe, is the recipe she wants. It was printed in November, 1938.

Pineapple Honey Sherbet.
¾ cup pineapple juice
¼ cup lemon juice
6 tablespoons honey
2 eggs, separated
1¼ cups milk

Mix fruit juices and honey. Pour slowly over well beaten egg yolks, beating constantly. Continue beating and add milk gradually. Freeze to a mush in refrigerator tray. Beat in a cold bowl and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Freeze until firm.

Another cook worries about taking her angel and sponge cakes out of the pan. "I let the cake stand in the inverted pan, but I believe it would never drop out unless I assist it with a knife. I think such handling injures such a delicate cake, and then, when I do get it out, there is a film of cake, the nice brown part, left on the bottom of the pan. I have never greased the pan I use, but do wash it. Some people say the pan should only be scraped, not washed."

In the first place, angel cakes and sponge cakes aren't supposed to "drop out of the pan." They always are assisted with a knife, but a thin, sharp knife run around the edge of the pan shouldn't hurt the cake or harm its delicate crust. Perhaps our cook is leaving the cake in the pan too long. An hour is as long as it should be left to cool. After that, the crust is likely to become sticky, and to cling. A cake pan with a removable bottom is recommended, for when the cake, loosened at the sides, slides out of the rim, it is easy to loosen the bottom of the cake with the same sharp knife used to loosen the sides.

The cake pan should be washed, but never greased.

Mix-and-Match Patterns

MIX-AND-MATCH PATTERNS.

If you like fall and winter sports, and particularly if you're campus bound, you will want these two patterns to create a variety of sports items which you can mix and match into attractive ensembles.

Style No. 3085 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements. Size 16 requires 1⅞ yards of 54 inch material; 2 yards of 35 inch lining, 3½ yards of binding for jacket; ¾ yard of 54 inch material, 1 yard of 35 inch lining for vest.

Style No. 2996 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements. Size 16 requires 2 yards of 39 inch material for blouse; 1½ yards of 54 inch material for skirt.

Each pattern costs ten cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly. The summer pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

There comes a time, in almost every difficult hand, when the declarer must choose between two attractive lines of play. In such cases, a knowledge of percentages, coupled with an analytical ability [usually miscalled "card sense."] serves him in good stead.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
2 hearts	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
4 no trump	Pass	5 clubs	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	7 clubs	Pass
Pass	Pass

The bidding, by both North and South, was decidedly aggressive, but not entirely without logic.

West opened the heart king. Dummy won, and a heart was immediately led and ruffed, declarer noting with misgivings East's failure to follow suit. A diamond was led to the ace and another heart was ruffed. A diamond was ruffed, followed by a third heart ruff. Declarer then ruffed his queen of diamonds with the ace of clubs.

At this point declarer could have ruffed another heart and surely established dummy's last heart for a spade discard, but this would bring declarer down to two trumps, which, if either adversary had started with three trumps, would be fatal. Declarer knew that, with four trumps missing, the odds were decidedly against a 2-2 division. Moreover, West had been shown to hold five hearts and East only one. This increased the probability that trumps would not break 2-2.

There was another chance that was precisely 50-50 and declarer properly decided to play for it. Instead of ruffing a heart, he led the club jack and overtook it. He then cashed the club queen and, when West failed to follow, discarded a heart from dummy.

The soundness of declarer's choice became apparent. The club ten, which drew East's last trump, put West out of the running. He had to hold his heart queen against dummy's remaining heart, therefore had to let go a spade. Dummy thereupon let go the worthless heart. Declarer then led a low spade to the ace and cashed the king. The queen dropped, and the jack became good for the 13th and fulfilling trick.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox haven't finished in second place in the American league since 1920, so forgive them, pray, if they seem a bit self-conscious in the spot while they are sloughing away a 3½ game edge they enjoyed over the third place Boston Red Sox when the latter showed up in Comiskey Park Thursday afternoon. The Red Sox beat the Chicagoans again yesterday, 2 to 1, reducing the second place margin to a game and a half.

It was the 13th time in 18 meetings Jimmy Dykes' Sox have folded in the presence of Joe Cronin's Red Sox, and this time they did it at the urging of one Joe Dobson, who is a nice enough fellow personally.

Buck Wasn't Too Good.

It would not be proper to set down the log of yesterday's affair under the heading of "Dykes' Piggy-Back Circus Rides Again," mostly because Buck Ross was not a good enough pitcher to evoke sympathy for the support he didn't get offensively and defensively. Buck held Boston to six hits, the same as the Chicago total, but was in frequent stews because of wildness, and half the six came in the inning in which the Red Sox did their scoring.

Julius Solters led off the fifth with a triple to the right field corner, held on while Bob Kennedy and Tresh supplied easy infield outs, and came home when Ross lined a hit into right field.

Third Is Costly Inning.

The game was lost in the third inning. Pete Fox led off with a single to center and, as Cronin struck out, Pete broke for second. It appeared that Mike Tresh's throw was right over second base, but it developed that Bill Knickerbocker, who hadn't been playing baseball for almost a month prior to Thursday, forgot to cover second. Tresh's throw, therefore, sailed on into center field, Fox galloping on to third, credited with a stolen base on the trip to second. Knickerbocker was given an error for his apparent drowse which enabled Pete to get to third. Ted Williams slapped a fly to Myril Hoag and Fox got home with the first run of the afternoon. Jimmy Foxx then knocked his second hit, a double to right, and Foxx followed Fox home when Bobby Doerr singled to left.

With one out in the ninth, Luke Appling, who previously had been unable to get the ball out of the infield, lined a double to left. Solters then popped to Doerr, and Appling was doubled off second to end the game.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 22—The pace setting Dodgers, whose pennant-ward ride was unceremoniously slowed down by the Cubs yesterday, rolled down the main line this afternoon just as if nothing had happened. They fueled up for a gay 8 to 5 ride by tossing Paul Erickson, the 23 year old rookie, into their base hit boiler and, not satisfied with that, added wreckage to Jim Wilson's already badly riddled pitching staff. A line drive crashed against Rescuer Tot Pressnell's left forearm, sending him to the hospital where the injury was diagnosed as a bad bruise.

Erickson's effort to cut into the Dodgers' game and a half lead over the pursuing Cardinals proved a failure almost as soon as it started. Big Ole was maced for three runs in the opening inning and three more before he was removed from circulation in the fifth. Meanwhile, the Cubs encountered no end of difficulty against their one time associate, Newell Kimball, at least until the seventh, when they developed sufficient threat to shake him out of the picture. The threat brought in Hugh Casey, who stopped everything except Billy Nicholson's 22d homer in the ninth.

Dodgers Get the Breaks.

The mishap to Pressnell, leaving Wilson with only five able bodied pitchers, came just after he had been put to work in the sixth inning. A roaring drive sailed off Dixie Walker's bat and Pressnell attempted to grab it with his gloved hand. He misjudged his reach and the ball crashed just above the wrist. Pressnell curled up on the mound, later was led to the dugout, and then hurried by taxi to a nearby hospital. Vallie Eaves had to jump into the breach without warming up.

Erickson wasn't exactly lucky in the first inning incident that cost him three runs. Walker, leading off, tried to dodge a pitch and, quite by accident, looped a single into short left. He scored on clean singles by Bill Herman and Pete Reiser. A one-handed stab by Babe Dahlgren halted Dolph Camilli's effort but Jim Wasdell banged a single into right, Herman counting and Reiser going to third. He dashed in from there on Lou Riggs' fly to Nicholson.

Passes Hurt Erickson.

Erickson issued free tickets to Kimball and Walker with one out in the second and this proved a social error. Herman drove them home by doubl-

Too Young to Die.

"He was too young to die," the neighbors said,
"Too fair was he to lie beneath the sod,
Why should death have to come to him,
Him who had planned to give his life to God?"

But in such case had God not then the right
To take His own unto His loving breast,
Enfold His promised son in His safe arms,
Vouchsafing to him peace and quiet and rest?

It may be hard for hearts bowed down with grief
To see at once the wisdom of God's ways,
But all of this will come in its due time,
Down thru the vista of long, lonely days.

We must remember, God's ways are not ours,
The human mind His plans may not conceive,
And should He claim a life already His,
We must not question, doubt, nor vainly grieve!

COACHES NAME OFFICIALS FOR ALL-STAR GAME

Friesell, Schommer, Vick, and Lane Selected.

Bears Are Warned

DELAFIELD, Wis., Aug. 22 [Special].—Clark Shaughnessy, coach of Stanford university's Rose bowl football champions and collaborator with Coach George Halas of the Chicago Bears in the development of the T formation, today told the National league champions that they face defeat Thursday night in the All-Star game in Chicago unless they start bearing down. At invitation of Halas he lectured the Bear squad and told the champions he was far from impressed by what he has seen in camp here.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The men who will officiate in Thursday night's game between the Chicago Bears and the All-Stars were named yesterday. They are W. H. [Red] Friesell of Princeton, referee; John Schommer of Chicago, umpire; Ernie Vick of Michigan, head linesman, and Frank Lane of Cincinnati, field judge. These men were agreed upon by the rival coaches.

Following the practice of several years, George Halas of the Bears nominated two men, and Carl Snavely and his assistant All-Star coaches nominated the others. Halas' nominations were Friesell, who lives in Pittsburgh, and Schommer, who is starting his first year as an official in the pro league. Schommer has served as an umpire in collegiate football for many years. This is his fourth appearance in this All-Star series.

Two Are Big Ten Officials.

Both men nominated by the All-Star coaches are members of the Western Conference Officials' association. Ernie Vick, one time All-American center at the University of Michigan, has served regularly as a head linesman in the Big Ten. Lane, while perhaps more widely known as a referee, also has a splendid record in major intersectional games in the capacity of field judge.

The officials will meet with the coaches of both teams at luncheon on the day of the game to review the particular rules under which the contest will be played. Several of the professional rules are acceptable to the All-Star coaches. Among them is having the goal posts on the goal lines.

Revise Yardage Penalty Rule.

In previous games the college men accepted the professional rule that provided the penalty for offside by the defense inside of its own 10 yard line should be one-half the distance to the goal. This prevented a penalty placing the ball on the 1 yard line, which generally is tantamount to presenting the attack with a touchdown. The pro rule now has been extended. It reads that no yardage penalty enforced in the field of play shall place the ball nearer than one-half the distance to the offending team's goal line.

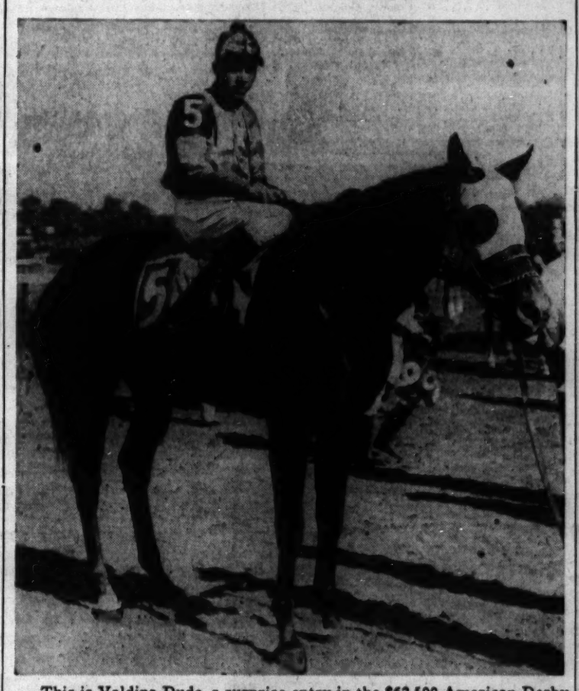
An example would be a 15 yard penalty for roughness by the defense when the ball was on its own 20 yard line. Under the college rule, the full penalty would be inflicted. In the game Thursday night under these circumstances the penalty of one-half the distance, or 10 yards, would be inflicted.

Continue Defensive Work.

The All-Star football men yesterday continued their intense study of defensive tactics for the Bears' T formation. The hours of practice matched those of the preceding day, but there was no contact work of any kind. In the morning the squad met for a two hour discussion of tactics and to review again the movies of games in which the T formation has been employed.

Practice today is expected to be one of the last scrimmage days.

Bid for a Fortune in Derby Today



This is Valdina Dude, a surprise entry in the $62,500 American Derby at Washington Park today. He is owned by Mrs. Emil Denemark.

Mrs. Mann and Miss Wall Win; Finalists Today

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Mrs. Russell Mann of Omaha and Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., golfing friends and rivals, today will play 36 holes at the Exmoor Country club for the 41st amateur championship of the Women's Western Golf association.

The two ladies arranged their second title meeting of the 1941 season in varying fashions, Mrs. Mann eliminating Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., by a convincing 5 and 3 margin. She then joined the gallery that traipsed after Miss Wall down the 19th fairway. The latter won that to put out Georgia Tainter of Fargo, N. D., 1 up.

Mrs. Mann Previous Winner.

The previous meeting of today's finalists this year occurred in May at Houston's River Oaks club, wherein Mrs. Mann won a 1 up battle for the Trans-Mississippi crown. Mrs. Mann, who as Lucille Robinson won this same championship in 1933 at Oak Park, will be seeking her second Western Amateur and making her third appearance in a western final, for the last year she was runnerup for the WWGA open. Young Miss Wall, who has been rated a real contender for the last two years, was runnerup for this year's Western Derby.

Happiest person in the gallery yesterday was Jerry Glynn, Knollwood professional. Jerry has been a busy

SIX CHALLENGE CALUMET STAR IN $62,500 RACE

Bushwhacker May Spring Upset.

Derby Field

SEVEN horses have been named in the overnight entries for the American Derby, which will be run today at Washington Park. If all start, the purse will gross $62,500, of which $46,575 would go to the winner. The field, in order of post positions, follows:

Horse—	Wt.	Jockey.	Prob. odds.
*Daily Trouble	118	J. Richard	3-1
To A Tee	118	A. Snider	15-1
Valdina Dude	118	No boy	50-1

BY HOWARD BARRY.

This is the day when Whirlaway attempts to show Chicago racing fans that he's the kind of a champion who can come back after a damaging upset. He runs this afternoon in the $62,500 American Derby at Washington Park in an effort to wipe out the memory of his defeat in the Arlington Classic. If he wins, he will hold an undisputed claim to the championship of his division.

The crowd which will gather for the 31st running of this historic stake will see a horse which already has merited ranking among the best of the mighty performers which have won it in the past. In sweeping successfully thru the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness, the Belmont, the Dwyer, the Saranac, and the Travers, Whirlaway has waged a campaign without parallel among the best 3 year olds of other years.

A 2 to 5 Favorite.

Six rivals have been named to run against him today — Bushwhacker, Daily Trouble, To a Tee, Delray, Valdina Dude, and Happy Pilot. In this field, Whirlaway is expected to be at odds of no more than 2 to 5, possibly less. This was the figure at which he ran in the Classic, when he was upset by Attention.

Al Robertson, who rode the Calument star in his last two stake victories at Saratoga, will be aboard today. It will be up to Al to keep the champion from reverting to his old habit of running out on the turns—and it will be a particularly tough job around the Washington Park bends, which are considerably sharper than those of Arlington.

Don't Overlook Bushwhacker.

The possibility that Whirlaway may run out on the last turn, as he did with Robertson in the Saranac, adds considerable spice to the race. If that should happen, the crowd may see one of the hardest stretch drives in the history of the Derby. For Bushwhacker, who has the ability to make track record time on the Homewood oval, will be in there with speed enough to snap up any advantage the champion offers him.

Whirlaway has drawn No. 6 post position, with Bushwhacker the only horse to the outside of him. This won't make much difference because Robertson is expected to ease Whirlaway back off the pace and trail the field to the last turn.

Whether or not a new record will be set for the mile and a quarter American Derby will depend largely on the tactics of Whirlaway's rivals. If they decide to attempt to run away to a lead long enough to give them a chance to withstand Whirlaway's stretch drive, there's every likelihood that the mark of 2:04, which was set by Cavalcade in 1934, will be broken. If, on the other hand, Whirlaway's rivals start waiting for him in an effort to get him to make the pace, it's likely to be a slow race.

A Bad Race for Favorites.

Remembering the fate of Sirocco, the favorite in last year's American Derby, and recalling what has happened to so many other strong public choices in the Chicago area's big stake events, many in the crowd will back Bushwhacker with the belief that if there's to be an upset, he's the one to do it. There will be plenty of others in the crowd ready to take a flyer at one of the long shots. For almost anything can happen in a race like this.

Nine races will be run today instead of the customary eight. Post time for the first will be moved up to 2 p. m. The Illinois Central has scheduled 11 extra trains, the first of which will leave the Randolph street station at 12:10.

Packers, Giants to Meet Tonight at Green Bay

Green Bay, Wis., Aug. 22 [Special].—The season's first clash of two National Football league teams will take place tomorrow night when the Green Bay Packers, runnersup in the western division in 1940, meet the New York Giants. The exhibition game will be played in the Packers' stadium.

LOOK FOR RECORD PHEASANT YEAR IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Good Hatch Allows Hunter 50 Shooting Days.

BY BOB BECKER.

South Dakota will offer 50 days of pheasant hunting this fall. According to the regulations just issued by that state, 26 of the counties will enjoy 50 days of ring neck hunting starting Oct. 1 and extending thru Nov. 19. All pheasant hunting in these 26 counties will begin at noon each day and continue until dark.

The counties getting this long season [they had 40 days last year] include Brown, Marshall, Roberts, Grant, Day, Spink, Clark, Codington, Deuel, Hamlin, Brookings, Kingsbury, Beadle, Sanborn, Miner, Hanson, Davison, Aurora, Brule, Douglas, Gregory, Tripp, and others in which the birds are abundant. The bag limit will be five birds per day of which one may be a hen. Ten birds is the hunter's possession limit.

Good Year for Upland Game.

South Dakota also will have a longer Hungarian partridge season this fall, as a result of a good hatch of birds. This season will run from Oct. 1 to Oct. 20 in Brown, Marshall, Roberts, Day, and Grant counties. The bag limit will be five birds per day with 10 birds in possession. McPherson, Edmunds, Faulk, Sprink, and Hand will have a shorter Hungarian partridge season extending from Oct. 1 to Oct. 10. In these counties one may shoot only three per day and have six birds in possession.

This year's upland game hunting regulations permit the taking of partridges in 27 counties as against 10 counties with an open season on this game bird last fall, indication that South Dakota has had a good hatching season this year.

Just One Sad Note.

There's just one bit of bad news for nonresident hunters who look forward annually to a shoot in South Dakota. The game commission has raised the cost of a nonresident hunting license from $15 to $20. Five dollars of this amount will be earmarked by South Dakota for the purchase of public shooting grounds.

J. W. Cluett, a director of the South Dakota game and fish commission, said several days ago that South Dakota will have the best upland game hunting of any state, the longest season, and the most favorable bag limits. There isn't much doubt about the quality of the shooting out there. Every report we have received from South Dakota during the past five weeks has told about the big hatch of pheasants and partridges this year, probably the largest in the past 10 years.

Beckwith Has His Saxophone —Just in Case

[This is the last of a series on Booker Beckwith, 1938 international and intercity Golden Gloves middleweight champion from Gary. He will seek his 17th straight victory in a 10 round bout against Red Burman, Baltimore heavyweight, in Chicago Stadium outdoor arena Wednesday.]

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Booker Beckwith used to practice three times a week with a 12 piece orchestra in the Boys' club at 1983 Broadway in Gary with a view to playing a tenor saxophone for a living if his ambition to become light heavyweight or heavyweight champion should fail to materialize. The 21 year old son of a Negro minister has not yet reached his goal, but his success in the professional ring thus far has been little short of phenomenal.

Beckwith, whose broad jump record of 23 feet and high jump mark of 6 feet 4 inches while attending Roosevelt High school, Gary, still stand, didn't believe he ever would receive an opportunity for national recognition until he was matched with Solly Krieger, once world middleweight title holder, in the Stadium building last May 28.

He pounded out a victory in 10 rounds over Krieger for what he believes was his greatest achievement, despite his two round technical knockout of Altus Allen earlier.

Booker, who was a clerk in a food shop in Gary for two months in 1939, shortly before he decided to seek fame as a boxer, followed up his conquest of Krieger with a one round knockout of Nash Garrison, San Jose, Cal., heavyweight. His triumph over Garrison, which did not impress Sheldon Clark, chairman of the Illinois Athletic commission, and spectators, was his 16th in a row. Regardless of adverse opinions the decision so increased Beckwith's stature that he now is recognized as a leading 175 pound challenger.

Booker, a modest chap despite the dynamite he carries in his fists, wants to meet Joe Louis for the latter's heavyweight title if he conquers Red Burman in their impending contest. In case Burman snaps the Gary boxer's chain of victories he still has his saxophone.

Detroit Novice Wins Shoot-off and Trap Title

Vandalia, O., Aug. 22 (AP).—In the most jittery shootoff in Grand American handicap history, Walter L. Tulburt, 52 year old Detroit furnace salesman, won today by beating Del Bundschuh, 28 year old Fremont, O., machinist, 23 to 22.

Walter Tulburt.

The two tied at 99 of 100 to beat out a field of 1,093, second largest in the 42 year history of the meet, and each had a case of jitters when called out in front of a gallery of 10,000 for the deciding extra target event.

Rival Misses Three.

Tulburt missed the fifth and sixth targets to go two down, but he went straight the rest of the way to take the title as Bundschuh missed the 12th, 14th, and 19th.

In keeping with Grand American tradition, the two who tied for the title had never before won anything, anywhere. The two split the $1,000 first and $500 second prizes, and with various purses wound up about $1,500 each ahead on the day's firing.

Noble Collects $400.

Amateurs followed the first two in this order, with their winnings: F. B. Noble, Newton Falls, O., $400; P. O. Harbage, West Jefferson, O., $300; M. D. Roberts, Middletown, Conn., $200; and $100 each to W. Middleton of Sterling, Ill.; Art. Stifal of Casey, Ill.; V. Snawder of Louisville, Ky.; Roger Fawcett of New Rochelle, N. Y., and O. Kirkchoff of St. Charles, Mo.

Noble, Harbage, and Roberts tied at 98, while the other leaders had 97.

Vic Reinders of Waukesha, Wis., was the all-around star of the Grand American, breaking 874 of 900 targets, seven ahead of H. L. Cheek of Clinton, Ind.

Thirteen former champions attempted to break the old tradition that no one can win the event twice.

Miss W. Marie Hill, 29 year old Kansas City star who learned to shoot a couple of years ago, won the feminine championship with 96 of 100, followed by Mrs. P. J. Herold of San Francisco with 95.

LAKE ONTARIO YACHTING CREW MAINTAINS LEAD

Skipper Elmer J. [Bud] Doyle's crew of Lake Ontario yachtsmen maintained their lead for the Commodore Otto F. Barthel trophy yesterday in the second and third races of the annual series off Grant park harbor. The crew, representing the Lake Yacht Racing association of New York and Ontario, won both races yesterday. The series for the Great Lakes Q class honors, is being conducted by the Chicago Yacht club.

The eastern yachtsmen won the morning race with the Q class sloop Scimitar, finishing one minute ahead of the Inter-Lake Yachting association's crew and two minutes ahead of the Lake Michigan Yachting association's crew. The Lake Ontario crew won in the afternoon with Lively Lady, Mackinac race winner a month ago.

At the end of the first four races Lake Ontario led with 11¾ points. The Inter-Lake crew, headed by Thomas K. Fisher of the Detroit Yacht club, was second with 7¼ points, and Skipper Edmund Jedrzykowski of the Jackson Park Yacht club and his Lake Michigan crew were third with 6 points. The series ends today with two races.

American Derby Sketches

Following are sketches of the 3 year olds entered in today's running of the American Derby at Washington Park:

WHIRLAWAY, chestnut colt by Blenheim II—Dustwhirl, by Sweep.
Owner—Warren Wright.
Trainer—Ben Jones.

Year.	Starts.	1st.	2d.	3d.	Winnings.
1940	16	7	2	4	$ 77,275
1941	16	11	3	2	198,361

Whirlaway has won the Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Belmont, Dwyer, Saranac, and Travers in his campaign thru the big stakes for 3 year olds. His only defeat since this sweep began occurred in the Arlington Classic in which he ran second to Attention. He stepped out of his division once to beat Mioland and other older handicap stars in the Henry of Navarre purse at Belmont. Early in the spring, while preparing for the Kentucky Derby, he lost to Our Boots in the Blue Grass stakes and to Blue Pair in the Derby Trial. A victory in the American Derby will practically clinch the championship of his division because there is only one important stake for 3 year olds left on the calendar—the Lawrence Realization at Belmont.

TO A TEE, brown colt by Ariel—Inscrutable, by Ramus.
Owner—John Marsch.
Trainer—Burley Parke.

Year.	Starts.	1st.	2d.	3d.	Winnings.
1940	8	2	1	0	$2,400
1941	9	4	1	3	5,480

To a Tee has one stake victory to his credit—the $2,500 Northwestern handicap at Arlington Park. He has been a very consistent performer in his proper class thruout the present season. The only time he was out of the money in eight starts was when he ran fifth in the Classic. He began his 1941 campaign at Lincoln Fields with two thirds, then a second, then two firsts in a series of allowance events. Moving over to Arlington, he won the Northwestern and then ran third to Whirlaway in the Classic Trial. Since the Classic, he has raced only once, beating Delray by three-quarters of a length in a mile allowance event. The only time he was tested at a mile and a quarter was in the Classic.

BUSHWHACKER, brown colt by Chance Shot—Masked Dancer, by Disguise.
Owner—R. W. McIlvain.
Trainer—Howard Wells.

Year.	Starts.	1st.	2d.	3d.	Winnings.
1940	8	2	0	1	$58,860
1941	8	3	2	1	8,600

Bushwhacker has been brought up slowly but steadily to his best racing condition. In his last start a week ago Saturday, he was beaten a length and a quarter by Misty Isle, while the latter was setting a new Washington Park track record of 1:49 3/5 for the mile and an eighth. He ran third to Attention and Whirlaway in the Classic. Before that he had won three consecutive overnight allowance events at 6 and 7 furlongs. Tho the Classic was Bushwhacker's only previous effort at a mile and a quarter and he tired on that occasion, his handlers believe that he is now capable of carrying his speed over the full Derby route. He has been out of the money only once this year and that was in his first start of the season. Last year he beat Attention in the $38,000

INDIANS DEAL YANKEES THIRD STRAIGHT LOSS

Bagby Scores 5-4 Victory; Dickey Injured.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 22 (AP).—The Yankees lost their third straight game and the fourth in five starts in the west today when the Indians beat them, 5 to 4, behind Jim Bagby's eight hit pitching.

The Yanks, still missing the services of Joe DiMaggio, had more bad luck when Bill Dickey was struck on the shoulder by a foul tip from Bagby's bat in the eighth inning and had to be helped from the field.

CARDINALS BEAT PHILLIES IN 10TH, 4-2; HOPP HURT

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 22 (AP). — Coaker Triplett's home run with a man on base gave St. Louis a 4 to 2 victory over the Phillies today in a 10 inning battle.

The Cards lost Outfielder Johnny Hopp for an indefinite period when Bobby Bragan stepped on his left hand during a play at second base in the fourth inning. This injury completed the demolition of the St. Louis outfield within the last 12 days. Enos Slaughter, right fielder, a shoulder casualty Aug. 10, is thru for the year. Terry Moore, center fielder, was beaned by Art Johnson in Boston Wednesday. Score:

HUMPHRIES GOES AGAINST BOSTON IN FINAL TODAY

The Red Sox this afternoon will wind up their 1941 business in Chicago in a single game with the White Sox, Jack Wilson will pitch for Boston and Johnny Humphries, who hasn't been scored on in his last two games, will work for the Sox.

The White Sox yesterday announced the purchase of Murrell Jones, a first baseman from Shreveport of the Texas league. Jones is a right handed thrower and slugger whom the Sox expect to use in the outfield and as stand-in for Joe Kuhel. The young man, a 20 year old native of Pioneer, Ia., at the time of his purchase was leading the Texas league in homers with 20. He also had 16 doubles and three triples.

Tomorrow the Yanks and Sox will play a double header. The gates will be open at 11 o'clock, at which time 30,000 grandstand tickets will be placed on sale. In case you hadn't heard, all the box seats have been sold.

Cub Pitching Isn't; Dodgers Triumph, 8-5

ing to left center. Erickson's next and last jolt came after two were out in the fourth. Walker singled, Herman walked, and Reiser singled. The Cubs' turn came next. It netted them their sixth inning run on a pass to Phil Cavarretta, followed by singles from Dahlgren and Bobby Sturgeon.

Pressnell's unhappy venture got under way when Kimball singled with one out in the home sixth. Then Walker smashed the drive that crashed against Pressnell's left arm and caromed into left field for a single, Kimball taking third. Eaves took over the pitching and picked up Herman's tap to nail Kimball at the plate. Reiser was given a single on a bounder on which Hack threw late to second. Walker counted the seventh Dodger run on Camilli's infield hit.

Get Rid of Kimball.

Lou Stringer and Dom Dallessandro walked and subsequent doubles by Cavarretta and Dahlgren blew Kimball off the mound in the seventh. In the home portion, Reese tripled to left and went home on Herman Franks' fly with the eighth Dodger marker. Nicholson's homer over the right field barricade with one out in the ninth completed the day's business.

FIREMEN BEAT SPORTSMEN.

The Chicago Firemen opened the armory stadium in Gary last night by defeating the Sportsmen club, 5 to 3.

Jap Davis of the All-Stars Is a Rampaging Full Back

Jasper Davis.

The big fellow with the broad shoulders leaned over and toned down the radio which was blaring out a hot swing number.

"You want to know what I think of this team?" he drawled. "Ah think we're just beginning to roll and by next week we'll have a strong outfit to face those Bears."

The speaker was Jasper [Jap] Davis, Duke's great full back of last season, rated by Coach Wallace Wade as one of the greatest full backs he had ever seen.

They knew him more familiarly as The Great Jasper down in the North Carolina country where he grew up into a thick-set, powerful 215 pounder who combined the qualities of a battering ram and a mountain goat. He could smash a line with all the power that his great bulk gave him, and he could scat thru an open field like a half back.

He'll Play—Plenty.

Because of his oft-demonstrated ability as a line plunger and open field runner, Jap Davis is slated for considerable action in the All-Star back field next Thursday night.

On Duke's great 1938 team which was undefeated, untied, and unscored on until the final 40 seconds of the Rose Bowl game against Southern California, Davis was a blocking quarter back. He shifted to full back in his junior year, then really came into his own.

Last fall he carried the ball 90 times for a gross of 594 yards. He lost just three yards all season and wound up the year with a net average of 6.6 yards per plunge. The All-Star coaching staff would settle for some such figure from Jap next Thursday nght.

Against Colgate last fall Duke scored its first touchdown when Davis took the ball on second down with 13 yards to go to the goal line, and pushed it across in three bucks thru one of the toughest lines in the east.

He Bowls Over Georgia Tech.

In the Georgia Tech game he electrified 35,000 fans when, after Duke received the kickoff and returned to the 30 yard line, Davis slipped off guard and went seventy yards for a touchdown on the first play of the game.

It was that way game after game and the season's end found Jap Davis not only heralded as one of the greatest full backs in the south but in the nation as well.

Football has given Davis many fond memories such as the 1938 Rose Bowl game, last fall's Pittsburgh game which Duke won, 12 to 7, largely on the strength of Davis' ball carrying, and the Georgia Tech game in which he rolled off that seventy yard run.

That All-Star Thrill.

But his greatest thrill was being elected to the All-Star squad which carried with it an opportunity to play against the Chicago Bears. It may terminate his playing career as he is undecided about an offer to play pro ball—in which case Jap would ask for nothing better than to unleash one of his celebrated sorties thru the Bear defenses. All he asks is the chance, and from all indications he will get that big chance.

MRS. COOKE IN FINALS; TENTH TIME SINCE '30

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 22 (AP).—Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke today gained the final round of the National doubles tennis tournament for the 10th time since 1930.

Playing with Margaret Osborne of San Francisco, Mrs. Cooke defeated Shirley Catton and Pearl Harland, both of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-2.

The second ranking Pauline Betz of Los Angeles, and Dorothy Bundy of Santa Monica, Cal., will engage unseeded Mary Arnold of Los Angeles and Hope Knowles of Philadelphia tomorrow for the remaining last round berth.

The first four seeded pairs have gained the men's semi-finals. Frank Parker and Don McNeill today defeated Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Cal., and Bill Crosby of Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-0, 4-6, 3-6, 6-2. Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., and Wayne Sabin of Portland, Ore., eliminated Atlantans Bryan Grant and Russell Bobbitt, 2-6, 7-5, 7-5, 6-3.

These victors will clash tomorrow, as will defending champions Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder and Bobby Riggs of Chicago and Gene Mako of Los Angeles.

BEARS ARE GREAT TALKERS ON ONE TOPIC: FOOTBALL

BY EDWARD PRELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Delafield, Wis., Aug. 22.—Well, just what are the Chicago Bears thinking about less than a week before they will descend upon Soldiers' field to uphold professional football's prestige against the best collegiate brain and brawn?

They are thinking about football and this is not confined just to the practice field at St. John's Military academy. Football is the topic at breakfast, lunch, and dinner.

Talking to Themselves.

As the water swishes down from the dressing room showers they raise their voices, not in song, but with questions or observations relating to next Thursday's session with college All-Stars. They gather in groups near their dormitories when the day's work is done and again football is the sole subject.

The coaches are just as intense. After this morning's drill they retired, as is their custom, to the crow's nest, the third floor apartment in Smythe hall, where they are quartered. They took off their football shoes and stretched out comfortably, then compared notes and exchanged theories. Friendly arguments bobbed up, but they were all cleared up in resultant debates.

Secrets, Deep and Dark.

Some of the players are wondering if information of the All-Stars strategy is seeping thru the football grapevine. And how much do the collegians know of the Bears' plans? The two warring camps are only 100 miles apart, but each is protected from espionage. Or so the rivals hope.

"Do you think they'll pass or run against us" asks Bob Snyder, one of the Bears' quarter backs. Bob has been a busy fellow these last two weeks in camp, because the quarter back is the key man in the T formation man in motion system. His notebook is bulging with plays. The consensus is that the collegians will base their hopes of victory on passing, but none is overlooking the danger of those fleet and hard running backs breaking loose.

Victory is Worth $100,000.

The Bears might think they are the best team in professional football, even the all time greatest, and rightly so. But they're convinced their opponents have everything, too, and are the best ever assembled from the nation's stars in the eight year history of the game.

One of the assistant coaches called it a $100,000 game for the Bears. If they lose in Soldiers' field he estimates this amount will be lost in gate receipts in exhibition and championship games this season.

Just Four More Workouts.

Only four strenuous workouts remain on the training schedule. Tomorrow morning's workout will be followed by an afternoon scrimmage. There will be single workouts Sunday and Monday. On Tuesday, drill will be tight and the following morning the Bears will leave for Chicago, holding a dress rehearsal that evening under the lights of Soldiers' field.

Who Will Be Star Thursday? It May Be Kavanaugh

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Delafield, Wis., Aug. 22.—Take a number from 1 to 100 and you might be lucky enough to pick one of the athletes who will gain the headlines in next Thursday's battle between the Bears and All-Stars. There will be more than 100 players in uniform. Ken Kavanaugh's uniform number is 51, and this 6 feet 3 inch Bear end from Little Rock, Ark., and Louisiana State university could be your lucky number. "He's improved 100 per cent over last season," says Line Coach Hunk Anderson, who gives praise only when it is deserved. He explained that Ken always could catch passes, but that his defensive play in his freshman year left much to de desired. This is where the lanky southerner has made strides due to a more serious attitude.

Sid Luckman's injured knee was given a mud bath today and he will keep off his feet for two days. Coaches insist he'll be completely recovered for the All-Star game.

MUSIC FESTIVAL WINNER TO SING ON W-G-N TONIGHT

Earl Thiel Will Be Guest of Chicagoland Hour.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Earl Thiel, the Milwaukee baritone, who vaulted to fame last Saturday when he was selected the outstanding male singer at the annual Chicagoland Music Festival in Soldiers' field, will make a guest appearance on the Chicagoland hour from 9 to 10 o'clock tonight over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system.

Earl Thiel.

Thiel will share the musical spotlight with Marion Claire, soprano; Attilio Baggiore, tenor, and Henry Weber, conducting the W-G-N Concert orchestra.

Col. McCormick to Talk.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak on the program.

Thiel will be featured in a medley from "Carmen" in which he will sing "The Toreador Song," the selection he sang at the festival. Miss Claire will sing "Habanera" in this group, with the orchestra playing the Prelude, and "Gypsy Song."

Miss Claire also is to sing "The Maids of Cadiz" by Delibes, and "Love's Old Sweet Song" in a "Sari" medley.

Numbers by Baggiore.

Baggiore will sing "Your Eyes Told Me so." With Miss Claire he will present "Wanting You" from "The New Moon" and Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata."

The program is produced by William A. Bacher, W-G-N chief of programs and production. The chorus is under the direction of Robert Trendler.

BIDDLE URGES DEMOCRATS TO BACK PRESIDENT

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 22 (AP).—Urged by President Roosevelt to keep their ranks clear of any subversive influence, members of Young Democratic Clubs of America today were called upon to "rally loyally behind the President and accept his guidance."

Speakers before the clubs' fifth biennial convention warned that the time for debate over the nation's course had passed and the time had come "when there should be complete loyalty and allegiance to President Roosevelt."

Francis Biddle, solicitor general and acting attorney general of the United States, told the Young Democrats "that there can be no American way of life in a world where the goose step and the enslaving of those who disagree, and the spy and the whip and the torch and the firing squad are the guardians of life."

MENARD WARDEN TO HEAD POLICE AT ARMS PLANT

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 22 (AP).—Acceptance of the resignation of Joe E. Montgomery, warden of the Illinois state penitentiary branch at Menard, effective today, was announced by the office of T. P. Sullivan, state director of public safety.

Montgomery, head of the Menard prison nine years, sought immediate action on his resignation so he could become superintendent of police at the Illinois Ordnance plant to be constructed at Crab Orchard lake.

Alvin S. Keys, assistant director of public safety, said that Arthur A. Bennett, former sheriff of Du Page county who was appointed assistant warden about four months ago, would become acting warden of the institution.

BLAZE SWEEPS FINNISH SHIP IN N. Y.; ONE DEAD

New York, Aug. 22 (AP).—The week's second ship fire here caused damage estimated at $50,000 today to the 6,956 ton Finnish freighter Aurora and took the life of the ship's chief officer, who suffocated in his bunk while launches rescued 18 other crew members.

The fire destroyed the quarters of officers and crew, the salon, wheelhouse, and pantry. T. O. Vahervuori, Finnish consul general, said there was no evidence of sabotage and expressed belief the fire had started in the pantry. Police concurred but federal agents declined to comment.

The ship arrived from Buenos Aires July 28 with a cargo of linseed oil, rye, and hides enroute to Finland.

'Quit Your Kidding,' Says Girl Cashier; Bandit Runs

A bandit stepped up to the ticket cage of the State theater, 5814 Madison street, yesterday, and demanded the receipts from the cashier, Miss Vera Marshall, 26 years old, 1742 North Long avenue. Miss Marshall smiled her prettiest, and said: "Now, now, quit your kidding." The robber sputtered, then walked away, and escaped in a car in which a companion had been waiting. The receipts were saved.

President to Broadcast Message on Labor Day

New York, Aug. 22 (AP).—President Roosevelt will broadcast over the three major networks from 12:45 to 1 p. m. [Chicago time] Monday, Sept. 1 as part of a special Labor day program.

Edward A. Schlamp, 8011 Eberhart avenue, reported to police last night that thieves broke into his apartment and stole silverware and other articles totally valued at $300.

Divorce Upheld

Merle Oberon, the present Mrs. Alexander Korda.

[Acme Photos.]

Mrs Maria Antonia Korda, the film producer's first wife.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 22 (AP).—Actress Maria Korda lost her suit today to set aside a divorce she obtained from Alexander Korda, British film producer, in 1930. She said they had lived together after Korda obtained the final decree in 1931. Korda, now husband of Actress Merle Oberon, denied this and said that in 1935 in Paris she had announced her engagement to a Count Teleki.

2D JURY UNABLE TO VOTE VERDICT IN JUDGE'S TRIAL

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 22 (AP).—A federal jury reported today it was unable to agree on a verdict at the second trial of J. Warren Davis, a retired United States Circuit court judge, and Morgan S. Kaufman, a former bankruptcy referee, on charges of selling justice in bankruptcy litigation involving William Fox, one-time movie magnate. Their first trial also ended in jury disagreement.

J. Warren Davis.

Judge Hugh D. McClellan of Boston immediately dismissed the jury, which had deliberated 12 hours.

Walter H. Gahagan, special assistant to the attorney general, who directed the prosecution, said he would seek a third trial for the judge, who is 74 years old, and for Kaufman.

The government contended Davis accepted $27,500 in two unsecured loans from Fox. Fox testified he had hoped to obtain favorable rulings in various phases of his bankruptcy from the appellate court.

13,332 TAXPAYERS WIN REDUCTIONS IN REALTY LEVY

The Cook county board of tax appeals announced yesterday that 13,332 real estate taxpayers have been granted reductions totaling $11,622,195 in the 1940 real estate assessments made by County Assessor John S. Clark.

Taxpayers who were granted reductions by the appeals board should wait until they receive corrected bills in the mail, before paying the second instalments on their 1940 taxes. The legal penalty date for payments is Sept. 1, but taxpayers who have not received corrected bills will be allowed 10 days after they get their bills to make payment, Treasurer John Toman said yesterday.

DIVORCES MATE WHO BEAT HER FOR 21 YEARS

Martin Horak, 48 years old, whose wife, Albie, 45, accused him of beating her twice a week almost from the beginning of their marriage 21 years ago, was brought out of the Lake county jail at Waukegan long enough yesterday for Mrs. Horak to obtain a divorce. Horak is serving out a fine of $225 imposed on him a week ago for one of the beatings.

"In this country," Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady told Horak, a naturalized citizen, "you are not permitted to beat even your cattle."

"I beat her," muttered Horak, "but not too hard."

Mrs. Horak, the mother of eight children between the ages of 1 and 19, was given $3,000 worth of stock and other personal property on a farm the family rents on state route 63, three miles west of Mundelein. An injunction restraining Horak from molesting his wife is in force, and Judge Dady warned that any violation would mean a long jail term.

Sergt. John Shea, 40 Years on Police Force, Is Dead

Police Sergeant John Shea, retired, died last night in the Illinois Central hospital of injuries suffered in an accidental fall in his home at 7804 Burnham avenue last Sunday. He was 81 years old. Sergt. Shea retired 12 years ago after more than 40 years on the police force. For many years he was head detective at the Woodlawn station. Sergt. Shea leaves two sons, Francis and Richard, and a daughter, Miss Gertrude Shea, principal of the Headley Elementary school. Funeral services will be held from the chapel at 7659 Jeffery avenue at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday to St. Bride's church. Burial will be in Mount Olivet cemetery.

10,000 TO SURVEY ILLINOIS MOTOR TRAFFIC SEPT. 3

Results Will Be Basis for Superhighway Plans.

An army of 10,000, including 8,000 Boy Scouts and Sea Scouts, is preparing to participate in one of the most extensive automobile traffic surveys ever carried on in this country. The survey, covering all of Illinois and a section of Indiana, will be made on Sept. 3 under guidance of the Cook county highway department, assisted by the state highway division, the Chicago park district, the city traffic department and the federal roads bureau.

The goal of the survey, Maj. George A. Quinlan, superintendent of the county highway department, said yesterday, is to determine not only the volume of motor traffic, but the routes used most frequently, the directions taken by drivers in going to such a specific place as the city's central business district, for example, and the origins and destinations of thousands of motorists.

Thus, he asserted, the survey will provide a basis for future plans for express highways and superhighways. "We hope to find," he said, "the traffic methods whereby we can best serve the majority of motorists."

How Survey Will Be Made.

As outlined by Maj. Quinlan, the survey will be carried out in this manner:

Thruout the state will be 580 sites at which varying numbers of Boy Scouts, now being trained as checkers, will be stationed. Of these stations, 360 will be in Cook, Will, DuPage, Kane, and Lake counties. Most of these stations will operate in three hour shifts for twelve hours—from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.—while 50 key stations, along such busy thorofares as Washington boulevard, Warren avenue, the outer drives and Jackson boulevard will work a 24 hour schedule.

Two scouts and a supervisor, regularly employed by the county highway department, will be assigned to each lane of traffic at these specified sites. Thus, at North avenue and the outer drive, which has as many as 16 lanes of traffic at some times during the day, 32 checkers will be stationed. As the cars pass the crew, one of the checkers will call out the last four numbers of each license plate and the other will record them. The time of passage also will be noted. In congestion, dictaphones will be used.

Record Car's Route.

As each car continues on it will pass another station and the procedure will be repeated. In this manner record of the car's progress, from the origin of travel to the approximate destination, will be noted.

Afterward the record sheets will be tabulated, and a traffic pattern will be worked out. The results of the survey, Maj. Quinlan said, probably will not be ready for at least two months after the count.

The counters will note only the last four numbers of the license plates because an attempt to catch a larger number of digits would increase the possibility of error, Maj. Quinlan said. Furthermore, the chance that two cars with identical last four numbers will pass one station on the day of the count is reckoned to be infinitesimal.

THREE WOMEN ARE QUIZZED IN FATAL BEATING

Police yesterday were holding three young women for questioning concerning the fatal beating of Fred Hirsch, 21 years old, of 911 East 61st street early Thursday.

Miss Barbara Surrette, 24, and Miss Patricia Atchley, 23, both of 6237 Greenwood avenue, were with Hirsch and a companion, Robert Bushar, 21, 6237 Cottage Grove avenue, earlier in the evening before they were attacked in an alley near 6141 Drexel avenue. The third woman was identified by Woodlawn police as Mrs. Peggy Pecorie, 21, of 6017 Woodlawn avenue. Police did not say why she was being questioned. Sergt. John Noonan said she had been given one lie detector test and would be given another today.

Police are hunting for two men with whom Hirsch and Bushar exchanged blows earlier after insulting remarks had been made to Misses Surrette and Atchley.

$924,025 IN STATE ROAD CASH GIVEN TO CHICAGO AREA

The expenditure of $924,025 in motor fuel tax funds for road improvements in the Chicago area was approved yesterday by the Illinois state highway department. The proposed road improvements are: Dearborn street from Lake street to Van Buren street, $160,025; Halsted street from Grand avenue to Harrison street, $175,000; State street from Lake street to 11th street, $540,000; Grand avenue from Harlem avenue to 74th avenue, Elmwood Park, $15,000; installation of traffic control system in Evanston on Church street from Asbury avenue to Chicago avenue and at Chicago avenue and Davis street and Sherman avenue and Grove street in the suburb, $24,000, and construction of storm sewer on Smith street in Palatine, $10,000.

Tavern License Revoked; Owner Fined for Gambling

The state liquor control commission yesterday ordered the tavern license of the Arlington club, Lake street and North avenue, Melrose Park, revoked because of gambling on the premises. William M. Devine, secretary of the commission, said Frank Martin, manager of the tavern, was fined $20 on Aug. 13 for operating a gambling house. John Snider is the owner of the property.

Out All Night

Parrot "Bill," back in custody of Mrs. Belle Foulis.

Bill is 12 years old and he lives in a second floor apartment at 1131 South Mayfield avenue. Last night Bill perched on the window sill, lost his balance, and fell out. Instead of plummeting to the ground, he fell into a tree.

Perhaps he didn't feel up to working his way out of the tree in the darkness. Whatever the trouble was, he sat in the tree all night crying, "Belle! Belle!"—apparently referring to Mrs. Belle Foulis, who lives in the same apartment.

Mrs. Foulis didn't hear Bill until this morning, when he came back for breakfast. The neighbors, however, said they heard him—too well. Bill is a parrot.

OBITUARIES

Mayor Robert E. Lamberton.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 22 [Special].—Robert E. Lamberton, Republican mayor of Philadelphia since January, 1940, died suddenly tonight at his summer home in Long Port, N. J. He was 55 years old. In addition to holding the city's highest elective office he was a former sheriff, a prominent attorney, and served as a member of the city council and of the bench of the Common Pleas court, resigning from the latter position when he was elected mayor in 1939.

Norman L. Wetherbee.

Normal L. Wetherbee, a resident of Chicago and suburbs for 58 years, died yesterday in his home at 57 Forest avenue, Riverside. He was 79 years old. Mr. Wetherbee was chief engineer of buildings for the Chicago YMCA for 34 years, retiring in 1932. He left his widow, Laura; a daughter, Mrs. Grace Moore, and two grandchildren. Services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the Methodist church in Riverside.

Mason Browne Olmsted.

Word was received here yesterday of the death Thursday at the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn., of Mason Browne Olmsted, member of a prominent Evanston family. Mr. Olmsted was 43 years old and lived in Milwaukee, Wis. He was the president of the Nackie Paper company of Milwaukee. Mr. Olmsted was a graduate of Williams college and served in the navy during the World war. He leaves a daughter, Nancy.

Rev. M. C. Eignus.

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 22 [Special].—Funeral services for the Rev. M. C. Eignus, 97 years old, last Civil war veteran in Livingston county and a Methodist minister for 71 years, will be held in Forrest Sunday. He was the oldest resident of the town. Eignus served in the 89th Illinois infantry thru the Civil war and became a minister in 1870. He once served as state representative. He died yesterday.

Julius Moll.

Julius Moll, head of the real estate firm of Julius Moll & Son, Inc., died yesterday in his home at 2810 Logan boulevard. He was 87 years old. Mr. Moll came to Chicago shortly before the great Chicago fire. Surviving are his widow, Julia; two sons, a daughter, and four grandchildren. Services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the chapel at 3021 Fullerton avenue.

J. Edwin Middleton.

Funeral services for J. Edwin Middleton, Chicago advertising representative for out of state newspapers, will be held at 2 p. m. today in the chapel at 1460 Sherman avenue, Evanston. Mr. Middleton died Thursday. He was 68 years old and lived at 7646 Greenview avenue. He left his widow, Lina, and a son.

Elizabeth Martin.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 22 (AP).—Elizabeth Martin, 70, known to vaudeville audiences in the '90s as Elizabeth Weldon, died last night at General hospital. She was a member of the burlesque team of Murray and Weldon. Bob Murray was her partner.

DUNNE TO TAKE CHIEF JUSTICE POST ON SEPT. 2

Judge Robert Jerome Dunne of the Circuit court will be inducted as chief justice of the Criminal court Tuesday, Sept. 2 — the first chief justice not inducted on Labor day in the court's 67 year history. An amendment was passed by the legislature deferring the first day of the new term. The change was sponsored by court attachés and lawyers who find it irksome to trek to the Criminal court building at 26th street and California avenue on a holiday. Judge Dunne will succeed Judge James F. Fardy, who will return to the law division of the Superior court.

Cat Adds Baby Squirrel to Her Litter of Four

Altho squirrels are of the rodent family and thus are considered legitimate prey for any cat, Tabby, the cat owned by Mrs. Maude Dewey of 665 Garfield avenue, Aurora, has been nursing a baby squirrel for several days. The squirrel, apparently newborn, fell out of a tree in the Dewey yard. Tabby carried it into the house to the pallet of her four nursing kittens, and has since been caring for five charges.

ROBERT MORSE'S SON KILLED IN AUTO-BUS CRASH

Companion Dies, 25 Hurt in California Fog.

John Morse, 25 years old, son of Col. Robert H. Morse, president of Fairbanks, Morse & Co., was killed yesterday when the automobile in which he was riding collided headon with a bus on the approach to the Golden Gate bridge at San Rafael, Cal.

The driver of the car, Clyde L. Anderson of Danville, Cal., was killed, and 25 passengers in the bus were injured. Highway police said the collision occurred in a dense fog. The younger Morse, a graduate of Yale university, had been serving as assistant manager in the San Francisco office of the Fairbanks-Morse company since his resignation last April from the navy because of eye deficiency.

The Morse family homes are at 1299 Knollwood circle, Lake Forest, and 1242 Lake Shore drive.

Chicago Boy Cyclist Killed.

One Chicago boy was in Sandwich hospital, Sandwich, Ill., and another was dead last night after a hit-run motorist struck the two as they pedaled their bicycles on United States highway 34 about four miles northwest of Yorkville, Kendall county. Sheriff Robert Woodard said the victims were Robert Flagg, 1417 Berwyn avenue, and Nicholas Von Der Leith, 1449 Gregory street. Other identification was not made at once, and it was not ascertained which of the boys was killed.

A motorist who witnessed the accident said he saw the driver of the hit-run car throw a half pint whiskey bottle out the window as he sped away. The motorist chased the death car several miles, but was unable to stop it.

Woman Dies in Collision.

Mrs. Frank Goss, 58, of Martinsville, Ind., was injured fatally when the car in which she was riding collided with the machine of Elmer Isaacson of 3020 Broadway at the intersection of routes 43 and 30 near Michigan City, Ind. Isaacson and his wife and daughter were injured.

An unidentified woman, who was struck by an automobile last night while she was riding a bicycle, at 76th and Jeffery avenue, died of her injuries early today in the Jackson Park hospital. The victim was about 25 years old, and dressed in brown slacks, a rust colored sweater, and white shoes. She also wore a green bandana, and a diamond wedding ring. The car driver was Wilfred Harter, 29, of 10706 Avenue C.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 591 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 414 were killed in Chicago, where 15,787 were injured during the same period.

INDICTED MAYOR OF HAMTRAMCK IS FREED ON BAIL

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 22 [Special].—Mayor Walter Kanar of Hamtramck was arraigned this afternoon on grand jury indictments charging conspiracy to protect gambling and prostitution, and accepting a $500 bribe from a parking meter company. He stood mute, posted $3,500 bond, and will appear for examination Tuesday.

Also indicted on the conspiracy count were the mayor's brother, Capt. Henry L. Kanar of the Hamtramck fire department, and 16 others.

It was the third series of indictments returned in five days by Judge Homer Ferguson, sitting as a one-man grand jury. Two warrants issued yesterday named 23 persons.

The indictments cover three municipal administrations in Hamtramck—an interior suburb of Detroit, whose 50,000 inhabitants are mostly of Polish extraction.

The administrations covered are those of Kanar, Joseph A. Lewandowski, and Dr. Rudolph G. Tenerowicz, an ex-convict now a member of congress from Michigan's First district.

MARINUS STROOK, RETIRED FIRE CAPTAIN, DEAD

Capt. Marinus L. Strook, a retired veteran of the fire department, died yesterday in his home at 10503 Calhoun avenue. He was 78 years old. Capt. Strook retired in 1913 after 27 years of service. He fought in several of Chicago's major fires, including the Iroquois theater and stockyards fires. He was born in Amsterdam, the Netherlands. Capt. Strook was active in religious and charitable work. Four sons, Leslie, Edwin, Arthur, and Victor, survive. Funeral services will be held in the South Deering Methodist church at 2 p. m. Monday.

Reno Divorce Obtained by Mrs. Otis L. Hubbard

Mrs. Florence Hubbard won a divorce in Reno, Nev., yesterday from Otis L. Hubbard of 385 Wisconsin avenue, Lake Forest. The charge was cruelty and an agreement on custody of a son and a daughter was included in the decree. The marriage of the Hubbards on Feb. 26, 1927 was a social event. Mrs. Hubbard is the daughter of Mrs. Keene H. Addington of 808 East Deerpath, Lake Forest.

Seeks Guardianship

ANN HARDING.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 22 [Special].—Appointment as legal guardian for the estate of her daughter, Janes Bannister, 13 years old, was asked today by Ann Harding, the film actress, in a petition filed in Superior court.

Miss Harding, now the wife of Werner Janssen, symphony orchestra conductor, explains in her petition that she desires the appointment in order to execute a change in a $100,000 policy of insurance on her life wherein the child is named beneficiary.

The policy, Miss Harding says, will be turned in for a $29,300 paid-up policy in which Jane will have sole beneficiary interest.

The actress states in the document that she has been the sole support of her daughter since she and the child's father, Harry Bannister, stage actor, were divorced six years ago.

PLAN FUNERAL SERVICES TODAY FOR TANK CHIEF

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 [Special].—Funeral services for Maj. Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, first commander of the army's new armored force, will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Fort Myer, Va., chapel just outside of Washington. Burial will be in Arlington cemetery.

Gen. Chaffee, 57 years old, died today at the Massachusetts General hospital in Boston. Doctors said he suffered a physical breakdown during an intense drive to build up and organize the special mechanized units of the United States army.

Chaffee, a West Point graduate, predicted as long ago as 1930 that tank powered armies could do virtually what the Nazis have accomplished in their blitzkriegs. Altho his ideas were then considered too visionary to be practical, eventually the war department not only adopted them but asked him to supervise their execution.

HIGHWAY PATROL OFFICER SHOT IN MINE DISORDERS

Harlan, Ky., Aug. 22 (AP).—A high power rifle bullet wounded a Kentucky highway patrol lieutenant today in the Benham coal mine labor strife but a rumored plan of pickets to besiege the mine had failed to materialize tonight.

Lieut. Roy D. Mulberry was struck in the right foot by the bullet as he sat in a patrol automobile after a fellow officer arrested a man carrying a gun near Benham.

Meanwhile, seven men were arrested as an aftermath of a series of shootings which cost the lives of two miners yesterday near the Benham mine, where a dispute accompanied by frequent violence has raged for months between rival CIO and AFL unions.

Child Catches Foot in Pipe; Freed by 45 Minutes' Work

Mary Ellen Hoskins, 2 years old, was playing last night in Welles park, near Oakley and Sunnyside avenues. She wandered near a drinking fountain and fell into a drain from which the grille had been removed. Her foot became wedged in the drain pipe. It took her father, Martin J. Hoskins, a park policeman, a park supervisor, and a park electrician 45 minutes to get her out. Tearful but unhurt, she was taken home to 2437 Berteau avenue.

2 YOUTHS SHOT IN QUARREL OVER BALL GAME NOISE

Two youths were shot last night in a quarrel over whether a ball game being played at De Kalb street and Hoyne avenue was disturbing the neighborhood. They are William Gasparro, 16 years old, 2238 Polk street, wounded in the abdomen, and Frank Guido, 21, of 2146 Polk street, shot in the chest. They were taken to the county hospital.

Marquette police said that Louis De Simone, 60, of 2069 De Kalb street, a private watchman, objected to the continuation of the game and struck Guido, who was at bat, with his cane. Guido threw his bat at De Simone, whereupon the latter's nephew, Michael, 38, who lives with him and is also a watchman, fired four shots from the steps of his home.

Louis De Simone was taken into custody and his nephew was being sought.

DEATH NOTICES

In Memoriam.

GOLD—Lillian Gold. In loving memory of my dear wife and our loving mother, Aug. 23.
MEYER GOLD AND CHILDREN.

SAGER—Lucinda Jane [Sandberg] Sager, Aug. 23, 1940.
She bid no one a last farewell,
She said good-by to none.
Her loving heart had ceased to beat,
Before I knew it she was gone.
She did not fail to do her best,
Her heart was true and tender.
She worked hard for those she left,
And ever will be remembered.
HER DAUGHTER NORMA.

SHEPANEK—Anthony C. Shepanek. A tribute to the sacred memory of our most beloved and dearest husband and father.
LOVING WIFE AND CHILDREN.

WEIL—Rose Weil, Aug. 23, 1930.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true;
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.

7 GREAT LAKES SHIPYARDS GET STRIKE THREATS

Big Tieup in Jersey Still Unbroken.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Threats of walkouts developed yesterday at seven Great Lakes shipyards, while the strike tying up the vast Kearny, N. J., shipyards was unbroken.

AFL locals threatened to strike at plants of the American Ship Building company in Cleveland, Lorain, O., Superior, Wis., Chicago, Buffalo, N. Y., and Toledo, O., to back up a demand for a closed shop. The Buffalo local [two plants] voted for a strike, but announced there would be no walkout until directed by the union's negotiating committee in Cleveland.

With the CIO also claiming members in the plants, the management asked the National Labor Relations board to hold collective bargaining elections at the yard. Among other work, the company is building tenders for antisubmarine nets and two ore carriers.

Roosevelt Hopes for Accord.

The Kearny strike goes into its 17th day today, with two cruisers, six destroyers, and a number of merchant ships sitting on the ways awaiting the return of the 18,000 workmen. One of the cruisers was scheduled for launching two weeks ago today. Sole issue in the strike is whether the company should agree to a maintenance-of-union contract recommended by the Defense Mediation board. This would require that union members pay their dues and keep in good standing as a requisite to continued employment. The management called the proposal a form of closed shop to which it could not, in principle, agree.

Meantime, President Roosevelt indicated he held hopes that management and labor would yet settle their differences. He told a press conference at Hyde Park, N. Y., that the government did not want to take over the Kearny yards if it could be avoided.

Steel Strike Quickly Settled.

A strike at the Gadsden, Ala., plant of the Republic Steel corporation, called by the CIO Steel Workers Organizing committee, was settled in less than 12 hours when agreement for adjusting disputes was reached.

At Kansas City, Kan., a walkout of 1,200 employés after an argument between a nonunion girl worker and 37 women CIO members halted work at the Cudahy packing plant. Most of the workers left the plant after officials of the Packinghouse Workers Organization committee said the company discharged the 37 women, who had insisted on the dismissal of the nonunion employé. A. D. Challberg, plant superintendent, denied that the women were discharged. He said the union officials had insisted that the girl either join the union or be discharged.

WARN REAL RISE IN RETAIL FOOD IS YET TO COME

Lease-Lend Funds Hoisting Prices.

Retail food prices have risen, but the real advance is yet to come, department of agriculture statisticians warned consumers yesterday. Meanwhile the department announced the purchase this week of more than 10 million dollars worth of food supplies with lease-lend funds.

The salaried employé has already felt the pinch of higher retail prices, but not nearly as much as he can expect in the next few months, the statisticians said. They added that retail food prices can be expected to advance more rapidly even than they did last spring when they jumped nearly 4 per cent between the middle of May and the middle of June.

Food dealers observed yesterday that the lease-lend buying program really began to get under way late in May. To date they estimate the department has spent well over 100 million dollars of lease-lend funds for food. Vast purchases made early in the program were made with the expressed purpose of raising wholesale prices to expand production, dealers recalled.

Spends Millions for Meat.

Among the provisions purchased for England and her allies this week were:

1. More than 12 million pounds of lard, almost 15½ million pounds of pork, and almost 10 million pounds of canned meats. Dealers estimated last night these items alone will cost the government between eight and ten million dollars.

2. More than 1,363,000 pounds of dried skim milk and 279,000 cases of evaporated milk. At current prices the milk cost the department well over a million dollars.

3. Twenty-nine railroad carloads of cheese at Plymouth, Wis. Each car contains 22,000 pounds of cheese. The department paid 22¼ cents a pound, up ½ cent from what it paid last week, or a total of close to $142,000. This lifted wholesale cheese prices to the highest levels since 1928.

4. Approximately 600,000 pounds of dried whole eggs and 20,000 pounds of dried egg whites. It also bought 300,000 pounds of frozen eggs. Dried whole eggs cost more than $1 a pound and frozen whole eggs more than 25 cents a pound. Dealers estimated the eggs cost more than $700,000.

[OPM plans expansion of dried egg production. Story on page 21.]

Chicago Area Most Affected.

Of particular significance to Chicagoans, food dealers said last night, is the fact that the great bulk of these supplies will be drawn from the middle west and particularly the Chicago area, thus having a direct effect on food prices here. Every time the government raises the price of cheese on the Wisconsin exchange it is boosting a price on which the Chicago fluid milk price is based, the dealers observed.

In order to produce these vast quantities of cheese, dried and evaporated milk, the manufacturers have had to take supplies that normally would go into production of butter. Traders on the Chicago Mercantile exchange disclosed last night that reserve supplies of best quality butter are thinning out and warned that an accute shortage may develop.

Meanwhile another government agency, the Dairy Products Marketing association, has been buying thousands of pounds of butter every week to keep the wholesale price of butter in Chicago around 35 or 36 cents a pound or better. The butter is put in storage and may be resold on the open market at any time.

Grocers Face Rising Costs.

These advances in wholesale prices, according to the department of agriculture and the bureau of labor statistics, are the factors that are going to cause the sharp increase in retail prices soon.

A bureau survey of retail prices of 65 major food items in the nation's important cities showed consumers paying only about 10 per cent more than a year ago while cost to the retailer was up 25 per cent.

The bureau has stated that items on which prices are expected to rise the fastest are coffee, beans, lard, butter, cheese, eggs, bacon, and ham.

Offer 7 Point Auto Labor Plan; Confusion Over Slash Eased

Proposed by UAW

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 [Special].—Sidney Hillman, Office of Production Management associate director general, announced today a seven point program for rehiring and retraining of approximately 100,000 workers to be displaced by the 26.5 per cent automobile production cut.

The program, proposed by the CIO's United Automobile Workers of America and accepted by automobile management representatives, will be put into effect by OPM labor division representatives to be sent into automobile industry centers at once.

Plan Numerous Committees.

Provisions of the program:

1. Creation of state and local committees to solve reëmployment problems on a regional and community basis.

2. Close coöperation between the UAW committees and the regional labor supply committees of the labor division.

3. The "Buffalo plan" for prompt registration, reëmployment and retraining of displaced workers for jobs in armament industries. The plan was used in connection with the shut down of a Buffalo, N. Y., automobile plant for retooling to make airplane parts.

Old Employés to Get Jobs.

4. Whenever a plant is engaged in both civilian and arms production, new employés will be assigned to civilian work and men with seniority rights will be given arms assignments. In cases of plant conversion, seniority rights are to be protected.

5. Extension of efforts to obtain and sublet armament orders to aid every locality which has an automobile plant.

6. Union participation in work of government agencies in interviewing, classifying, training, and placing of employés displaced.

7. Supplying of detailed information on labor needs to UAW-CIO committees by the OPM.

Told They Must Act.

Automotive equipment manufacturers attending an educational clinic conducted by the OPM were told bluntly that they cannot get armament orders by sitting behind their desks and bemoaning the cut in automobile output.

James S. Adams, head of the OPM automotive section, told the manufacturers that the supply of steel, brass, copper, and other essential metals used in the industry has been severely curtailed for civilian use. He urged them to make a vigorous effort to shift facilities to arms work.

Firms Welcome News

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 22 (AP).—While the effects of yesterday's orders for an immediate 26.5 per cent curtailment in passenger production will not be noticeable until well into November, the announcement of definite production quotas for the first four months of the new model year was welcomed thruout the manufacturing division of the industry.

The car manufacturers said that the fixing of individual quotas will enable the various producers to make plans for the period covered by the allocation order, such as fixing work schedules and in preparing to carry out an earlier edict for the elimination of all nonfunctional bright-work on the new models.

Total Above Expectations.

The automobile producers generally had expected an aggregate output allocation of 800,000 cars during the first four months. Thus the decision to permit production of 817,000 passenger vehicles along with a sharp stepping up of truck assemblies brought no disappointment. Many plans related to production, however, had to await the determination of individual company quotas.

Announcement that ultimate curtailment for the 1942 model period may cut passenger car output to approximately 2,150,000 vehicles, or 50 per cent under the 1941 model year, also was not unexpected. There are many who regard a 50 per cent curtailment estimate as an optimistic view of the outlook.

Thousands to Lose Jobs.

Until such time as the armament industries can absorb them, from 90,000 to 200,000 automobile factory workers will be made idle by the production curtailment, according to labor leaders.

These leaders intimated that in factories that have been working 44 to 48 hours a week during the recent heavy production months, partial relief may be achieved by reducing weekly working averages to 32 hours.

Study Relief Problem.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 22 [Special].—The state social welfare commission, finishing its monthly meeting, sought today to cushion the anticipated widespread unemployment in Michigan due to result from curtailment of automobile production. George F. Granger, deputy welfare director, said that a 26½ per cent production cut for the coming quarter is expected to eliminate 50,000 jobs temporarily by Nov. 1. Only 9,000 of these persons, it was estimated, can be absorbed in armament industries by Jan. 1.

CONSIDER 40% CUT IN EASTERN GASOLINE USE

Roosevelt Sees No Objection to Probe.

A 40 per cent cut in eastern seaboard states gasoline consumption was under consideration by government officials yesterday as President Roosevelt said he had no objection to a congressional investigation of the reported gasoline shortage. Such a probe was advocated by a number of congressional leaders Thursday.

The proposal for the 40 per cent reduction was presented to Acting Petroleum Coördinator Ralph K. Davies by the Eastern Petroleum Marketing board, an industry committee acting as adviser to the government. The proposal would cover the Labor day week-end, normally a period of peak consumption.

Would Affect Important Area.

It would affect 11,250,000 motor vehicles in 13 states and the District of Columbia. This area normally consumes 35 per cent of the nation's gasoline, it was estimated.

In asserting he had no objection to the proposed congressional gasoline investigation President Roosevelt warned there must be no disclosure of information harmful to the armament program.

Senator Francis Maloney [D., Conn.], a leading advocate of the proposed investigation, had said: "I want to learn if there is an actual shortage or if we are being pushed around for psychological reasons."

Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] had asserted he wished to learn if it was necessary to reduce American consumption in order to supply Britain with fuel. Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, the minority leader, predicted solid Republican support for the proposal.

Other Developments in Problem.

Among other developments in the gasoline controversy were:

1. While Acting Coördinator Davies warned that the east faced a choice of limited motor fuel now or a shortage of home heating fuel this winter, leading oil company executives said the eastern oil stocks are ample unless more oil is needed for rearmament and cited figures to prove their point.

2. It was reported an additional 70 oil tankers may go to the navy and to Great Britain, but oil company executives questioned advisability of such a move. Transfer of 50 tankers several weeks ago from the gulf-seaboard run is blamed for any shortages which may now exist in the east.

Some Limit Purchases.

3. Some Washington, D. C., filling stations were limiting pleasure car customers to half what they ordered, altho some gave buyers all they wanted. Some dealers proposed nation-wide reductions in consumption. Some stations in Washington and Philadelphia said they planned to lock up all day on Sundays.

4. Pittsburgh Central Labor union, representing several thousand AFL unionists, declared there was no shortage of gasoline in western Pennsylvania and demanded immediate removal of restrictions on sales.

5. Nathan Gelfer, president of a New York City gasoline trade group, said 500 of the city's 7,000 service stations may be forced to close for the

Lift Crabmeat Tariff 50 Pct.; Blow to Japs

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—Crabmeat became the instrument of another economic restriction today, apparently aimed at Japan. President Roosevelt announced a 50 per cent advance in the tariff on all imports of that commodity, whether fresh, preserved, or processed.

For years Japan has been the America's principal foreign source of supply for the delicacy. The taking of sea food in general is an important Japanese industry, and Japanese fishermen have ranged far over the Pacific. In the vicinity of Alaska they have even operated floating canneries.

Buys 3 Millions Yearly.

For the last several years the United States has been buying more than $3,000,000 worth of Japanese crabmeat annually, an amount more than double the combined imports from all other countries. Last year the figure was $3,269,000.

Thus, the tariff increase was generally considered another in the series of economic restrictions which this nation has been applying to Japanese trade since the Japanese moved into French Indo-China several weeks ago. The most important of these was the freezing of all Japanese assets in this country.

Prices Lower in Japan.

The action had behind it the authority of the tariff commission, which had investigated the comparative costs of marketing foreign and imported crabmeat and found them much lower in Japan than here. Technically the increase was intended to equalize production costs.

President Roosevelt, ordering the tariff raise in a proclamation issued at Hyde Park, noted these things. The only mention of Japan was a reference to the commission's study of costs here and there, which named Japan as "the principal competing country."

The rate on crabmeat, fresh canned, or in paste or any other form fixed by the 1930 [Smoot-Hawley] tariff act was 15 per cent of value. The new rate is 22½ per cent of value.

Biloxi Packers Pleased.

Biloxi, Miss., Aug. 22 (AP).—Crab meat packers and shippers in Biloxi, heart of the Mississippi coast seafood canning industry, were pleased today over President Roosevelt's order increasing the tariff on imported crabmeat, which comes principally from Japan.

"It will mean lots to people of the Mississippi coast," George Dubaz of Dubaz Brothers Canning company said.

15 CENT COPPER PRICE IS URGED BY VAN WAGONER

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 22 [Special].—A plea for a 15 cent copper price to assure operation of mines in Michigan's upper peninsula was sent President Roosevelt today by Gov. Murray D Van Wagoner.

The governor, pointing to the value, from the standpoint of the arms program, of maximum copper production, said that unless a higher price is assured operators most of Michigan's mines either must shut down soon or drastically curtail their output. This, he said, would throw many persons out of work and have an adverse effect on the preparedness effort.

The appeal, together with the report of a survey by the state defense council and pleas from mine operators, was sent also to Washington defense officials.

Food Men Hear of Frosted Foods and Sample Some

A. E. Stevens, vice president of the Frosted Foods Sales company, told the convention of the National Food Distributors association yesterday that progress in frosted foods "appears inevitable" because of efficiency of distribution and a new awareness of the importance of eating fresh fruits and vegetables. Frosted foods were emphasized at yesterday's session, in the Hotel Sherman. Members ate a luncheon entirely of frosted foods.

TELEPHONE SERVICE TIED UP IN HALF OF MEXICO THRU STRIKE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, Aug. 22.—The Mexican telephone strike went into its second day today after a discussion between the American owned Mexican Telephone and Telegraph company and union representatives ended in a deadlock.

The strikers seek a 25 per cent wage increase based on alleged increased revenues of the company, but are willing to temporarily forego their "economic demands" if the company will reinstate a union official recently dismissed and remove a confidential employé. The company says this is impossible.

Meanwhile, half of the republic is without telephone service, save for the less efficient Swedish Ericsson system. Presidential intervention was believed likely. Meantime the Mexican workers' federation called upon the other affiliated unions to support the strike, if necessary.

U. S. STEEL ISSUES FIRST INTERIM REPORT ON SALES

New York, Aug. 22 [Special].—Issuing its first interim report on sales, under provisions of the securities act, the United States Steel corporation today announced net sales and gross revenues from nonsteel operations amounting to $1,445,337,151 for 12 months ended June 30, compared with $1,145,607,886 for the calendar year 1940.

Because the last six months of 1940 is covered in both totals, the $300,000,000 increase in sales and revenues is indicated to be the amount by which the first half of 1941 bettered the first half of 1940. The corresponding total for the year 1939 was $904,151,897.

Cost of goods sold and operating expenses of railroad and steamship lines and the cement and other nonsteel operations of the corporation's subsidiaries was $1,011,827,148 in the 12 months ended June 30, compared with $804,224,466 for the calender year 1940, indicating that costs and expenses did not rise as fast as revenues. In 1939, costs and expenses were $667,109,644.

Power Supplier Requests Rate Cut Reconsideration

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—The Chicago District Electric Generating corporation asked the Federal Power commission today to reconsider its order that the corporation cut $521,978 annually from its rates to the Commonwealth Edison company of Chicago. The corporation's entire output is sold to the Commonwealth Edison and Northern Indiana public service companies.

Zinc Producers Told to Set Aside 27% of Their Output

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 [Special].—E. R. Stettinius Jr., priorities director, today ordered producers of metallic zinc to set aside during September an amount equal to 27 per cent of their July production for a government pool from which emergency allocations may be made. Zinc oxide producers were told to set aside 10 per cent of July production.

PATENTED TOOL PART FREED FOR GENERAL USE BY INJUNCTION

Patent restrictions on an important machine tool part needed urgently in armament production were removed yesterday by a consent injunction decree entered against three machine manufacturers by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

Justice department officials said the patent for the part, known as an "arbor," will be dedicated to the public, making it possible for many small manufacturers to make the part. An arbor is a spindle that is attached to the cutter on a milling machine.

The injunction suit, brought by Daniel B. Britt, head of the federal antitrust division in Chicago, charged that the three concerns controled the patent and restricted licenses for the manufacture of the arbor to three companies, altho more than 20 concerns have applied for licenses since 1925.

The three firms enjoined are the Kearney & Trecker corporation, Milwaukee; Brown and Sharpe Manufacturing company, Providence, R. I., and Cincinnati Milling Machine company, Cincinnati, O. All three have offices in Chicago.

ARMS OFFICIALS SEEK TO BOOST SCRAP SUPPLIES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—Armament officials called about 150 iron and steel scrap brokers and representatives of steel mills and foundries today to meet here next Wednesday and seek means of increasing supplies of scrap.

William S. Knudsen, director of the OPM, and Leon Henderson, chief of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, will preside and the army and navy will be represented at the meeting.

"The importance of an uninterrupted flow of scrap to the iron and steel industry in a period of national emergency can not be overemphasized," the OPM said.

Foreign Utility Proposes to Refund Big Note Issue

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—American & Foreign Power Co., Inc., foreign subsidiary of Electric Bond and Share company, proposed to the Securities and Exchange commission today a plan for reducing the interest rate and extending the maturity of $15,500,000 of notes held by various banks. It calls for the replacement of 3¾ per cent notes which mature Oct. 26 with 3 per cent notes maturing in one to five years.

Peoples Gas Placed on $4 Dividend Basis

With the declaration of a quarterly dividend of $1 yesterday the annual dividend of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company was placed on a $4 basis, George A. Ranney, chairman, announced. The dividend voted yesterday is payable Oct. 15 to stockholders of record Sept. 22.

Other payments by the company this year were 50 cents in January, based on last year's earnings, a $2 special disbursement in February, and 75 cents in both the April and July quarters. The directors declared 50 cent dividends in each of the four quarters last year and in addition a $1 extra payment.

Dividends Since 1914.

The company's records disclose that no dividends were paid in the years 1934 thru 1936. In 1937 the board declared disbursements totaling $2. The following year the total dropped to $1. In 1939 dividends were increased to $2.50.

The highest annual rate of dividends was $8 in the years 1914, 1915, and 1925 thru 1931. The annual rate declined in 1932 to $6.50 and the following year to $3.50 a share.

Votes $5 Special.

Directors of the Continental Baking company declared a special dividend of $5 on the preferred stock, payable Oct. 1 to stockholders of record Sept. 20. The payment is in lieu of dividend arrearages on the preferred stock of the Continental Baking corporation and represents the balance of the special dividend of $8.50 provided for in the merger agreement between the companies.

Montgomery Ward & Co., declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share on common stock payable Oct. 15 to stockholders of record Sept. 12, and a regular quarterly disbursement of $1.75 on class A stock.

AUG. 31 DEADLINE ON FILING FOR TRUCK PERMITS

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 22 (AP).—Public Works Director Walter A. Rosenfield warned truckers today that Aug. 31 is the deadline for filing applications for authority to operate trucks on state highways.

Rosenfield said that the general assembly had extended the time for filing to Aug. 31 after some truckers who had been operating for hire prior to July 25, 1939, had neglected to file applications by March 1, 1940, the deadline provided in the original act.

Union Tank Car Profits Up, but Taxes May Cause Drop

Increased profits despite increased provision for federal income tax, were reported yesterday by the Union Tank Car company, Chicago, for the six months ended June 30.

The company had net income of $1,384,241, equal to $1.15 a share of capital stock, in the first half of 1941, compared with $1,074,968, or 89 cents a share, in the corresponding 1940 period.

For income taxes the company set aside $469,802, compared with $312,379 in the like 1940 period. The tax provision was based on existing law, the company said. Proposed tax increases now before congress would materially reduce the company's first half earnings.

Hudson's Bay Earns More.

The Hudson's Bay company, large British fur trading concern, in its 272d annual statement reported net profit for the year ended Jan. 31, 1941, was reduced by an increase of $1,254,000 in taxes for the year.

The company showed a net profit of $291,000, a decrease of $60,000 compared with the preceding year. Trading profit before taxes and other deductions totaled $1,419,000, compared with $2,226,000 in the preceding year. Taxes for the latest fiscal year were $2,362,000, compared with $1,112,000 in the preceding year and only $540,000 in 1938.

Will Move Office to N. Y.

The annual report also disclosed that the company plans to transfer its main fur-selling operations from London to New York because of the war. The report said that war conditions have made it "difficult if not impossible" to maintain selling activities in London.

The Vanadium Corporation of America, producer of alloys, reported a net profit of $703,762, or $1.73 a share, for the six months ended June 30, compared with $916,690, or $2.43 a share, in the corresponding period last year. The company provided for the first six months of the year $375,000 for federal income taxes and $300,000 for excess profits taxes. In 1940 the total income tax for the first six months was $285,000.

BIG ENGINEERING CONTRACTS DROP BELOW YEAR AGO

New York, Aug. 22 (AP).—Engineering construction awards declined this week to $80,161,000, a drop of 12 per cent from the preceding week and 38 per cent less than for the same week a year ago, Engineering News-Record reported today.

A tapering off in federal awards was largely responsible for the declines. Private work was 9 per cent larger than the week before, altho 5 per cent less than the same week last year.

RETAIL BUYING TEMPO QUICKENS MORE AS SHORTAGES THREATEN

New York, Aug. 22 (AP).—The tempo of retail trade accelerated still further this week as the forward buying wave continued uninterrupted thruout the country, Dun & Bradstreet said today.

"Record demand was rapidly reducing stocks, and sales in many durable goods were limited only by the ability of obtain merchandise," the agency said. "Wholesalers' order backlogs reached a new high. Influenced by the growing threat of potential and actual shortages, jobbers, manufacturers, and government agencies moved to tighten allocations and restrictions on customers' orders.

"A second week of cool weather stimulated the seasonal upturn in fall apparel and shoe activity. However, consumers continued to concentrate heavily on durable goods, spurred to greater forward buying efforts by a proposal to limit instalment credit and slowing deliveries in a number of lines.

"The general sales improvement over last year held at 22 to 30 per cent, the widest margin for the year to date."

INDUSTRY GROUP TO GET ADVICE ON PRIORITIES

In order to get first hand information from the government regarding priorities, the Illinois Manufacturers' association announced yesterday it would sponsor a meeting on the subject with the Central States Mill Supply association and the Chicago Purchasing Agents association on Sept. 9 in the Palmer House.

Joseph L. Overlock, administrator of the defense supplies rating plan, Washington, D. C., and vice president of the Continental Illinois National Bank of Chicago; H. K. Clark, assistant administrator, and Warren G. Bailey, director, priorities division, Office of Production Management, Chicago, will address the meeting.

Information will be sought concerning the proposed rating policies of the OPM on various basic materials, it was said, and Illinois manufacturers will have an opportunity to present their own problems direct to government officials.

SYNTHETIC RESIN IS PLACED UNDER PRIORITY RULING

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—The Office of Production Management issued an order today placing under priorities the use of synthetic resins made of three specified kinds of chemicals in manufacturing a long list of common articles. Included on the list were amateur photographic equipment, hardware, smoker's articles, advertising items, picture frames, toys, and games.

Chemicals covered by the order are formaldehyde, paraformaldehyde, and hexamethylenetetramine. They are essential to the manufacture of explosives and plastics.

The order gave first preference to armament needs and then assigned a lower priority rating to such uses as radios, household appliances, passenger automobiles, and commercial photographic equipment.

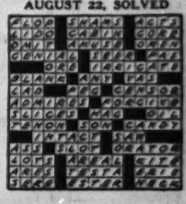
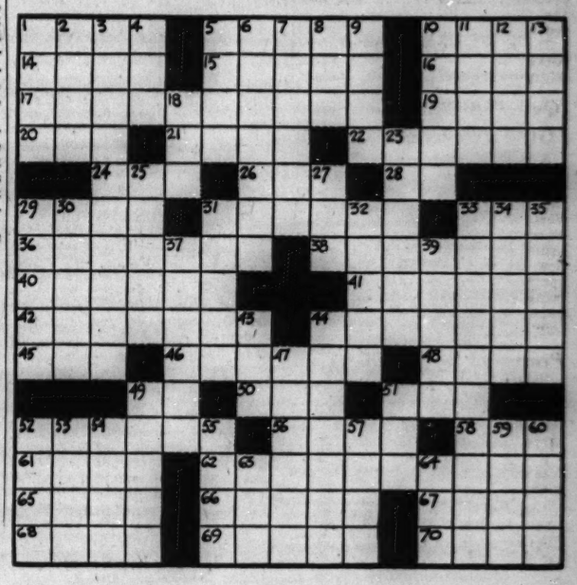
PUZZLE OF FRIDAY, AUGUST 22, SOLVED





STOCKS EASIER IN EXTREMELY SMALL TRADING

Some Shares Bolstered by Business News.

New York, Aug. 22 (AP).—Bidding props were present for an assortment of favorites in today's stock market, but the general run of leaders struggled unsuccessfully to attract even modest support. Altho real weakness was a rarity in most departments, declines of fractions predominated at the close and numerous issues were unchanged.

Dealings were slack thruout, but in a way this was comforting to bullish forces. Transfers of 362,000 shares were the smallest for a full session since July 1 and compared with 388,590 yesterday.

As in previous sessions, fairly cheerful business items aided a number of shares. Merchandising groups especially were helped by estimates of continued heavy retail spending. The drastic curtailment order for 1942 model automotive production stalled the motors.

Ease Up for Week-End.

Start of the usual end of week lightening of commitments as a precaution against untoward developments in the international situation served as a buying barrier, brokers said. There were continued fears of far eastern upsets and new adverse events in Russia along with worries over mounting governmental industrial controls.

Among advancing stocks, Universal Pictures preferred rose four points at 161, and Lehigh Valley Coal preferred five-eighths at 13¼, both new 1941 peaks. Other gainers included Sears-Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Paramount Pictures, Pepsi-Cola, Market Street Railway preferred, American Telephone, Richfield Oil, and Chesapeake and Ohio.

On the losing side were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Great Northern, Pennsylvania, Standard Oil (N. J.), United States Rubber, Boeing, du Pont, General Electric, Loew's, and Anaconda.

CHICAGO LIST STEADY.

Prices on the Chicago Stock exchange held at nearly steady levels yesterday, with transactions totaling 14,000 shares.

Volume leaders were Commonwealth Edison, 1,600 shares, unchanged at 25⅝; Serrick corporation B stock, 650 shares, up ¼ to 4¼; Middlewest corporation, 550 shares, unchanged at 4½, and Consolidated Oil, 500 shares, unchanged at 5⅞.

Wisconsin Bankshares rose ⅛ to 6¼ at the close, a new 1941 high.

Bank Clearings Record Biggest Rise for Decade

New York, Aug. 22.—Bank clearings in 23 large cities recorded the widest gains this week for more than a decade. The total, as reported by Dun & Bradstreet, was $6,421,146,000 in the week ended Wednesday, an increase of 40.6 per cent over $4,566,968,000 in the like week a year ago, and $562,398,000 higher than transactions in the preceding week. Chicago clearings rose 35.9 per cent to $399,458,000.

HOME BUILDERS PUZZLED: WHO GOT THE NAILS?

Even Army Camps Report Supplies Too Low.

BY AL CHASE.

Chicago isn't the only city in the country where nails and other building materials are both scarce and high priced. Government housing authorities reported yesterday in Washington that it was difficult for even army camps to get supplies. In Atlanta it was reported that only one dealer in that city had any No. 8 nails [one of the most widely used sizes in home building] and his supply was nearly gone.

Similar situations were reported in various parts of the country. Zinc coated nails, used for shingling and other weather exposed parts of a house, were scarce in other cities as well as Chicago.

Wonder Where They've Gone.

Meanwhile contractors, architects, and retail dealers are beginning to wonder where the nails are going. They have been getting scarcer steadily in most big cities. Until the disclosure yesterday that even the army camps are beginning to feel the shortage, it was supposed that heavy use at cantonments was responsible for the pinch.

Contractors, it was reported from Washington, after scouring the jobbers markets for builders' hardware, nails, copper gutters, and piping, were pressing the Office of Production Management, the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, and their own trade associations for some word of the future.

Advised to "Sit Tight."

OPACS and OPM advised private home builders in "nondefense areas" to sit tight while government agencies work out allocation programs to meet construction needs.

"Defense areas come first," was the ultimatum.

Trade associations are notifying their members that they hope to be able to say within 10 days to two weeks what will happen in the private home construction industry.

People and Events

Robert S. Beatty, national bank examiner in Chicago, was promoted yesterday to chief national bank examiner for the Ninth Federal Reserve district with headquarters in Minneapolis, Minn.

Venning L. Scantlin, account executive and copywriter with Critchfield & Co., has resigned to join the staff of Buchanan & Co., national advertising agency, in the Chicago office.

Ted V. Rodgers of Washington, D. C., president of the American Trucking associations, will address the Central Motor Freight association Monday in the Stevens hotel.

The 45th annual convention of the Grain and Feed Dealers' National association will be held in Toledo, O., Sept. 14 thru 16.

TALK OVER WAYS TO MEET CUT IN CONSUMER GOODS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—Miss Harriet Elliott of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply said today that a group of government officials, scientists, merchants, and purchasing agents had talked over ways of making the best use of materials the armament program is leaving available for consumer goods.

What decisions, if any, were reached was not disclosed. But in an all day session behind closed doors the group discussed such questions as: Should certain sizes of refrigerators be eliminated? What features of a washing machine are nonessential? Can the present large number of kinds of cotton goods be simplified without seriously affecting the usefulness of the finished products?

The information developed will be embodied in recommendations to be made to Leon Henderson, OPACS chief. Henderson, in turn, will use the recommendations as a basis for allocation programs of various scarce materials used in the manufacture of civilian goods.

North American Aviation Buys $3,000,000 Tax Notes

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 22 [Special].—North American Aviation Inc. is purchasing $3,000,000 in advance income tax notes in order "to assist immediately in financing the national defense program," the company announced today.

ARMY AWARDS ORDERS TO 25 CHICAGO FIRMS

Pullman Ships First Four Howitzer Carriages.

The war department yesterday awarded contracts to 25 Chicago companies for a wide range of machinery and equipment for the armament program.

Meanwhile, the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company shipped the first four 105 mm. Howitzer carriages off its assembly line in Hammond, Ind., to the army ordnance proving grounds at Lacarne, O. The guns will shoot 33 pound shells and have a maximum range of 11,960 yards.

Small Motors Inc., of Chicago has been granted a loan of $50,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to purchase equipment and provide working capital for the production of dynamotor units for the war department, Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, announced.

Contracts to Chicago Firms.

Contracts awarded to Chicago companies by the war department included:

Arthur J. O'Leary and Son company, steel pickets and stirrups, $7,215; United States Gypsum, paint, $46,326; Triumph Manufacturing, blasting galvanometers, $15,300; Chase Bag, sand bags, $121,100; C. R. Jahn, trailers, $41,256; flat bed trailers, $135,300; Mall Tool, repair parts for saw, $10,103; Haffner-Thrall Car, railroad flat cars, $26,000; M. Born, 6,600 wool trousers, $7,260; Collapsible Bag Manufacturing, 85,000 wire cutter carriers, $14,450; Harvey Metal, brass forgings, $57,080; Simpson Construction, construction of signal corps photographic laboratory at Wright field, Dayton, O., $79,900; Revere Copper and Brass, bronze, manganese and brass, $6,885; Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, steel, $58,939; Republic Steel, steel, $58,817; American Steel and Wire, steel, $17,392; Jones and Laughlin Steel, steel, $15,005; Max W. Behnke, 50,000 first aid packet pouches, $8,062.

Awards Placed in Illinois.

The following contracts were among those awarded by the war department to Illinois companies outside Chicago:

Austin-Western Road Machinery company, Aurora, railroad dump cars, $12,195; Whitcomb Locomotive, Rochelle, locomotives, $5,372; Buda, Harvey, diesel electric generating sets, $34,138, and Aintree, Fairfield, 720,000 cotton drawers, $232,416.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation announced it had authorized a $350,000 loan to the Stoner Manufacturing company, Aurora, Ill., for purchase of equipment and working capital for the production of cartridge cases for the army.

Potomac Electric Power company, which serves the fast growing city of Washington, D. C., announced it would undertake the largest expansion program in its history, involving the expenditure of $35,000,000 by the end of 1943. The expansion will apply to plants, generating equipment, and distributing facilities, and will boost generating capacity 72 per cent over that at the start of 1940.

Start Radio Test Plant.

Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Electric company in Schenectady, N. Y., announced that a new $1,275,000 building has been started for the testing of radio equipment for the army and navy.

A $1,500,000 contract to build 1,248 life boats, each with a capacity of 39 persons, has been awarded to the Globe American corporation of Kokomo, Ind. The boats will be used on 312 cargo vessels under the United States Maritime commission's emergency shipbuilding program.

New Danly Machine Plant

This huge structure of the Danly Machine Specialties, Inc., in Cicero, built to handle government work, is scheduled for completion Sept. 1.

Cost $1,250,000

Completion of the $1,250,000 manufacturing plant of the Danly Machine Specialties, Inc., of Cicero, is scheduled for Sept. 1, it was learned yesterday. The company received one of the largest armament contracts in the Chicago area last January for approximately $5,500,000 of naval antiaircraft gun mounts. Expansion of the plant is to care for this order.

Planned by Burnham & Hammond, Chicago architects, and being built by the Kaiser Ducett company, the new structure will contain 161,000 square feet. It is built entirely around the old plant, which had 85,000 square feet.

The company started in business in 1922 with four employés on Lincoln avenue. It moved to 2104 South 52d avenue, Cicero, in 1926. It now employs 400 and will have 800 when the new plant is operating. Philo Danly is president and George Danly, vice president.

CONSIDER 40 PCT. CUT IN EASTERN GASOLINE USE remainder of August because they have defied the night curfew order and exhausted their supplies.

Within the industry and within government there has been sharp disagreement recently as to how much gasoline is necessary to meet the eastern seaboard situation. Gasoline supplies were cut 10 per cent on Aug. 15 by leading wholesalers, and stations generally are "voluntarily" closing from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m.

Promise of Pelley.

In discussing availability of supplies, Davies said strenuous efforts by the petroleum office had failed to locate large numbers of tank cars allegedly usable. Whereupon J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, declared that as of Thursday there were 17,557 surplus tank cars thruout the country that could move 200,000 barrels of oil daily to the east, and he added:

"All they have to do is order them and load them and we will move them to whatever destination they direct."

Nevertheless Davies requested the petroleum industry to take immediate steps to ascertain how many such cars were available for use in moving oil and to press them into service with the least possible delay.

DISCUSS PIPE LINE FINANCE.

New York, Aug. 22 [Special].—Preliminary discussions are being held between investment bankers and the 11 participating oil companies for the financing of the 1,820 mile oil pipe line proposed to Petroleum Coordinator Harold L. Ickes, it was learned in Wall street today.

The present financing plan calls for an equity subscription of $25,000,000 by the oil companies and the sale of $50,000,000 of serial notes, most likely to banks. The line will carry oil from east Texas to the New York and Philadelphia areas.

The notes would be retired in two to six years, the national defense program making possible chargeoffs substantial enough to write off emergency properties within a five year period.

DUTCH GRANTED BIGGEST QUOTA IN COFFEE PACT

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP).—President Roosevelt, setting quotas for nonsignatories to the Inter-American coffee agreement of last November, assigned the Netherlands and her possessions 36.77 per cent of the total coffee admissible to the United States from these countries.

For the year beginning Oct. 1, he said in an executive order, the quota limiting entries for consumption of coffee produced in nonsignatory nations shall be allocated thus:

British empire, except Aden and Canada, 33.14 per cent; kingdom of the Netherlands and its possessions, 36.77 per cent; Aden, Yemen, and Saudi Arabia, 7.24 per cent; other countries, 22.85 per cent.

FARM EQUIPMENT LAYOFFS SEEN IN MATERIALS LACK

The Farm Equipment Workers Organizing committee [CIO] charged yesterday that mass layoffs of workers in that industry will result unless steps are taken immediately to relieve "alarming shortages" of production materials.

The FEWOC said impending layoffs might affect half the industry's 40,000 production employés, including about 17,000 in Chicago, and thousands of other employés, such as office workers. In letters to William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman of the Office of Production Management, and Leon Henderson, price administrator, the FEWOC asked an immediate conference of government officials, union and farm leaders, and farm equipment manufacturers to consider the situation.

Officials of the International Harvester company, which employs more than 20,000 persons in Chicago, and the Caterpillar Tractor company, Peoria, said yesterday shutdowns have narrowly been averted. They acknowledged difficulty in obtaining materials, but expressed the hope that the priorities rating announced for the industry Thursday would bring a "more orderly supply of materials."

SWIFT REWARDS 2 EMPLOYES IN SAVINGS BONDS

Two employés of Swift & Co. each received $250 in United States defense savings bonds yesterday as a reward for suggesting an improved process for packaging hams. The employés are James Krabec, 3219 South Kariov avenue, and Michael Lawler, 8223 South Langley avenue. Swift & Co. has for many years made a practice of rewarding employés for suggestions that are of value to the business. Awards are usually made in the form of cash or company stock, but Krabec and Lawler asked the company to pay the reward in the form of savings bonds.

Frederick Post Company Employes Get 5% Bonus

The Frederick Post company of Chicago announced yesterday the payment to its employes of a 5 per cent bonus based on their earnings for the first six months of this year. The company manufactures instruments and material for architects and engineers. The company's policy is to share profits with employés by giving bonuses July 1 and at Thanksgiving and Christmas time.

HOGS AND PORK CLIMB TO 4 YEAR TOPS FOR MONTH

Pork and hog prices soared yesterday to new four year peaks for the month of August. Top hogs jumped 20 cents, to $12 a hundred pounds, while top light loins reached $28 a hundredweight. The heaviest loins sold at $17.50. Broad domestic consumer demand and huge government contracts for pork and lard stimulated hog buying at the advanced prices.

Weak to 25 cents lower prices prevailed for lambs, with best loads of natives at $12.40 a hundred pounds. Old sheep and yearlings were steady.

Practically all cattle sold at steady prices. Top load lots of steers brought $12, with odd head $12.50.

EXTENDS COTTON PRICE CEILINGS TO MANY GOODS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—Price Administrator Leon Henderson extended the cotton gray goods price schedule today to cover principal types of fine goods, setting ceilings which officials said were about the levels prevailing about a month ago.

These levels were said to be below most present quotations.

The new ceiling prices will go into effect tomorrow and will cover combed lawns, dimities, voile, and two constructions of high grade broadcloth not previously subject to the schedule.

Henderson said all other principal fabric types "will be brought under maximum prices as quickly as possible."

OPM PLANS VAST BOOST IN DRIED EGG PRODUCTION

British Want 100 Million Pounds Annually.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—A government proposal to increase American dried egg production from the present level of about 12 million pounds annually to a capacity "well in excess of 100 million pounds," was announced today.

The Office of Production Management said that the program was necessary to meet British requirements under the lend-lease program of about 100 million pounds of dried eggs a year.

U. S. Needs 14 Million Pounds.

In addition, American requirements, including needs of the army and navy, are estimated at about 14 million pounds for the next 12 months.

[One case of 30 dozen average size shell eggs is required to make slightly less than 10 pounds of dried eggs, an official of the Chicago Mercantile exchange estimated yesterday. Commercial production of eggs in the United States during 1940 approximated 108 million cases. To produce the estimated 11¼ million pounds of dried eggs, more than 11¼ million cases of shell eggs would have to be processed annually, or more than one-tenth of annual production.]

The OPM priorities division issued the first of a series of preference ratings in order to provide necessary materials for the construction of between 35 and 40 new egg drying plants.

Private Funds to Be Used.

Greatest production of dried eggs has been in Texas, Oklahoma, and Missouri, officials said, but new capacity is being developed in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, New York, Tennessee, Wisconsin, and Ohio.

[Armour & Co., Chicago meat packing firm, recently disclosed plans to expand its egg drying capacity from about 9 million pounds annually to almost 20 million pounds, at the request of OPM. Present and prospective plants of the company are in Missouri and Texas.]

Officials said that between $50,000 and $100,000 would be required for each plant. In most cases, they said, the new facilities will be built with private funds.

CASH GRAIN

Estimated receipts of cash grain at Chicago were 14 cars of wheat, 115 cars of corn, 40 cars of oats, 4 cars of rye, 23 cars of barley, and one car of soy beans.

LAWFUL MONEY.

I have noticed that on a $5 federal reserve note there is stated, "This note is legal tender for all debts, public or private, and is redeemable in lawful money at the United States treasury or at any federal reserve bank." Does this mean that federal reserve notes are not lawful money? —T. G.

Answer: The federal reserve board has taken the position that federal reserve notes are lawful money. In practice, however, the board does not count federal reserve notes as part of a federal reserve bank's reserve against deposits maintained with it by member banks. Every central federal reserve bank is required to keep a minimum reserve in gold certificates or lawful money equal to 35 per cent of its deposits.

Altho there is no legal definition of "lawful money," the board has construed court decisions as holding that the term embraces all classes of money which are regarded as legal tender under our laws. The board referred to the so-called Thomas amendment of 1933 which provided that:

"All coins and currencies of the United States [including federal reserve notes and circulating notes of federal reserve banks and national banking associations] heretofore or hereafter coined or issued, shall be legal tender for all debts, public or private, public charges, taxes, duties, and dues. . . ."

Thus, all coins and paper money issued by the treasury, the federal reserve system or the national banks are considered lawful money. Before the Thomas amendment, only limited amounts of pennies, nickels, and silver coins could be used as legal tender in making payments.

Altho this limitation on the use of minor and subsidiary silver coins was not expressly repealed, the federal reserve board has asserted that the effect of the Thomas amendment is to remove restrictions on the use of coins or currency as legal tender.

$10,000 BILLS.

Can you tell me how many $10,000 bills there are in circulation?—R. B. T.

Answer: According to the federal reserve board there were 5,700 bills of $10,000 denomination in circulation at the end of June this year.

SOY BEANS, OATS REACH SEASONAL TOPS; WHEAT UP

Late Profit Taking Trims Closing Advances.

Soy beans and oats sold at new seasonal peak on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. Wheat for delivery in December touched the midweek peak of $1.17 a bushel during the more active trading session. At the close beans, oats, and rye sold only fractionally below the day's highs despite late profit taking in most grains.

Wheat finished ⅛ to ¼ cent a bushel higher with September at $1.12⅛; corn ⅛ cent lower to ¼ cent higher; oats about 1 cent higher; rye ¼ to ⅜ cent higher, and soy beans 2 to 2⅛ cent higher at $1.50⅛ for October.

Hog Advance a Factor.

Back of the firmness in most grains, brokers said, were:

1. A firmer belief among grain traders that President Roosevelt would sign the bill to freeze government stocks of wheat and cotton.

2. Purchase for lease-lend purposes of some 37 million pounds of lard and meats.

3. An advance in the Chicago hog market that carried prices up to the $12 level.

4. Fear that weather conditions might cause a reduction in the soy bean crop.

Lard Up On U. S. Buying.

Both lard and soy beans started climbing early in the trading session as rumors of the size of the government's lease-lend purchases filtered onto the trading floor. Lard continued to gain thruout the session and closed 23 to 27 cents a hundred pounds higher.

In the wheat pit, dealers reported the flour mills were active buyers of grain for future delivery. More public speculative interest was reported also. The combination of these factors brought about an active rally at midsession, but gains were lost in closing profit taking sales.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM by GAIL COMPTON

Clean Up Weeds.

AUGUST 22, 1941.

THE principal work being done in the vegetable garden at the farm these days consists of cleaning up the weeds and harvesting the produce. With most of the plants bearing now, there is little to do except keep the rows weeded and the vegetables picked.

The banks of the small creek that runs along the vegetable patch have been cut over and the heavy underbrush destroyed. This is to keep the weeds from scattering their seeds in the fertile ground of the plot. The weeds and brush were piled up and burned to make sure they would not propagate next year among the vegetables.

Lots of Tomatoes.

The most successful of all the vegetables this year have been the tomatoes. There are three long rows of the plants, and each bush is heavily laden with green fruit. Some of the tomatoes have ripened, and each day the gardener and his helper scout thru the rows for new ones. When they discover an especially fine looking one they are apt to devour it on the spot. Warm, vine ripened tomatoes have a wonderful flavor.

Keeping pace with the times, the garden has produced some two toned gourds that outdo the brilliantly colored cars on the highway. The gourd vines along the fence have put out a colorful long necked fruit done in bright yellow and green. The necks of the gourds are yellow, and attached to them is a large, dark green bowl. The gourds jut out from the fence at every angle and provide a nice flash of color in the garden.

The belated pumpkins are beginning to form, but the cantaloupes seem hopeless. They still are blossoming and there is no sign of fruit beneath their tangled vines.

Sweet Corn Galore.

There is sweet corn galore these days, and the farm workers are finding it on their plates each night cooked in all the different ways the women can devise. The squash are almost ready for picking, and the several different varieties sprawl over a large part of the garden plot. Some of the vines have boldly pushed their fruits out onto the paths that surround the garden, forcing visitors to watch their step.

The sunflowers have reached tremendous heights and their huge flower faces are filled with seeds. The gardener is planning to pick one of the great heads and weigh it. He believes that it will tip the scale at 6 or 8 pounds. For a rainy day job he has set aside one of the flower heads, and is planning to count the number of seeds one plant will produce. The sunflowers are one of the most valuable crops on the farm as their seed is valued highly for bird feeding.

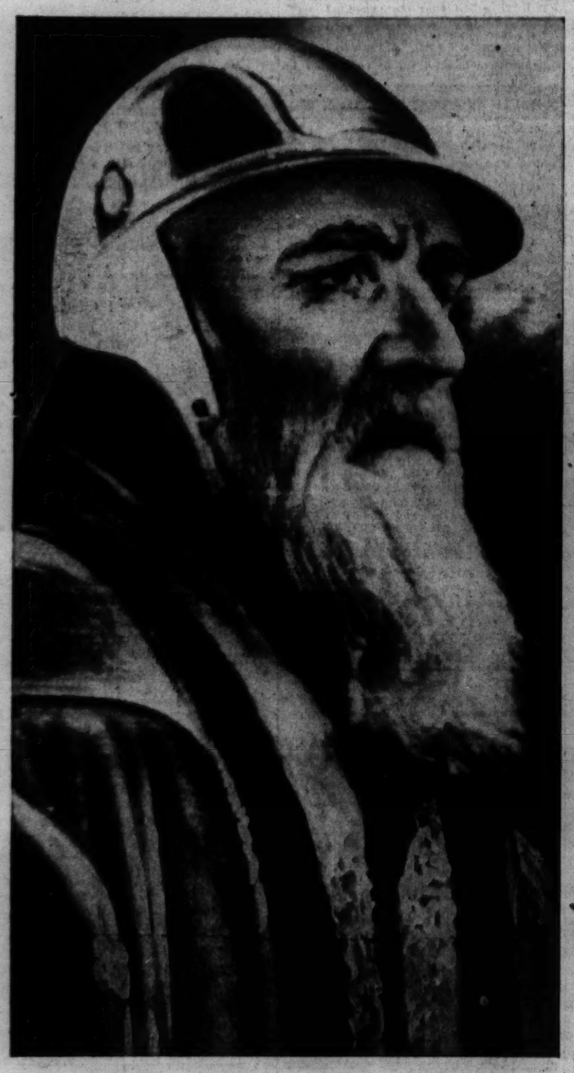
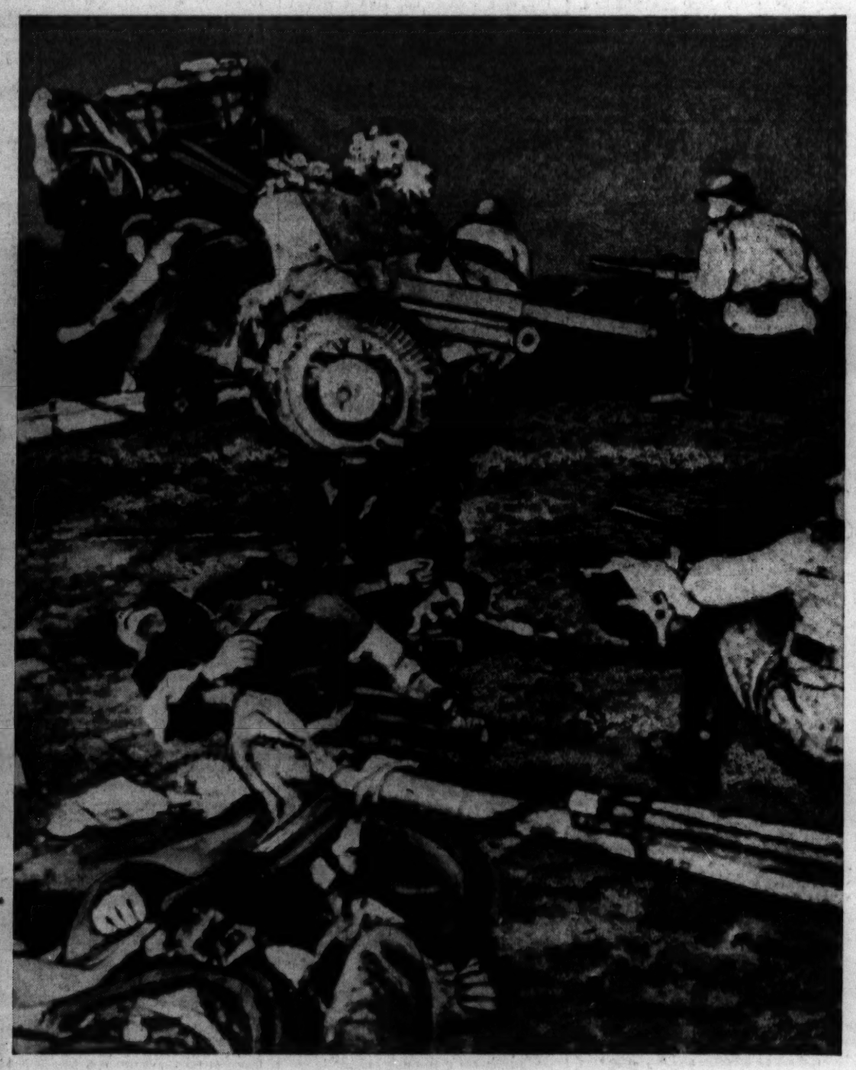
Chicagoan Killed in California Bus Crash—Laird Resigns After Publication of Picture with Skidmore



Ivan Linkov, described by Moscow as oldest member of soviet collective farm volunteer fire brigade, guarding property. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Night war action described by Berlin sources as the mopping up of a Russian anti-tank gun position by Finnish troops. In foreground are bodies. Finn soldiers are standing near gun.

The Finnish approved caption says this Finnish soldier is using a radio loud speaker to exhort the crew of a Red army bunker to lay down their arms and surrender.
